Farm Mobilization Day Plans Made for Tuesday

People of Nation Join For Food Production

The people in the vicinity of Belmond are going to join the people of the nation in observance of Farm Mobilization Day which has been set by our President, Franklin D. Roosevelt, as Tuesday, January 12. It will not be necessary to travel a distance to take part in this big day. This time the program is to be brought direct to you, in fact to your own home. By way of the radio you will be able to join the national radio hook-up and hear the reasons for Farm Mobilization presented by well informed speakers.

This information is not just for farm people—it is for all of the nation's population. The achievement of the goals set for the agricultural program of the United States is just as important and just as necessary in the war effort as the production of the munitions for without food production we are lost. We are fighting on the "Home Front".

Broadcast—3:00 p. m.

The main radio program of the day will be the big farm mobilization day broadcast over most networks to be presented at 3:00 p. m. central wartime. President Roosevelt and Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard will be two of the speakers on this program :

My we stress the importance of observing this day. Ministers should remind their congregations of the date and hour for the special farm-mobilization day broadcast. School superintendents could also bring this program to the boys and girls enrolled.

We are all concerned about food problems—let us get together in a common cause

Millions of individuals who have not been required to file income tax returns heretofore now come within the tax paying group, and we feel that such a series will be helpful in filing those returns.

Tuberculin Tests To Be Given In Wright County

Survey To Be An Annual Program

Arrangements have been completed for intensive work to search out unsuspected cases of tuberculosis in Wright county by the Wright county Medical Society, the State Department of Health and the Iowa Tuberculosis Association. This survey is a continuation of the work done a year ago and is to be an annual program.

These three organizations are joining with the Wright county Christmas Seal committee in the program. Half of the costs of carrying on the program will be met by the Christmas Seal committee and the Iowa Tuberculosis Association, through funds obtained in the annual sale of Christmas Seals, and half will be met by the State Department of Health.

Examination of persons known to have been exposed to tuberculosis will be sought in the program.

The plan of work includes the tuberculin skin test, which shows whether or not infection is present. The test will be followed, when positive, by chest X-rays to determine if the infection has resulted in a form of tuberculosis.

Farmers Must Apply For Certificates of War Necessity At Once

All farmers who expect to file an appeal on the certificate of War Necessity issued to them for their pick-up or farm truck last fall, should immediately file an appeal with the Wright county farm transportation committee located in the AAA office at Clarion, Iowa.

It is important to get these appeals made at once, so the C. F. 7C. can recommend to the district office at Mason City, and they in turn return to the farmer his corrected Certificate of War Necessity, by January 20.

This will give the local War Price and Rationing Boards time to issue gasoline coupons before January 31, 1943.

Arranged At Meeting At Clarion on December 28

Wright county launched a farm machinery preparedness program on Monday evening, December 28, with a goal of every machine on every farm in the county in tip top shape before spring work starts.

Over 50 implement dealers, mechanics, machinery repair men, vocational agriculture teachers, farmers, members of the county war board and other interested people attended the organization meeting held in the court room at Clarion.

At the meeting it was agreed that farmers should receive some recognition for their efforts in getting the machinery in the best possible condition. Donald K. Struthers of the Agricultural Enigneering department at Iowa State college presented the suggested state plan of recognition which was adopted at the meeting. According to this plan a "BLUE TAG" will be awarded to farmers for each machine which has been put in tip top working order. When all machinery on the farm has qualified for a "Blue Tag" a "Victory" gatepost placard will be awarded to the farmer. The tags are to be obtained from the implement dealer, vocational agriculture teachers, general repair men or from the County Extension Directors office.

A county farm machinery preparedness honor roll was suggested with names of the farmers qualifying under the county-wide program. This honor roll as suggested would be published. Another suggestion made at this meeting to further the farm machinery preparedness program was to set a deadline for machinery repair as one month in advance of the date this machinery would be used in order to give repair men an opportunity to get machinery in shape for the working season.

A general committee will be appointed and they will go over the plans proposed at this meeting and formulate a county plan.

H. B. Vanderlip, chairman of the county War Board, attended the meeting and presented the quota of new machinery for the county. He stressed the need for getting machinery repaired before spring work starts.

With the available supply of repair parts less than last year, it is important that farmers check their machinery and order their supply needs now.

High School Victory Corps to be Inaugurated

Plans Near Completion For January 18

Belmond High School will enter the national wartime program for secondary schools with the organization and inauguration of the Victory Corps at the opening of the second semester.

Under this program the high school youth of Belmond will be mobilized in active wartime service and into divisions in which training and guidance are given preparatory to entering the services or wartime industry. Under the new program, an all-out emphasis on wartime needs will be made throughout the high school curriculum and extra-curriculum offering.

The high school Victory Corps plan now established or being established in all parts of the country, was prepared by the Wartime Commission of tre U. S. Office of Education and unanimously approved by army and navy officials. Its main objectives are: (1) Guidance into critical services and occupations, (2) Wartime citizenship, (3) Physical fitness, (4) Military drill, (5) Competence in science and mathematics, (6) Preflight training in aeronautics, (7) Pre-induction training for critical occupations, (8) Community service.

The local school program will be adapted to meet these objectives insofar as the facilities of the school permit. A faculty committee composed of Supt. Johnson, Principal Wagner, Miss Anderson, Miss Yenter and Mr. Westcott are working out plans which are to go into effect at the beginning of the new semester, January 18.

Any high school student is eligible for general membership in the Victory Corps, while special curricula are required for the various divisions. These are the Land, Sea, Air, Production and Community Service divisions.

A survey is under way among students to determine their interests and the special divisions of the corps will be set up on the basis of the findings. If the findings justify, certain new wartime courses will be introduced as well as several new extra-curricular activities.

Plans are under way for an inauguration ceremony to which the public will be invited.

GOOD MANAGEMENT—

A good many people, particularly some of our government bureaucrats who seem to know little about balancing budgets, labor efficiency and the responsibility of spending the taxpayer's money wisely, could take a tip from an Iowa woman, Mrs. Nellie Jones, stewardess of the Jasper county home and those who cooperate with her in the operation of that institution.

Sunday's edition of the Des Moines Register carried a feature story about the Jasper county home last year but also showed a profit of $250.00. 80 persons, ranging in age from 39 to 88, live at the home and all except a few of them help with the work. Mrs. Jones herself spends early and long hours working and supervising the work of the residents in a variety of tasks which include the regular houshold routine of washing, ironing, cleaning, cooking; the cultivating of 200 acres of field and garden crops; the raising of 200 hogs, the milking of 50 cows as well as the sale of milk; the preserving of 7000 quarts of fruit and vegetables; the production of poultry and eggs.

If all counties had an expert like Mrs. Jones to supervise the care of our unfortunate and needy citizens, the expenditures for for relief would be far less than it has been. Furthermore, even the big-shots in Washington might learn a few things from Mrs. Jones' system in planning nation-wide relief, so widespread until recently and the need for which may very likely present itself again in the near future.

TWO-FOLD JOB—

Arrangements have now been made for the collection of tin cans, old silk and nylon hose and waste kitchen fats in Belmond.

Various Belmond merchants are cooperating with the local salvage committee, acting as receiving depots for the various items.

Housewives therefore, can do a two-fold job in one operation. On periodic shopping trips, it will be easy enough for them to take a few salvage items to their grocery store or to some other merchant, and at the same time they will keep their store rooms cleared of the usual household accumulations.

MANVILLE MANNER?— . . . . . .

We have heard over the radio recently that the much-married Tommy Manville, asbestos heir, was sending his sixth wife to Reno while he anticipates proposing to a potential seventh mate as soon as he is free.

If the Manville millionaire continues his quick - change marital status, he will soon equal and surpass the accomplishments of King Henry the Eighth.

We wonder, however, if the new law limiting individual incomes to $25,000 a year, may not cramp Mr. Manville's style. For it surely must take a considerable amount of cash to obtain a divorce or take the nuptial vows in the Manville manner.

We Would Do That Gladly

Rubber Czar Jeffers intimates that the government may ask for the car owner's extra tire. If the government needs that spare tire, it can have it and the other four also. If the rubber situation is not remedied and the war effort will be aided by taking every tire we have, that is perfectly O. K. with Mr. John Q. Citizen. What he does object to is rationing which is unnecessary and which throws thousands out of employment and closes up hundreds of business places, thus making those involved unable to buy war bonds and in other ways contribute to the war effort. Yes, Sir, if Mr. Jeffers says the government has got to have our tires, there they are. Where do we send 'em?—Eagle Grove Eagle.

Not Unlike 25 Years Ago

The Christmas season in this county in 1917 during World War I was strikingly similar to this one of World War II, twenty five years later.

The fuel administration required all the business houses to remain open only from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. The Humboldt movies were forced to limit shows to three a week. Lodges were limited to monthly meetings and Protestant churches unionized, all in the interest of saving coal.

Sugar was limited to five pounds a family, and the purchaser had to buy two pounds of cornmeal with each pound of sugar to help with the wheatless days. Meatless days were ordered for all families by Herbert Hoover.

The boys leaving for camps and returning on Christmas furloughs are now the town's substantial business men in almost all northwest Iowa vicinities, and very few business men of 1917 are existing today.

Contributing to the sadness of the Yuletide in 1917 in Humboldt county was the death on Dec. 16 of Frank Gotch, champion wrestler of the world and one of this county's best loved citizens. Two thousand people from every walk of life attended the funeral. Governor Harding and other prominent people came in a special train to pay tribute.

Two representatives of an out of town chapter of the Red Cross came to Humboldt and sold badges listing the dates of the birth and death of Mr. Gotch, and they sold about fifty dollars worth.

The plan, hastily executed as one of the many ideas to raise much needed Red Cross money was bitterly criticized and the originators apologized. Now the method would not be ethical, of course. But the Red Cross membership drive was on, and all sorts of plans were devised to pay for bandages and Red Cross demands.

Yes, there are a lot of things this Christmas that are very similar to the Christmas observed during World War I, when we thought we had ended a war that would end all wars.—Livermore Gazette.

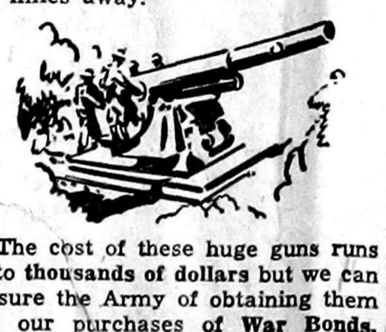
WAR BONDS

The biggest field gun in the Army. That's the 240-mm. howitzer. It's twenty-feet of barrel and must be pulled into position by tractors. After it is rolled into place, its own wheels are removed and the Big Bertha is set upon its emplacement ready to fire at its target some twenty miles away.



The cost of these huge guns runs into thousands of dollars but we can assure the Army of obtaining them by our purchases of War Bonds. Ten percent or more of your income is necessary. The easiest way is to join the Payroll Savings Plan at your office or factory. Let's "Top that ten percent."

Prittle... Prattle....

It's really been a toug[h] [winter] about two ordinary winte[rs rolle]d into one. Was talking w[ith a bus] driver the other evening [who men]tioned that last winter h[e had ex]perienced only one day o[f dri]ving. Already this yea[r he]'ad had eight days of the stu[ff th]at was a week ago.

P—P

The kids are enjoying th[is]. Never have we seen so man[y] skaters in evidence [late]ly. However, we hope they [hee]d the mayor's warning and st[ay] of[f t]he streets. The hazards dr[ivi]ng a car under present [co]ndi[tions] are bad enough witho[ut] a[ddi]ng any more to them.

P—P

Am wondering what [ha]ppe[ne]d to the flood light that h[as] bee[n] put up on the river for n[igh]t s[ka]ting the past two winters.

P—P

Kids are kids. I remember the joys of hooki[ng a] ri[d]e on a bobsled, and there [we]re p[l]enty of bobsleds years ago. We never thought about th[e da]nger[s] of falling under a [run]ner, but sometimes the driv[er di]d. Nowadays the youngster[s b]ut just a few of them, like to [hoo]k onto a car and ride alon[g o]n their skates. That pra[ctice] is even more dangerous.

P—P

An Oklahoma pap[er c]laims that its sport editor was [calle]d upon to substitute for the so[ciet]y reporter at a snoty wedding [and] the opening lines of his stor[y] were: "Just before the bell rang the main event while the tw[o] contestants and their seconds we[re c]oming into the ring the orchest[ra p]layed Mendel & Sons' weddi[ng m]arch from Lowe & Greene."

P—P

There has never [been] a first of the year, since our [entr]y into the business life on this Main street when we heard so much speculation on what the coming twelve months will bring forth, both locally and nationally. Probably, more than ever before, it is being brought home that what happens to us in the future depends largely on the outcome of the battles being fought in every part of the world. It's a global war and our horizons have been extended almost to infinity.

P—P

It is most notable of all, though, that our own community has made up its mind to buckle down and do their part in winning the war on the home front. Bond and stamp sales continue to increase, we're going to pay those increased taxes somehow. Everyone has gotten used to the idea of coffee and sugar rationing and, with but few exceptions, we're staying home oftener and being good soldiers about mileage rationing. Yes, and we've gone out and brought in the scrap, going way over our quota. Most important of all, this community has sent more than 200 young men and women to all parts of the world who are serving their country in the armed forces.

Merchants are doing their best to supply their customers with the things they want, and when you've found you can't get it you're taking it philosophically and getting along without it, realizing the material used in its manufacture is playing an important part in winning this war.

P—P

We've heard this and that person speculating and offering to predict the war will be over by this or that time, but somehow we cant' get enthusiastic over the possibilty of a quick finish. It looks like a long road ahead—and it's better to make up our minds to accept that fact.

P—P

However, each and everyone of us is going to make the best of it and not forget for one moment that millions of our boys, and women too, are out there fighting 24 hours a day to make our American way of life a permanent thing.

His job is vital to America's war effort . . . and he'll carry on!

● "Keep 'em rolling" is more than a slogan. It's a must! Every serviceable piece of automotive equipment is needed—needed on the road. That makes the service station dealer a vital cog in the nation's war machine. Just consider that—

Millions of war workers have no other means—except autos to get to work. In some sections over 75% of war workers reach their plants by car.

Over 65% of all freight going in and out of war plants is carried by truck. 54,000 communities are not reached by railroad, depend on trucks for supplies.

Nearly 100% of many vital crops are hauled to market by truck. Over 2,000 cities depend on cars for private transportation.

Every car owner must do a certain amount of necessary driving, as provided for under the rationing system.

Yes! America must remain a nation on wheels, and your Standard Oil Dealer is proud that he is playing a vital part in America's war effort. You can count on it—he'll carry on!

Stoffer-Nolte Nuptials

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Stoffer of Alexander announce the recent marriage of their daughter, Grace, to Aviation Cadet Ursel C. Nolte, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nolte of Los Angeles, California. The wedding took place the evening of December 23 in the Methodist church at Tucson, Arizona. The Reverend Maurice Bellenger officiated at the single ring ceremony.

The bride wore a white wool suit with blue accessories and wore a corsage of orchids and baby breath. The groom wore the uniform of the Army Air Corps. The bridesmaid wore a wool suit in beige with brown accessories and carried a bouquet of red roses. The groom's attendant also wore the Army Air Corps uniform.

After the wedding a five course dinner was served at the Santa Moria hotel in Tucson, with forty-two guests attending.

The bride graduated from Pitze's College of Beauty Culture in Waterloo, Iowa and has been engaged in beauty work for the past eight years. For three years she was employed in Dows, Goldfield, and Belmond, where she later operated her own shop for a year, the past four years in partnership with her sister, Annabelle Stoffer, operating the present shop in Belmond.

Aviation Cadet Ursel Nolte has been in the armed forces since August when he enlisted in the Army Air Corps. He was first stationed in Santa Anna, Calif., later being transferred to Tucson, Arizona where he is at present stationed with the Marana Army Basic Flying Detachment.

• Eggs for the breakfast table mean energy to build planes and ships and tanks. We'll help lick 'em with eggs!

That means produce more eggs. That means give the hens what it takes to make eggs. That means, on the Dr. Hess Research Farm, add Dr. Hess Poultry Pan-a-min to the ration.

Pan-a-min is a two-job product; it supplies the hen with both tonics and minerals. Tonics stimulate appetite and the consumption of feed. Minerals are as essential to egg production as the proteins and carbohydrates in grain.

Dr. Hess & Clark get as many as 23 extra eggs per bird per year from their Pan-a-min birds. We think you'll get more eggs if you use Pan-a-min. Will you try it?

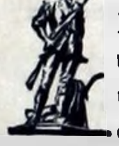
. . . and WAR

When you hear that bombing planes cost $335,000, tanks $75,000, anti-aircraft guns $50,000—And when you hear, too, that America needs 60,000 planes, 45,000 tanks, and 20,000 anti-aircraft guns at once—



It doesn't take much figuring to see that winning this war calls for every dollar all of us can scrape together. With our freedom at stake—with our farms, families, even our very lives depending upon the outcome, we'd gladly give this money.

But we aren't asked to do that. Our Government asks us only to lend the money—to put our increased earnings into War Bonds—month after month—until this war is won. In doing so, we save for our own security as well. For we get back $4 for every $3 we invest, when the Bonds are held 10 years. And if we need the money, we can get it all back any time after 60 days from issue date.

This is the American way—the volunteer way—to raise the billions needed for Victory. And the money can : : : will : : : must be raised.

So let's show them that the farmers of America are helping to win this war in two vitally important ways—by producing more Food for Freedom and by saving more in War Bonds.

Make Every Market Day "Bond Day"—Invest At Least 10%.

OBITUARY

Terence Allison Davenport, eldest child of Truer and Nancy Davenport, was born near North Adams, Massachusetts on June 5, 1859 leaving there at about one year of age, moving to Wisconsin, where he resided until about three years of age, at which time the family came to Iowa, settling southwest of Belmond.

At seventeen years of age he began teaching school, continuing in this work for fourteen years, teaching various schools of this area. He continued to teach for one year after his marriage to Laura S. Bamford and from this time on, for many years farming was his vocation. In 1913, the family moved to Belmond continuing in residence here up to the time of his decease, December 29, 1942.

While still a young teacher, he joined the IOOF and when he came to Belmond, joined the Rebekah order. Through the period of his membership in these orders, all his remaining years, he showed a large measure of interest, and was almost always in attendance at the scheduled meetings.

In early life he had fellowship in the Belmond Methodist church. When about 33 years of age, he and Mrs. Davenport united with the Hervey Congregational church. Upon moving to Belmond, they united with the local Congregational church. Mr. Davenport continued in his fellowship up to the time of his decease.. He was faithful in church attendance, contributed much for financial support and held various church offices serving through the years as a trustee, a deacon and a clerk. About six or seven years ago he was elected to be deacon for life. Too, for a number of decades he served as a Sunday school teacher.

About five years ago, he experienced an attack of pneumonia from which time his health and strength seemed to be in decline. He was in particularly bad health from about Thanksgiving time of the present year, death eventually coming on account of a rather general breaking down of an aged body.

Three brothers, Jason, Frank and Truer preceded him in death, also a sister, Abbie, making him the last remaining member of the original family circle.

Surviving relatives include his widow, Laura Davenport, a daughter, Mrs. John Mack of Clarion and six grandchildren; also a number of nieces and nephews.

There remain a considerable number of friends, whose lives he enriched and in whose memory he will continue to live, and who extend sympathy to those bereaved.

Mrs. C. J. Schmalle

Minnie Augusta Schmalle, daughter of Christian and Wilhemina Krueger was born at Reidsville, Wisconsin. on November 15, 1867.

When she was a young woman her parents moved to Iowa. They homesteaded some land near Sibley where they lived for many years. At Sibley she met the young man who later became her lifelong companion. She was united in marriage to Carl John Schmalle on April 19, 1888 at Sibley. To this union, five children were born, two of whom preceded their mother in death, Mrs. Marguerite Storm who passed away in February 1920 and Mrs. Lulu Jenison who died in April 1939. Mr. Schmalle succumbed on June 22, 1938.

After the marriage Mr. Schmalle finished his religious training and became a minister in the Evangelical church. Parishes served were at Wakefield, Wisc., Otter Creek, Stilson, Belmond, Sheldon, Ireton and Sibley, Iowa. Mrs. Schmalle was a constant companion and counsel as she went about the duties of a minister's wife. She entered heartily into the work, carrying her share of the load as a rare privilege rather than as a drudgery. Her spirit and faith in God had a marked effect upon the lives of many people.

After several years in the ministry, the Schmalle family moved to a farm in the vicinity of Belmond. They have been in this vicinity for about forty-eight years. For twenty years they lived on a farm east of Belmond.

Last July 9, she was stricken with a stroke. Unable to talk, she was confined to her bed until her death. The 29th of July, she was taken to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Millie Haferman near Thornton, where she passed away Friday January 1, 1943, at 9 p. m.

She was a good wife and mother Whenever she could, she gave a helping hand to those in need. When the time came for her to cross into the valley of the shadow of death, she had made her peace with God and was ready to go.

Mrs. Schmalle leaves to mourn her departure, two sons, Edwin A. of Belmond,, Samuel H. of Thornton; one daughter, Mrs. Millile Haferman of Thornton; one sister. Miss Emma Ida Krueger of Los Angeles, Calif., seven grand children, two great grand children and other relatives and many frienls.

VOL. 24. NO. 12 — BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA, THURSDAY, JANUARY 14, 1943 — THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

Phases of Rationing Point System Clarifi...

Benson Urges Public To Buy Sparingly

With the point rationing program scheduled to go into effect some time in February, C. C. Benson, chairman of the local war price and rationing board,' today clarified a number of phases of the program which are of interest to the housewife. He urged her to cooperate by buying sparingly of canned and bottled processed foods and to purchase only the immediate needs of her family until the program can be placed in effect.

Illustrating the fairness of the point rationing system, Mr. Benson pointed out that the wife of a millionaire would be able to purchase no more than a wife budgeting a laboror's salary.

Q—When will rationing begin?

A—As early in Februray as possible.

Q—What food items are to be rationed immediately?

A—All canned and packaged processed foods.

Q—Why is it necessary to suspend retail selling during the week prior to the effective day of point rationing?

A—This period will be used by the merchant to prepare for the start of rationing. It will give him time to replenish his stock, train his clerks, and to receive and post the official OPA list of point values. Secondly, the public must register for Book 2 and become familiar with the program.

Q—Will coffee and sugar be rationed under the point rationing program.

A—No. Coffee and sugar will continue under the present program. You will retain ration book 1 to secure these two commodities in the future as in the past.

Q—Will recipients of War Book 2 declare the amount of rationed food on hand?

A—Everyone applying for War Ration Book 2 will be required to fill out and sign a "Consumer Declaration" form stating exactly the stocks of processed food on hand. Heavy federal penalties can be applied to those making false declarations.

Q—Does this 'Declaration' mean I will have to declare the fruits and vegetables I canned at home?

A—No. Nothing you have packed at home need be declared and no stamps will be deducted for these home supplies. Your government is asking you however, to use your home-canned supplies instead of buying commercial products.

Q—Will the housewife have to make an inventory of her canned foods.

A—No. She need report only the total number of cans on hand at the start of rationing.

Q—Can the ration books of all members of the family be used when shopping?

A—Yes. Just as the coffee and sugar book is now being used.

Q—How will the consumer know when point values are changed?

A—Newspapers and radio will carry the announcements, and every food store will have an OPA official poster showing curre... point values of each particula... product.

Q—Will point values be th... same in every store in the country...

A—Point values will be th... same in every store regardless o... the price charged for the product...

In Letter o Parents—

Ray Green Tells of Trips

Mr. and Mrs. Ray C. Green received the following letter from their son Lt. L. C. Green:

November 20, 1942

Dear Folks:

Iu suppose you are wondering what has become of me since I haven't written for a long time. Well, I'm down in ———— now. I'm sure you have heard about the American forces taking over down here. We didn't have too much trouble and things are moving along smoothly now. Lucky old "M" Company came through in fine shape. In fact the whole outfit did very good.

How is everyone and everything at home? I'm sure anxious to get some mail again. You know, we haven't had any mail at all for six weeks now. They told us the other day that we could expect to get some mail on or about the 25th of November. That isn't far away now and I hope I have a truck load of it.

The weather is really nice down here. It gets a little chilly at night, but it is always warm during the day. It rains very little here.

The main crops are oranges, dates and grapes. Most of the oranges are too green to eat yet, but the grape harvest is over and they'll all made into wine already Wine costs six francs which is about 8c a quart. That's plenty cheap, but the stuff is too darn sour to be good. The champagne is a little higher priced and has a little more kick which is plenty .

I have been in Algeria. It's surely a pretty place. I didn't have very much time. In fact I just went through it and I hope I can get there again when I have enough time to look around more.

The population is mostly French and we have an awful time trying to talk to them, but they are very friendly to us.

By the way I got to see several of the big cities in Britain while I was there. I couldn't tell you about it before. I had three 24-hour passes to Glasgow, and was in—— ——— a couple of nights just before we sailed. We were stationed just seventeen miles from Glasgow for three weeks. I also went to Belfast a couple of times while we were in Ireland. I liked Glasgow the best, but Belfast is a nice town too. I wish I could have gone to London, but that was too far.

Well, I don't have mcuh more time so I'll close. We are living in pup tents and they don't have any electric lights in them. I'll write more soon.

Love

Ray

Annual Meeting of Red Cross Board Will Be Friday

The annual meeting of the Belmond Red Cross board will be held on Friday afternoon at the City hall at 2:30 o'clock.

All members are urged to attend.

Wright County Girls Joining 4-H Clubs

New All-out Drive For Membership

As a ship without a captain, so have the Wright county 4-H girls clubs been struggling along since the 4-H Achievement Day last August. Just as such a ship would get along even though handi capped, so will the "crew" of our county 4-H clubs carry on and achieve new goals in 1943. The "Home Front" struggle is a big one and our 4-H girls and their organization is just as important a factor in carrying on this big undertaking as is the food production and livestock program.

4-H girls of Wright county, this year, will carry the "Oven Products" project. This project will teach the girls how to bake, they will learn the various substitutes for wheat flour, the food values of such substitutes, they will be taught the importance of well balanced diets in these times when our foods will be rationed and it will be impossible to get some of the important foods.

To begin the 4-H club program of the year, the 4-H leaders will receive information through the first of a series of three 4-H leaders' training schools to be held in Clarion on January 26th. All 4-H club leaders, assistant leaders, county committee members and an older girl from each club should be present at this important meeting. It is recommended that these 4-H workers cooperate and ride together. Two other training schools will necessarily be held to complete the leaders' instructions. By cooperating in driving the gasoline burden will not be so great for any one person or car.

The 4-H boys' program is well under way. They have set a goal to increase their membership over ...00 members. The girls clubs may not be able to do that well but we are wondering if it would be possible to have 175 girls enrolled in 4-H girls' club work during 1943. There are the girls available, it will be up to the present members to contact these girls and invite them to become members.

SOMETHING UP HIS SLEEVE?

Poliomyelitis Campaign To Begin Friday, Jan. 15

Hope To Raise Funds For Trained Technician

Larry Day of Clarion was today named Wright county chairman for the 1943 cmpaign to raise funds for the state annual drive against Infantile Paralysis. Mr. Day has appointed George C. Hansen to assist him in Belmond.

In announcing the appointment, W. K. Niemann of Des Moines, State Chairman of the Campaign, said that this year's effort will be entirely different from the Infantile Paralysis Campaigns of former years and will be of more definite interest to every county in the state.

"It is our hope that we may raise sufficient funds so that every county may have one trained tecnician in the Sister Kenny Method," Chairman Day said.

If we can do this, we will insure our boys and girls throughout the country that if one of them should be stricken by the disease that they will have a far better chance to recover because our own nurses will then be able to start treatment immediately at a time when such treatment is so vital.

In addition, through the funds raised in the campaign, we will be able to improve both the state and national facilities for coping with the disease and for extending the present research which has already done so much in discovering better methods in saving lives and preventing permanent disability.

The campaign in this county will begin January 15, continuing thru January 30. Every section of the county is to be canvassed, officials declared. Special cooperaion has been tendered by the P. T. A. group, farm organizations and civic bodies.

Tire Deadline Is Postponed

Stagger System Put Into Effect

Washington, D. C.—The office of price administration Tuesday modified its periodic tire inspection program by postponing the Jan. 31 deadline for the first inspection, and providing for less frequent examinations.

The action was taken, OPA said to minimize public inconvenience and to smooth out occasional work peaks for the inspectors.

A stagger system was put into effect so that there will be three different deadlines for the first inspection.

Under the revised program, all holders of basic gasoline ration A coupons will have until the end of March for their first tire inspection, and subsequent inspections will be once in each six months, instead of the former requirement of once every four months.

Motorists with B or C supplementary books or bulk coupons for fleets will be required to get their first inspection by the end of February.

After that, inspection for B bookholders will be once in every four months, and for C bookholders and bulk coupon holders once every three months. Formerly the schedule called for examinations of cars and B and C rations once in two months.

In announcing the changes, Paul M. O'Leary, deputy OPA administrator in charge of rationing, said tire conservation now will depend more heavily upon coluntary co-operation by motorists.

O'Leary urged motorists not to wait for the deadlines but to have their tires inspected as soon as possible.

Belmond Plays Indians Friday

Game Is Scheduled For Eight P. M.

Tomorrow night (Friday) at 8:00 the Belmond Broncs will see action against the Forest City five on the home floor. The starting line-up, as announced by Coach Fred Nus will be: Nelson and Eggers forwards; Loats as center; Norris and Covington, guards.

Coach Nus stated that the squad has shown a great deal of improvement in the last couple of weeks and the boys are at full strength. "Although the Broncs do not expect to defeat Forest City, they are hoping to score on them", Mr. Nus continued. "One of the advantages held by the Indians is their height and our players have been working this week on a good defense for the game," said the coach.

The football letter winners will be given their awards between halves of the game, and the squad captain will be announced at that time also.

Last Friday night the Broncs were victorious 29-19 in a single game played at Garner with the Garner five. Nelson and Eggers were high point men with Nelson scoring 10 points and Eggers hitting 9.

Receives Letter From Son In Naval Hospital

Mrs. C. H. Wallace received three letters this month from her son, Robert, who is in the navy somewhere in the Pacific. Robert saw action recently and suffered some minor injuries, which included three cuts on his right leg, one on the back of his head and a broken ear drum; at the time he wrote the first two letters, he was still in the hospital where he had been for over a month, but commented that he had gained some weight during his stay.

In his third letter he stated that he had been released from the hospital and that everything was OK.

Ration Book 1 Deadline Near

January 15, Is Last Date; Needed for Book 2

C C. Benson, chairman of the local war price and rationing board today reminded the public that Jan. 15 is the last date to register for rationing book 1. Without book 1, commonly known as the "sugar book" it will be impossible for a person to obtain book No. 2, which will inaugurate the point rationing system sometime in February.

He said anyone who had not obtained his rationing book 1 or in the case of replacement should make application immediately with their local board. Under the forthcoming program many food items will be rationed and without book 2 the individual will be unable to purchase needed commodities for the home.

Parents were urged to guard against the possibility of obtaining coffee on stamps from the book of a person who was only 14 years old last May. Regardless of the age at present, if the applicant was not at least 15 on the date of registration he is not eligible for coffee rationing. Should coffee stamps be missing from the book of an ineligible the owner will be denied rationing book 2.

However Benson said in the case of late registrations local boards will enter on the applicant's ration book his present age rather than his age at the time of the May registration. In granting replacements of lost books, the applicant's age at the time of the original registration must be entered.

VOLUNTEERS WANTED! PAYROLL PARASITES?

Looking forward to the big job of rationing an ever increasing number of commodities, particularly more than 200 kinds of processed fruits and vegetables, as well as the items already on the ration list—sugar, coffee, tires, gasoline—the Office of Price Administration is making plans for issuing ration book number two in the near future. In this connection the OPA is seeking 1,500,000 volunteer workers to be trained to handle the registration for book two and instruct the registrants in the operation of the new point system which is to be used.

Although we all realize that the additional rationing of food products is going to change our American way of cooking and eating, we are not worrying or crying. Most of us are eager to make what sacrifices we can in order to help win the war as soon as possible. Not only are we willing to do what is asked by our government officials: volunteer for long hours of service in order that the nationwide ration system may be made to work efficiently and fairly for all.

We approve of rationing and are willing to help. We do not approve of everything that goes on and gets by under our governmental set-up. We refer to a recent article, "To Washington: An 'E' for INefficiency" by Jerry Klutz appearing in the December Reader's Digest, which exposed the waste of time, money and man power in our Capital City by the careless planning and administration of many Washington Bureaucrats. Some time could be well spent in weeding out inactive or unnecessary bureaus and excessive employees in some departments, transferring such persons to places where their services can accomplish something for their country, which needs trained experts in so many different fields.

FOOTBALL REIGNS—

A recent news broadcast with regard to the Rose bowl football game held at Pasedena, California, on New Year's Day indicated that this traditional athletic contest drew the largest motor vehicle attendance on record, over 30,000 cars—this in spite of our government's recent warning to use precious tires and gasoline only for necessary driving.

While we should regret to see the complete cessation of our system of collegiate athletic competition, we were surprised that this year's Rose bowl game -- as well as other similar events -- should draw such large crowds. Attending a New Year's Rose bowl game has been one of our hopes for the future, but we were quite content this year, os in the past, to follow the play-by-play description of the game over the radio. Apparently thousands of others saved their gasoline scrupulously for this one occasion, which proves that football is still the reigning sport in the good old U. S. A. The combined efforts of Hitler, Mussolini and Hirohito cannot dampen our enthusiasm for football or all the other things that help to make up our American way of life.

PAY - AS - YOU - GO?

President Roosevelt indicated recently that he would be in favor of a pay-as-you-go tax plan, provided a way could be found to solve the problem of taking care of current taxes and collecting 1943 taxes in 1943 at the same time. Discussion of this problem has brought up a suggestion that current taxes, or part of them at least, might be eliminated.

If that is the only problem involved, it would seem that a solution might be found without too much of the customary lengthy congressional debate. 1943 Federal tax receipts will surely more than double the 1942 assessments, and if the 1943 tax schedule is continued for a number of years—and we are sure it will have to continue for a long time in order to pay the staggering war bills—it would only take one extra year to erase the loss of the 1942 taxes, should our lawmakers decide to solve the problem that way.

Pretty Rough on Jumpers

Those who have been jumping from job to job are going to feel that the government is working an injustice to the workmen of Iowa in essential industry, by putting Iowa under the war manpower program freezing workers to their jobs.

The workmen in this category have no responsibility for the importance of their old jobs in the war effort, as they were only interested in the extra dollar per year. There were many who were working in essential industries in Iowa who left without notice to take over attractive jobs in Minneapolis and other larger war industry centers. We'll guess that a good many will resent the part the United States employment service will have under the program. The Des Moines newspaper columnist is right in saying:

"All the whining about war deprivations will lose battles faster than our soldiers overseas can win them. There aren't enough guns to silence the cry-babies."— Maurice Jones in Allison Tribune.

It Mustn't Be a Party Matter

Our readiness to take part in political as well as the military affairs after the war should not be allowed to become a party program. Republicans should guard against letting the new dealers claim this as their own. If they do, the end of the war may see another fatal division of opinion such as practically destroyed American participation in world affairs after the last war.—Dubuque Telegraph-Herald.

Little Sacrifice So Far

So far there has been little self denial by our people to finance the war. Few apart from the men in service are making any great sacrifices and there are still too many of our people who want life and business to continue as usual. The experience of other nations longer at war shows this is not the way to win victories.—Le Mars Sentinel.

If We're to Keep the American Way

Every taxpayer must realize that we cannot survive war, and return to a system of individual freedom unless the government remains solvent. If it is to do that, the people will have to pay taxes and buy bonds on a devastating scale. Tax laws must be mercilessly far-reaching and efficient. —Rockford Register.

A 1917 and 1943 Comparison

Senator Byrd of Virginia, who is trying to promote economy in non-war services, says that in World war I we had four civilian government employees for every 18 members of the armed services. In this war, he says we have four civilians for every seven members of the armed services. —Muscatine Journal.

FEDERAL INCOME TAX

FORM OF RETURN—

Persons subject to the Federal income tax must report their income to the Government on forms, or blanks, prescribed by regulations These forms are obtainable from any collector of internl revenue, and generally from any bank. Special forms are designed for corporations, for partnerships, for trusts and fiduciaries, and for non-resident aliens. Farmers who keep no books of account on the accrual method must attach a special schedule to their return (Form 1040F). For individuals, two forms are used, depending upon the amount and source of income to be reported.

FORM 1040—

This form is intended for general use of individuals who are citizens of the United States, or residents in this country, whether citizens or not. It contains spaces to show the amount of income from various sources, deductions allowable, exemptions and credits, and computation of tax liability. As most of the items require some explanation in order to be allowable, the form also contains appropriate schedules to show in more detail how the income or the decuctions are determined.

FORM 1040A—

This is a simplified report, which may, at the option of the taxpayer who makes his return on the cash basis, be filed instead of form 1040 by citizens and residents whose gross income was $3,000 or less during 1942, provided all this income consists wholly of one or more of the following: salary, wages, dividends, interest, or annuities. In using this form it is necessary only to enter the amount of gross income as shown, deduct the credit allowable for dependents, and insert the appropriate amount of tax in accordance with one's personal exemption status, as shown on the table on the reverse of the form. This form has no entries for deductions allowable, since the taxes indicated in the table on the back of the form are computed after taking into account what have been considered average deductions for persons of this income class.

A taxpayer should, therefore consider carefully which form would be appropriate for his purposes. Whichever form is employed, all the information called for in the spaces should be inserted so far as applicable to the taxpayer before to void the expense to the government, and the possible inconvenience to the tax payer, of subsequent check and inquiry.

With each return form is a set of accompanying instructions, and these instructions should be carefully read by the taxpayer before making his return.

Returns for the calendar year 1942 must be filed not later than March 15, 1943. They may be filed by mailing to the Collector of Internal Revenue of the appropriate district in which is located the legal residence or principal place of business of the taxpayer. If the return is filed by mailing, it should be posted in ample time to reach the collector's office on or before March 15, 1943. Returns received later than the due date are subject to a penalty variable according to the lateness in filing.

Management

Now that the United States is in a shooting war, men in management have perhaps a greater responsibility to their country, their companies, their employees, and their families than ever before. And while we must know and understand the news from across both oceans, those who are responsible for creating and carrying out America's plans of action—on the high seas, in the factories, on the farms—must also have detailed analyses of the specific problems those plans of action evoke. For upon such analyses they must base the thinking they do before they can plan or act—management.

Management is a great factor in the production of everything during both peace and war. In modern warfare, as never before, the fate of the fighting men and the front depends on the management of the production at home. If management is poor and the arms and equipment is not "enough and in time" to our soldiers, it is just as if they were sent to battle with their hands tied Everything must be managed in the best possible way so that nothing, no matter how small, might slow up production. To save time and manpower the most efficient and the best management is necessary at all times.

The best fighters in the world are the American soldiers, sailors and marines; and their success is based largely on management on the home front and in the factories. Realities have come that cannot be merely brushed way, and they must be managed in the best possible way. The sooner the better. Unforseen events are constantly coming up and they positively have to be taken care of.

Good management means speedier production and speedier production is certain to bring speedier Victory. Effective management is well worth its effort.

One of Our Beloved Teachers

Our patient English teacher who went to College Stephens in Missouri for two years, Carlton in Minnesota for two years, and to Hamilton's Business college for a short time, comes from Clear Lake. She is very much interested in spots, in the summer see goes in for golf, swimming and anything that is in the open air; and in the winter she prefers ice skating She also enjoys going to shows; her favorite actors are Spencer Tracy and John Garfield. She also likes to listen to the radio; her favorite program is Fred Waring.

Since her father owns a cottage at the lake she spends some of her time in the summer at the lake just taking it easy and enjoying herself in every way that she possibly can.

If you haven't as yet decided who the description is of it is none other than Miss Marguerite Kennedy.

The Ram That Knows the Rattle of Guns

We take great pride in our livestock, for we have some of the best to be found anywhere.

England also takes pride in its livestock. Many of our breeds of cattle, sheep and horses come from there.

We think farming has been hard this past season, with the shortage of labor and machinery. It has been harder elsewhere. In England feed is scarce, meats are needed badly by the people, and German airmen machine gun the farm animals in the fields.

We must remember this all the time—and buy War Bonds—all that we possibly can.

There are two good reasons for buying War Bonds. The first is that it will give our boys the guns and planes and tanks they must have. The second is that War Bonds are a sound investment. They never depreciate in value. They return a third more than the original cost in ten years. You can cash them any time after sixty days. Buy Bonds now—to help your country and to help yourself—at your bank or post office.

Bessie

"All right, Bessie," said the boss of the little factory which was making jackets for soldiers. "Did you want to see me about something?"

The thin middle-aged woman stood up from the chair in the outer office and looked earnestly at the boss with her huge, grave gray eyes.

"It's about this ten percent pledge," she began.

"Oh, that's all right, Bessie," the boss said. "I'd been meaning to speak to you about that. We don't expect you to pledge ten percent of your pay for War Bonds like the others are doing. We know you have a hard time making ends meet since Jake died. Eleven kids, isn't it? That's quite a lot of mouths to feed. Let's see, you make $25.50 a week including overtime, don't you?"

"Yes, sir, but . . ."

The boss smiled.

"Don't give it another thought, Bessie. You've got your hands full now. Uncle Sam knows you haven't got a penny to spare. Don't let it worry you. We understand."

The boss turned to go back into his private office.

"But what I wanted to say was . . ." Bessie raised her voice and the boss looked around. "I wanted to say, would a dollar a week be too little? You see, after we get the living expenses paid, there's just about a dollar a week left. Would they be willing to accept a dollar a week?"

"They'd be more than willing," the boss said quietly. "They'd be proud."

Bessie looked relieved.

"All we have to do is scrimp a little," she said. "I'd feel just terrible if we couldn't give something."

Back in the boss' office a representative of the Treasury Department was waiting. The boss shut the door and sat down.

"I've just seen the greatest single sacrifice I know of," the boss said. "Listen, if you want to hear what American women are made of . . ."

(Story from an actual report in the files of the Treasury Department.)

It's A Sellers Market

(AND IT HAS DANGERS)

In these days, selling for retailers is easy. Products are scarce; prices are rising. In this type of market, advertising for present business, seems needless. But sellers' markets are not new—we had one in 1812-63 . . . in 1918-19. In very major sellers' market some, yes many, found it easy to sell, curtailed their advertising and when normal times returned found competitors had taken over their markets.

Because sellers' markets are also changing markets stop for a moment to realize that each year some 2,000,000 infants take their first breath of life 300,000 children enter college . . . 150,000 graduate from college . . . that normally, 1,400,000 persons "pass on"!

That happens, war or no war. But add to that picture the effects of war economy. New inventions, new ways of doing business, and substitutes are born that out mode previous products. People who previously found employment difficult now are making good money. Businesses operating on the principle that these changes can go on for several years and that advertising after the war con bring back "that market" are mistaken . . . proved wrong in all previous sellers' markets and the years that followed.

Perhaps your business operations will be curtailed—perhaps it is difficult to get new merchandise! But you want to be actively "in business" after the war. And only through continuous advertising can your position in the market be held. If you relinquish leadership in selling today your weakest competitor through aggressive action may emerge the controller of your market after the war.

YOU CAN MAINTAIN YOUR PRESENT MARKET AND BUILD FOR THE FUTURE BY ADVERTISING IN THIS NEWSPAPER WITH THE LARGEST CIRCULATION A BELMOND NEWSPAPER HAS EVER HAD

The Ass That Starves With His Master

Both are hungry. For both there is not much promise of food. Why? Because they live in Greece.

Because in Greece the Axis took every scrap of food and every source of food—and deliberately left the people, the dogs, and a few useless burros to starve and to die.

Remember the farmer of Greece as you eat your Friday evening supper. Remember him the next day, as you market your produce. Remember—and buy Bonds. All the U. S. War Bonds that you can. Buy Bonds with every cent that you don't actually need to run your farm.

Buying Bonds will not only help win the war, but will provide you with a nest-egg for the future. They are the best investment in the world today. They never sell for less than you paid for them. They increase in value every year.

In ten years, they are worth a third more than you paid. And you can cash them any time after sixty days. Buy Bonds now — from your bank, post office, or rural mail carrier.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

R. W. Roberts, Pastor

Sunday School 10 a. m.
Morning worship 11 a. m.

Sunday morning we will start a series of four sermons on the Temptations of Christ—What they were and what the mean to us. Sunday morning we will take up the first of this series—The First Temptation. Text, "Man shall not live by bread alone." Read Matt 4: 1-11. A similar account is to be found in Lk. 4: 1-13. It is interesting to compare the two accounts.

It looks as though New Years resolutions had begun to work, if the helpful attendance is one result.

Easter is very late this year, Lent starting March 10th and Easter coming April 25th. Clear the deck for the Lenten period. A Pastor's class will be announced later.

An effort is being made to form a Junior church; bring the children next Sunday.

Government Has Them

According to definition given by a pupil in a state examination "a statistician is a man who draws a mathematically precise line from an unwarranted assumption to a foregone conclusion."

It's The "Adams County, Iowa"

Because it reached its goal of selling $175,000 in War bonds in the period Nov. 1 to Dec. 12, Adams county will receive the honor of having a bombing plane named "Adams County, Iowa.", according to the recommendation of the Wate War Bond Committee

Guest Speaker

Looking a bit more harried than usual, a little older and with the loss of weight, Hairbreadth Harry, well-known knight of the road, visited Guthrie Center recently seeking a lodging for the night. He forecast a hard winter and deplored the stresses of rationing. Harry is still reciting verses in exchange for the usual dime extracted from his many friends among the editors of the state.

Caged

Russell Kruse, a large man called "Tiny" by his home folks in Grundy Center, working on the inside of a box car nailing in door boards to hold a cargo of soybeans bound for St. Louis, absent-mindedly imprisoned himself in the car at the end. After much yelling and hammering Tiny was able to attract the attention of the station agent and was released before the train started for St. Louis.

Coquette

Little Patsy Murphy of Coin has a good many friends among trainmen of the Burlington road which runs past her home. Last Christmas, for the second time, trains stopped at the Murphy home to deliver presents to the little girl who has been so friendly as to wave her hand to the men who pull the trains on the railroad. One engineer on the road also stopped his train to deliver a birthday present to Patsy several months ago.

"Johnny Appleseed"

B. S. Pickett, head of the horticultural department of Iowa State College, Ames, Iowa, presented a committee report on locating the grave of "Johnny Appleseed", otherwise known as John Chapman, who in the early pioneer days distributed appleseeds to land settlers along a route extending from the Ohio to the Missouri river. The grave was located in Allen county, Indiana, on land fronting the St Joseph river and owned by W. S. and Lizzie Roebuck. Chapman died near Fort Wayne, Ind., in March, 1845.

Car Went Nutty

More than 200 hickory nuts were taken recently from the muffler and exhaust pipe of the car of the Rev. C. M. Hans of New Albin, who a little deaf, and did not notice the peculiar sounds coming from his engine until relatives called them to his attention. It is believed mice stored the nuts in the car as a great box of them had disappeared from his garage.

Iowa Fat Woman

The largest woman in the circus world twenty years ago was from Tama county. In private life she was Mrs. Gertrude Walker weighing at the time 596 pounds and traveled with the World Bros. Circus through Iowa. She was, according to the daily papers of that day, so large that she was unable to get into a railroad coach and was forced to travel in a five-ton truck.

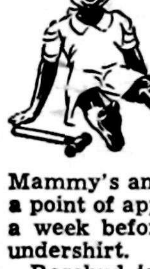
WOMEN AT WAR

Rosebud



Rosebud is eight, and the most beautiful shade of caramel fudge. To her loving Mammy and Pappy she is known, on approximately alternate days, as "Angel" and "You devil child". It was on her devil-child days that Rosebud tied the knots in the shirts that Mammy had taken in for washing, and poured the whole of the vanilla bottle into the lamb stew, just, she said later through bitter tears, to "flavor it up some".

On her angel days Rosebud is equally imaginative even if a more restful occupant of the little shack down on Vinegar Hill. Once when Mammy was out doing day work, Rosebud got a wave of cleaning fever and scoured every pot and pan in the kitchen so that they literally glistened. Another day, left alone, she tidied up Mammy's and Pappy's room to such a point of apple-pie order that it was a week before Pappy could find an undershirt.

Rosebud is a great reader of the newspapers. Mammy and Pappy don't take one, but there are plenty of perfectly good newspapers blowing round Vinegar Hill. It was out of one of them that Rosebud got her idea for spending the ten cents the Bunny had put under her pillow the night her tooth came out. After breakfas Rosebud disappeared down the Hill and reappeared soon after with a beautiful ten-cent War Stamp pasted firmly into a brand-new book with neat little squares for more stamps. She displayed her investment to Mammy. "I declare you're an angel child," Mammy said. Rosebud went on sitting on the kitchen floor staring with large brown eyes at the empty squares in her book. From time to time she took hold of one or another of her teeth and wiggled it, gently.

Mammy was engrossed in a particularly big washing. Rosebud was as quiet as a mouse and Mammy forgot about her until, coming in from the yard with her arms full of dry sheets, she encountered her child with a large hammer in her hand. Scenting the devil in her angel child, Mammy shouted at her, "Rosebud! Come yere with that hammer! What you planning on doing?"

But what was done was done. In Rosebud's other hand was another tooth. Her mouth was stretched in a broad if slightly bloody smile. "I ain't doing nothing, Mammy," she said. "I'm just filling up my stamp book."

THE COW THAT DIDN'T GET MILKED

She was a Holstein. There are many like her on our farms.

But this cow was not on an American farm. She was grazing in a little pasture in Holland, native country of the Holstein, when hell broke loose. A new kind of horrible hell called a blitz.

She went crazy. She ran until her tongue hung out. She wasn't milked that morning, or that night, or the next day, or the next. Her beautiful udder spoiled.

But maybe it is just as well—Hitler and his men take all the milk. They take everything from enslaved Holland.

Remember this story as you milk your good herd. Keep on remembering it—and buy U. S. War Bonds—every dollar's worth that you possibly can.

Buying Bonds will help with the war right now—and be one of the best investments you ever made. They never sell for less than you pay for them. They increase in value every year. If held for ten years, they return $4 for every $3 invested. And they can be cashed any time after sixty days if you need the money. Buy Bonds—for yourself and for your country—at your bank or post office.

Poliomyelitis Campaign Is Under Way

Coin Collectors Waiting For Contributions

The local Infantile Paralysis Drive which began January 15 is well under way and will continue until January 30. Coin collectors have been placed in prominent places in town, waiting for your contributions. If you wish to give more than 10c, bring your money to the Independent office where a record will be kept of the names of the contributors and the amount and will be published at the end of the drive.

At the conclusion of the drive, January 30, all funds will be forwarded to Larry E. Day, Wright county chairman of the Infantile Paralysis Drive and he in turn will forward the money to the state department.

Iowa now has active in Des Moines the use of the Sister Kenny method that has helped many people that have been stricken with this disease and inasmuch as 50% of all collections remain in our own state and county, all donations that are made will go to help further this movement within our own state. Our state officials are endeavoring to train enough technicians so that there will be someone in every county that will be able to administer this treatment of the need arises, which undoubtedly it will.

Let's put Belmond over the top with a successful drive for 1943.

Fire Destroys Clarion Church

About $35,000 Estimated Damage

Fire early Sunday morning destroyed the Clarion M. E. church with a loss estimated at between $35,000 and $40,000, as firemen battled in 17 below temperatures to try to extinguish the blaze.

The fire, which started between 6:30 and 7 o'clock, quickly enveloped the frame structure and it became a roaring ferno, with smoke spreading throughout the section in which the church was located.

Acting Fire Chief T. F. Bender said he had not ascertained how the flames started, although they apparently had a good start when discovered. Firemen were greatly handicapped by the severe temperature, suffering frozen toes, ears and fingers as they worked in the subzero weather. The fire was not brought under control until past noon.

The parsonage next door caught on fire but firemen succeeded in putting out the blaze with only minor damage. Blazing embers were dropped within two blocks of the church and small fires were started on the A. S. Wilkinson home and the M. A. Stark home occupied by Mrs. Lila Wakefield, but these were put out.

Insurance on the building amounted to $16,000.

To Award Service Tags For Farm Machinery

L. M. Helland Is Local Chairman

A Victory Placard on every farm as an award indicating that every major machine on that farm is in tip top shape before spring is the goal for the Farm Machinery Preparedness Program of Wright county sponsored by the implement dealers, welding shops, general repair shops, vocational agriculture instructors, War Board and the Agricultural extension service.

To avoid loss of valuable working time next spring and summer due to break down and lack of available repair service, farmers are urged to order their repair parts now from their dealers and have their machinery repaired before spring. Tractors and tillage machinery repairs are especially urged at this time to clear the way for other machinery to be used later in the season.

A system of recognition to farmers who get their machinery in tip top shape for spring work has been adopted on a state wide basis. In this program farmers will be awarded a blue tag which will be placed on every machine that has been put in first class shape either by the farmer or the repairman When a farmer has blue tags on all his major farm machines, he is awarded a Victory Placard which is to be attached to the gate post at the entrance to his farm.

Records are kept of all machines awarded a blue tag and the victory placards. Those names will compose the Wright County Machinery Preparedness Honor Roll to be sent at regular intervals to all newspapers of the county.

Blue Tags and Victory Placards are already in the hands of all implement dealers and machinery repair shops of the county. Farmers are urged to ask for these awards and see that they are placed on the machine.

A county Farm Machinery Preparedness committee has been selected to direct the program. Members of this committee are: Tom Welder, Dows; L. M. Helland, Belmond; C. R Banwell, Clarion; Harold Parsons, Eagle Grove; John Whyte, Goldfield; George Jones, Woolstock; A. C. Bird, Galt; Hiram Vanderlip, county war board representative and Aaron R. Bowman, agricultural extension service.

4-H Clubs To Contribute R. C. Ambulance

At Five - Cent Cost To Each Club Member

Wright county 4-H club members are joining the 4-H members of the United States in a nation wide drive to collect funds for the purchase of a Red Cross ambulance station wagon for use on the fighting fronts. This ambulance would carry a plaque dedicating it to the 4-H members in service and indicating it a gift from the 4-H clubs of America. Money collected in addition to the amount needed for the ambulance will be used for supplies and for comfort kits for service men.

This fine gesture is an outgrowth of the 4-H short course held at Ames last month. At that time the proposal was presented to the county 4-H delegates and a collection made as a beginning of the statewide drive. Collection made at the final session of the 4-H short course totalled $65.27. This amount was forwarded to the National 4-H club office in Chicago as Iowa's first contribution to the national fund.

Through this ambulance drive, 4-H club members—both boys and girls—have an opportunity to help save the lives of former 4-H club members and other men on the battle fronts. A goal of 5c for every 4-H member in Iowa has been set. Wright county 4-H clubs are asked to collect their contributions this month and have it turned in at the county agricultural extension office at Clarion not later than February 1st. This will be sent immediately to the state 4-H club office. Many of our own Wright county former 4-H club members are serving in the United States forces with some in foreign fields.

Production For Freedom Loans Now Available

Mr. Arthur J. Petit, Field Supervisor for the Emergency Crop & Feed Loan Office announced today that "Food for Freedom" loans are now available.

The loans furnish credit to farmers to pay expenses and purchase supplies needed to plant, produce and harvest special war goal crops, victory home gardens, regular cash crops, feed and soil conservation crops and purchase or produce feed to increase the production of vitally needed dairy products, beef and pork.

The loan funds can be used to purchase seed, feed, tractor fuel and oil, machinery repairs, fertilizer and other supplies.

Mr. Petit states that a first lien on the crop produced or livestock fed is required as security. Farmers who are unable to arrange for credit from local banks, production credit associations or other local sources on reasonable terms are eligible to apply. The interest rate is four percent per year and special arrangements have been made to have the loan funds in the farmer's hands within a week or ten days after the application reaches the Regional Office.

To obtain information on where to make application, farmers should get in touch with the County Agent, AAA County Committee or Township Committeeman or by writing to Mr. Arthur J. Petit, at Des Moines.

Point Rationing Assures Fair Food Distribution

Must Have Book One To Obtain Book Two

The point rationing plan, which is to be placed into effect in the near future, is termed "the fairest way" of even distribution of commodities made scarce by the war to the civilian public by C. C. Benson, chairman of the local War Price and Rationing board. Mr. Benson said that the plan assured rich and poor alike a fair share of the available supply.

He urged the public to acquaint themselves with the provisions of the plan in order that they will be familiar with its workings when it becomes effective. The date the program will be placed in effect depends upon how soon your government can distribute War Ration Book Two and other supplies to local boards. Under no circumstances will the plan be put into effect until all is in readiness for its inauguration, Mr. Benson explained.

In pointing out the highlights of the program he said every eligible man, woman and baby in the United States will be given War Ration Book Two provided they have registered for War Ration Book One the one now being used for coffee and sugar. Among the commodities to be rationed are canned, bottled or packaged processed foods such as fruits, vegetables, either canned, dried or frozen. Soups, Juices, catsup, chili sauce and baby foods are also included in the rationed items. These food items will be obtained by the use of the blue stamps while the red stamps will be used later when meat is rationed.

The stamps in your War Ration Book Two are both numbered and lettered. The numbers (8, 5, 2 and 1) designate the point value of each stamp, while the letters (A through U) designate the periods the stamp is valid. The year will be divided into rationing periods with A, B, and C valid only in the first period.

The blue stamps will be used when purchasing any of the rationed items whose point value will be set by your government depending upon the supply. Your grocer will display an Official Table of Point Values provided him by the will keep a close watch on the supply of these processed foods and make changes in point value from time to time as is warranted by the available supply. Changes in point values of the items will be announced and the Official Table of Point Values will be changed to conform with the new values.

Regardless of the variance in prices of the items the point values will be the same in all stores and in all parts of the country.

ALL MEN ARE CREATED EQUAL

All men are created equal, but all men have not shared equally in the pleasures and profits of mortal life. Some men through inheritance, outstanding ability, selfish means or the cooperation of lady luck have accumulated more than a fair share of the world's wealth and the conveniences and luxuries that money can buy. Others with less brilliant minds or because of misfortune, incompetence laziness or bad luck have done without even the modest necessities of life in a world that is rich enough to provide comfort and happiness for all.

But times are changing and the future is fast bringing about a living medium from which the balance is not likely to swing too far in either direction. Legislation limiting incomes to $25.000 a year is gong to eliminate the lavish living habits of many millionaires, even though they may still have millions safe in the bank, tied up in stocks and bonds, or invested in the good black earth of the U. S. A. The rationing of various food products together with many other items, which is increasing in its scope every day, is likely to cover the majority of commodities for sale in the not too distant future, and it will, therefore, be impossible for the millionaire to comply mith our laws and at the same time secure more than a reasonable amount of the world's goods and services to supply his personal needs and desires.

GIVE SOME MORE!

Plans got under way last week for the organization of the annual campaign for funds to fight infantile paralysis, and the goal has been set to raise enough money to pay for one trained technician in the "Sister Kenny Method" for each county.

This year, with the increased burden of taxation and other financial responsibilities, it will be easy enough for people to turn down requests or invitations to support such causes as this. We hope this will not be the case.

The yearly drive for funds to fight infantile paralysis has been responsible for more and more discoveries in the treatment and cure of the disease. Now, with the newly-found success of the "Sister Kenny Method", it is highly possible that with sufficient cooperation of doctors, nurses, parents and health authorities this malady, which was once fatal or maiming for life, may be one that pains and cripples only temporarily.

VITAMIN ENRICHED—

In this day and age, when so much stress is placed on the importance of vitamins in the diet, producers of foods have been adding vitamins are distributed to the public. There is vitamin enriched bread, vitamin enriched milk for babies . . .

In this connection we had an idea. Anyone who has ever read reports of Iowa liquor sales knows that a tremendous amount of liquor is consumed in Iowa. Of course, the same thing is true in other states. Now, the actual good that any person gets from drinking alcoholic beverages is very questionable. But, if brewers would make their products "vitamin enriched", the consumer would certainly receive good from that food element. It is very likely that a considerable percentage of people who use alcoholic beverages regularly are deficient in vitamins in their daily diet.

An Honest President

In these days when President Roosevelt says that he personally is willing to cut his $75,000 a year salary to a measly $25,000, it might be well to remember that other presidents have not insisted on a full salary. In fact President Hoover, whose term of office left him unpopular with the voters on account of the hard times during his administration, never accepted a penny of his $75.000 a year salary. Although Mr. Hoover's term of office proved unpopular no one ever accused him of anything but high-minded honesty and he is today regarded by many as the most able and honest statesman in the country. William Allen White of the Emporia Gazette took occasion the other day to verify Mr. Hoover's record in this matter. From a member of the cabinet at that time who was close to him personally, the facts were disclosed as follows:

"As secretary of commerce and later as president of the United States, Mr. Hoover put his entire salary into a special account and spent it exclusively in the public interest. He paid a special staff of necessary experts for whom no appropriation of funds was available. He supplemented the salary of other men out of this special fund to bring them into the public service. But mostly his salary was subscribed to public charities. He did not profit personally a penny by any salary payment to himself, not even for his own living expenses or otherwise. It all went back to the public.—J. W. Haggard in Algona Upper Des Moines.

In Answer To Frank Pierce

If holding practice blackouts as against that possible day when we'll have a real one is silly, then the whole defense system of the United States is placed in a ludicrous light. From the president of the United States down, it has been said repeatedly that the success of our participation in this inflicted war depends as much on the home front as it does on the battling front. And no small part of home effort is the project of civilian defense.—Ottumwa Courier.

Grozny Oil and Ukraine Grain

The near-collapse of Hitler's drive for oil and grain in southern Russia has threatened the whole nazi war machine with disaster. Failure to get oil in the Grozny fields of the Caucasus has brought Hitler's drive close to collapse. With what little fuel Germany has been able to squeeze from Rumania's overworked oil fields and the Ruhr coal has not been sufficient to fight a war on a 2,000-mile front in Russia.—Kewanee, Ill., Star-Courier.

Japan's New Won Rubber Won't Help Her

If Japan could hold on to her newly acquired rubber plantations, it would do her little good as far as American markets are concerned. Already our factories are turning out substitute rubber. Rubber is now being produced from soybeans commercially at the rate of 250,000 pounds a month. Of course Japan isn't going to hold on to the rubber area for long!—Albert Lea Tribune.

It Takes More Than Kind Words

In 1942 the people of the United States gave $9,200,000 to Chinese relief, according to report of Wendell Willkie, honorary chairman of the committee in charge. If we can keep up the morale of the Chinese until we can furnish them with bombers and guns and ammunition we will be doing ourselves a favor as well as the Chinese.—Marshalltown Republican.

We've never thought much about the commotion the noon whistle creates until the other day a stranger asked, "What is this", as the whistle blew, doors opened and the noon lunchers poured out onto the street hurrying for home. Just notice it someday. It looks like a track meet.

Note to C. P. What would you do if the phone rings as you're about to sit down to dinner and a friend who hasn't been in town for several months is calling. Belmond is represented in the Marines, Coast Guard, Navy, Army, WAAC and WAVES and now it is possible that we will be following the activities of "Dogs for Defense, Inc."

"Carmichael" Studebaker has been enlisted in a recent call, by the army, for dogs of certain types which includes St. Bernards, which fits Carmichael to a 'T'. Carmichael, pet of Charlie Studebaker, is almost certain he can pass the rigid requirements which are so stiff that only 8 of 50 that recently volunteered could pass them.

A photo has been sent to J. H. Schuffman, regional director at Davenport, Iowa, and if he feels the dog is a good prospect, there's no question about that in Carmichael's mind, Charlie will sign a form releasing his pet for the duration.

P—P

Dogs wanted are German Shepherd, Great Danes, Dobermans, Dalmatians, Airdales, Labrador or Chesapeake retrievers, St. Bernards, or a direct cross between any of these dogs and Camichael.

They must be big, standing 20 inches from shoulder to the floor in good health and aggressive and it helps if they are registered with the American Kennel Club.

The Right To Come And Go As We Please

This is a fight to the finish we are in—a grim war for survival. The stakes are the highest in all the history of mankind, and one of them is the American's traditional right to come and go when he pleases. Our enemies say that they will tell us when to come and go. But they'll find it easier said than done.

No goose-stepping Nazi; no squint eyed Jap is going to tell the Americans that they can't run down to the sea shore or vacation in the mountains or take the children to visit Aunt Mary back home. For we are going to win this war! How? With the bravery and the brilliance of our men in uniform. With the toil and sweat of millions of loyal workers in forest, field, factory and mine. With our genius for invention, organization and production. With the willing sacrifices of every patriotic American. Yes, we will win this war—we have set aside our right to come and go as we please, for gas rationing won't allow us to have this right; but it is for our own good and we will try to get along now that we have given it up.

All our resources of man-power and experience are enlisted for the duration in the service of the nation. For this reason the transportation needs for Uncle Sam are put first—before any civilian need—that the right to come and go when you please may be preserved for you and for the generations of Americans yet to come. For with Victory, we know a new day will come to all America; a new day of prosperity and happiness and peace a new day with freedom to come and go when you please.

THIS IS WORTH FIGHTING FOR!!

The credits may be taken currently or after the war. They amount to 40 percent of the tax for married persons, 25 percent for single persons, and 2 percent for each dependent. They may be taken currently and will be based on (a) payments of premiums on life insurance policies in force on September 1, 1942; (b) payments of old debts; (c) net purchase of War Bonds. *U. S. FEDERAL INCOME TAX

Personal Exemption—

Every individual is allowed a credit against his net income which varies with his domestic status, that is, whether he is (a) a smgle person, (b) a married person living with husband or wife, or (c) a head of family. This credit is known as personal exemption, and is shown on line 21 of the return Form 1040. The amount of the personal exemption also varies depending upon the period during which the taxpayers occupied the particular exemption status

The personal exemption for a single person is $500 for the year; for a married person living with husband or wife, $1200; and for a "head of family," $1200. (Personal exemption as head of a family has no effect on liability to file a return.) For Federal income tax purposes, widows, widowers, divorcees, and married persons separated by mutual consent, as well as persons who have never been married, are classed as single persons.

A head of family is defined as "an individual who actually supports and maintains in one household one or more individuals who are closely adoption, and whose right to exercise family control and provide for those dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation." A single person, or a married person not living with husband or wife, may therefore, enjoy a head of family exemption under certain conditions.

Taxpayers using a Simplified Return (which is permitted if the gross income for the year is $3000 or less and derived solely from earnings from employment and-or from dividends, interests and annuities) obtain personal exemption based on their status as of July 1 of the year. Thus, a taxpayer married and living with husband or wife on July 1 is entitled to $1200 personal exemption on Form 1040-A; if he were a widower on July 1, his exemption would be $500, irrespective of the date on which he became a widower. The amount of the exemption is not deductible from the income but is reflected in the amount of tax shown in the table on the reverse side of the form.

Taxpayers using return Form 1040 obtain personal exemption proportionate with the number of months during which the particular status is held. Thus, for a person who married on July 1, (who was not a head of family prior to his marriage) the personal exemption would be $850 ($250 for the six months as a single man, plus $600 for the six months as a married man.) In this example it is assumed that the wife has no income.

Married persons may, however, file joint returns, even though one has no income, and by filing a joint return a couple married during the year may obtain an exemption amounting to the exemption to which they would be entitled for the period of married status, plus the amount of their individual exemptions prior to their marriage. In the example given the total exemption in a joint return would be $1100 ($250 for each spouse for six months plus $600 for six mos. married status.)

If a husband and wife living together both have income and file separate returns on Form 1040, the personal exemption applicable to a married person may be taken in the return of either or divided between them in any way as they may agree, but the total personal exemption taken in the two separate returns may not exceed $1200.

First Occupant

An oxygen tent was purchased last summer by the Elkader fire department and used for the first time recently by Jerry Johnson, 17-month old boy suffering from pneumonia. The baby was soon able to be removed from the tent and returned to his home.

It Is A War Necessity
To keep your TRACTOR
In Good Shape

A BLUE TAG FOR EVERY FARM MACHINE

Timely Information Prepared by Iowa State College Specialists

Farm tractors need to be winterized the same as automobiles. Most jobs in the winter, such as feed grinding, saw wood etc., are for only a few hours duration, whereas summer field work is for 10-12 hours at a time. For this reason tractors need to be handled and serviced more carefully.

The crank case should be drained and refilled with a good quality oil of lighter viscosity. If SAE 30 oil was used during the summer, the winter oil ought not be heavier than SAE 20, and for operation below zero temperatures SAE 10 should be used.

The air cleaner should be taken apart and all heavy oil, dirt and sludge cleaned from the oil cup and filtering element. Fill tractor radiator with commercial antifreeze if tractor is to be used to a considerable extent. If used only occasionally fill with water but start motor first, if using water or be sure it will start.

* * *

If tractor is to be stored for winter. drain all fuel from fuel tank. sediment bowl, fuel lines and carburetor to prevent formation of gum. Remove spark plugs and pour in two or three tablespoonfuls of lubricating oil to coat cylinder walls with oil. Turn engine over by hand to distribute oil on cylinder walls. Drain summer oil from crank case and refill with fresh oil. Store tractor in closed shed.

* * *

If an overhaul job is needed take your tractor to a reliable service man this winter and have a thorough reconditioning job done. Repainting at the time of overhauling is recommended.

We are fully equipped to do repair work on all makes of tractors

It Takes Both, War Bonds and Taxes, to Win—Victory Tax Special Direct Levy Asked to Help Meet Heavy War Costs

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Approximately 50,000,000 American workers began to make an added contribution to the War cost this month in the form of a 5% Victory tax.

For many millions of Americans the Victory tax and the 1943 income tax are the first direct levies to be made by the Government to meet the staggering War costs. And it will take both . . . taxes and War Bonds . . . to provide the supplies and materials to win the War and the peace afterwards.

The Treasury Department estimates that the Victory tax will raise approximately $2,000,000,000. Every person receiving more than $12 per week must pay the Victory tax upon that part of his income over and above the $12. For example, a married man with a salary of $50 per week, with two dependents, would make only a net payment of $1.06 per week after allowance for postwar credit.

The Government has made every effort to make the impact of the new tax as light as possible. The law, in effect, provides that in the case of married persons whose sole income is from wages or salary, 40 percent of the Victory tax paid (up to a maximum of $1,000) plus 2 percent for each dependent (up to a maximum of $100) may be used as a credit against whatever Federal income taxes the individual may owe at the end of the year—provided he has purchased certain War Bonds, or paid old debts or paid life insurance premiums equal to the amount of this credit. In the case of single persons this credit will be 25 percent of the Victory tax paid (up to a maximum of $500). Should the Victory tax credit exceed the individual's Federal income tax, the unused portion of the credit may be refundable to the taxpayer.

Even with the Victory tax, the 1943 income tax, and all other taxes paid by individuals, the average American will have more money with which to buy War Bonds than he has ever had before. Here are the statistics which explain that statement:

In 1940 the total income payments made to the American people amounted to about 76 billion dollars. In that same year the total personal taxes paid, Federal, State and local, were roughly 2.5 billion dollars, leaving 73.5 billion dollars of disposable income. During 1943 total income payments are expected to rise to 125 billion dollars and total personal taxes under existing revenue legislation will be 15 billion dollars—leaving 110 billion dollars of income at our disposal as against only 73.5 billion dollars in 1940.

In 1943 Mr. Average American will still be carrying a much lighter tax load than his Canadian or English brothers-in-arms. In Great Britain total national and local taxes paid by individuals at present amount to 31 percent of the national income. In Canada, total individual taxes amount to 25 percent of the national income. In the United States, total personal taxes, Federal, state and local, will amount in 1943 to 18 percent of national income. Our English allies invest an additional 10 percent of national income in War savings. Our Canadian allies invest an additional 11 percent of national income in War savings. We Americans, to match the record of our Canadian neighbors, would have to invest this year 20 percent of our national income in War savings. To match the English record we would have to invest 23 percent of national income in War savings.

Honored

The Rev. and Mrs. T. J. Severtson of Eagle Grove were honored recently by the members of the East Side Lutheran church. They have been associated with the church for 25 years.

Mystery No Longer

An animal trapped by Gene and Les Miller of Charlotte that had "stumped the experts" for a time was identified by the State Conservation Commission as a Myocaster coypus. This beaver-like animal, native of South America, is not generally known in Sorth American country and its migration here is a source of speculation. The coypu, according to Dr. Jose Carvalho of Iowa State college, is found in the wild state as well as in domestic, and are kept in penned ponds and fed grain and other vegetable foods. The flesh is edible, and the fur, when processed, is known as nutria, one of South America's most important furs.

CHOICE LAMBS

Mr. Harold Bowers, Cedar Falls, Iowa, says, "I have fed lambs for some time, but I have never seen lambs DO AS WELL and FINISH AS NICELY as tne lambs I fed this year when I self-fed Big Gain as a balancer with my home grown grains."

If you are not quite satisfied with your results on feeding lambs why don't you do like Mr. Bowers — Self feed BIG GAIN MINERAL STOCK FOOD with your home grown grains and then compare the results.

Could Be Easy Hunting

Thirty-five or 40 pheasants have made an evergreen grove on the Don Bolton place near West Union their resting place for the night. Each evening about roosting time one goes into the heavy foliage, and before long all the birds are "nestled for the night."

Flowers For Christmas

Modern Hunting

What with the shortage of shells etc., Ern McKean of Hamburg was considered lucky to obtain a fox so easily as he did recently. On his way to town he discovered a fox hanging on a fence, caught by a hind leg. With the aid of a club Ern was able to dispatch the fox. The fur was not damaged as the animal had not been there long.

Loose Wire

A wire used by Frederick Decker in repairing the top of his windmill near Clarence almost caused fatal injuries. It was blown by the wind until it came in contact with the high line. Decker was knocked to the ground and it is thought his contact with the ground started his heart beating again. He was able to walk to the house without assistance. He was badly bruised and the palms of his hands were burned.

LeRoy Christie Takes Training at Ames College

Leroy E. Christie, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Christie, Belmond, is studying to become a specialist in the Navy at the U. S. Naval Training school for electricians on the campus of Iowa State college here.

Selected upon the basis of a series of aptitude tests taken during his recruit training, the Bluejacket will take a 16-week course, including theoretical instruction and laboratory practice. Upon graduation, he will be eligible for a petty officer rating, and be assigned to duty with the fleet or at a Naval shore station, or be sent to an advanced school for further instruction.

Several hundred sailors assigned here for specialized training give evidence of the U. S. Navy's growing might.

CORRECTION

This paper wishes to state that, contrary to the statement made in last week's issue in the story concerning L. C. Green, his correct classification is Corporal and not Lieutenant.

City Hall, Belmond — Office Hours, every week day afternoon 1 to 5 o'clock.

Program Inaugurated This Week

The Belmond High School Victory Corps is now in full swing with the inauguration this week of an activities program designed for school participation in the war effort. Only one change was made in the regular curriculum, that being the addition of the course in the elements of electricity. However, several new activities have been added to the extra curricular program and are now in progress during the activity period each day from Monday to Thursday.

The most popular of the new activities is military drill and three different divisions are learning a modern manual of drill under Mr. Wagner's direction. Two of these divisions are composed of boys and one of girls. One group of ninth grade boys is meeting twice a week to build model airplanes, while a group of older boys are meeting weekly to discuss and stuly modern aviation.

A service club has been formed for the purpose of performing such services as need to be taken care of about the building. Already this club has undertaken the arrangement of the trophy case and care of the school library.

A group of typing students has been organized to do any of the work of this nature that presents itself, and the school paper will continue as a school activity.

A large part of the work being done is in the nature of Red Cross work. Two periods each day are being devoted to miscellaneous Red Cross work and two a day to instruction in knitting, with Miss Schade in charge of this phase.

An extra curricular class has been started in First Aid under Miss Delaplane's direction. In addition to this group, a regular high school physiology class will be given a unit in First Aid.

The activity period each Friday has been reserved for assembly programs and for home room guidance conferences.

Arrangements are being made for a series of government films to be shown at the high school assemblies. All of these are directly concerned with some phase of the war effort and include such titles as "King of Steel", "Campus on the March", "Men and the Sea", "Winning Your Wings", and "Women in Defense". This series of films is made possible through the P. T. A. which voted at its last meeting to defray the expense.

On Fridays, alternating with those devoted to assemblies, the students will meet in their smaller groups to discuss personal and vocational problems peculiar to war time.

Seaman Glenn Fisher telephoned his parents Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fisher of Kanawha on January 9 that he was well and back in the United States. He was on a 5-day leave which was not sufficient to visit at home.

Sgt. Chauncey L. Bane, son of the Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Bane of Kanawha writes his parents from Egypt stating that his squadron took an active part in the battles of Alamein and El Agheila. Sergeant Bane is a gunner with the Black Scorpion air squadron of the British 8th Army. He enlisted in the army air corps in July, 1941, and was sent to Egypt in September 1942, being transferred at that time from Palestine.

Mr. and Mrs. James Yeakel of Kanawha have received word from their son Duane that he is in North Africa.

Private Harold Church from Camp Claiborne, Louisiana, spent the week end with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rhodes

M. P. Orville Arends sent a cablegram from N. Africa to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Arends of Alexander, telling them that he arrived there safely and was well. He had sent them a cablegram before he left Ireland wishing them a "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year", which they received several days after the one from North Africa.

Lowell Hoke of Camp Young, Calif., is spending a 15 day furlough with relatives and friends at Rowan.

Clarence Chamberlin who has been in training at Kansas State college, is home for an indefinite stay with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Chamberlin. He will be called in the near future to finish his training at another camp, after which he will be summoned for active duty in the air corps.

Tenant Purchase Group Of Wright-Hancock Co's Hold Meeting in Kanawha

The annual meeting of the Hancock - Wright Co. Tenant - Purchase Families was held in the Methodist church parlors at Kanawha on Thursday, January 21st, 1943. All except one family attended this meeting and enjoyed dinner together.

Mr. S. Byron B. Cory, R. R. Supervisor in charge, gave an analysis of several farm accounts.

The members were then divided into four groups where they spent an hour discussing questions referring to farm people at large. At the end of the hour period a representative gave each group's conclusions of questions studied.

The following Wright county officers were elected:

Pres., W. L. Kurtz; vice pres., Delmar Lonning; secretary - treasurer, Mrs. Harry Bohnette; reporter, Mrs. Delmar Lonning.

America to bring about still greater food production. May the observance of National 4-H Mobilization activities reach into every rural home. We have faith in your ability to render a greater service have the spirit and perseverance that will bring victory in the fight for human freedom and a world at peace."

The 4-H mobilization follows Farm Mobilization Day and the period for the sign-up campaign. It is an indication of the patriotic spirit of youth and the strength for unified group action under adult leadership. It gives young people an opportunity to do a job without which wartime production goals could not even be met, let alone surpassed, which is the aim of the wartime agricultural program.

The Nazis and the Japs want to know these things about our forces. Their agents assemble the information like this: from one paper an item reveals the 600th Infantry is in Australia; another, that the U. S. S. Wisconsin is in the Mediterranean; another, that the 206th Tank Battalion is in North Africa. Add hundreds of these bits of information together, and our enemies have a too-accurate estimate of American military strength.

These are our soldiers—Americans, all—whom we endanger by these "little slips".

This is not a "blackout" on the news about our soldiers. Considerable latitude in reporting personal experiences gives the enemy little military information, if the troop units, the ship names are kept secret. However, in the future the custom of the Independent in publishing addresses of the boys in the service must be discontinued to the extent that no troop units or ship names can be revealed. In sending us the address of your boy who is overseas, send us his name, "dog tag" number, APO number and name of city in which the APO number originates.

ALASKA: U. S. WAR FRONTIER

ALASKA, sitting high on the globe, is a place of great potential military importance. Whether it is best fitted for offense or defense is a secret closely kept by U. S. military leaders. But probably no man can completely foresee the vast potentialities of Alaska as a defense bastion of the future. One glance at the distance lines radiating from Fairbanks, however, will give even the novice an idea of Alaska's place in the world of the future. As the range of bombers increases—and this occurs at an amazing pace—more and more of the world is drawn into the Alaska orbit. Military experts have stated that the day is in sight when three-fifths of the world's land area and most of its metropolitan centers will be within bomber range of this great potential military outpost. Alaska has served America well—it may some day save it.

The Territory is at the top of the world where distances seem strangely drawn in on the map. This map shows most of the northern hemisphere, looking down upon the world from a point directly above the North pole. While this projection will appear strange to most people it is a comparatively good picture of the northern world and with relatively little distortion above the equator. Compare the size of Greenland and the United States with the same areas on the world map in this atlas. Alaska's true position in relation to the land area of the world is best seen on this, a polar projection.

The Aleutians point like a dagger at Japan. Attu, the westernmost island, is but 2,000 miles from Tokyo. By seizing the islands Japan could point the dagger at the heart of America. Congress has belatedly appropriated millions to arm Alaska, but how this money is being spent, where the men, the guns and the planes are being dispersed and the bases are being located is a secret which the Japs would like to know. The record-breaking time in which army engineers rushed to completion the new Alcan highway—a military road of inestimable importance—attests the value placed upon Alaska by military authorities. It is possible that you may one day drive your car over this road to the shores of Bering strait and cross by ferry to the vast Siberian wilderness of Russia. Only 56 miles of water separates Alaska and Siberia at this point, and only 16 miles separate the Russian-owned Big Diomede island from the United States' Little Diomede island. Aside from the military importance of strategic Alaska it is hard to conceive what giant industrial empires the Soviets and the United States may some day carve out of their neighboring northlands.

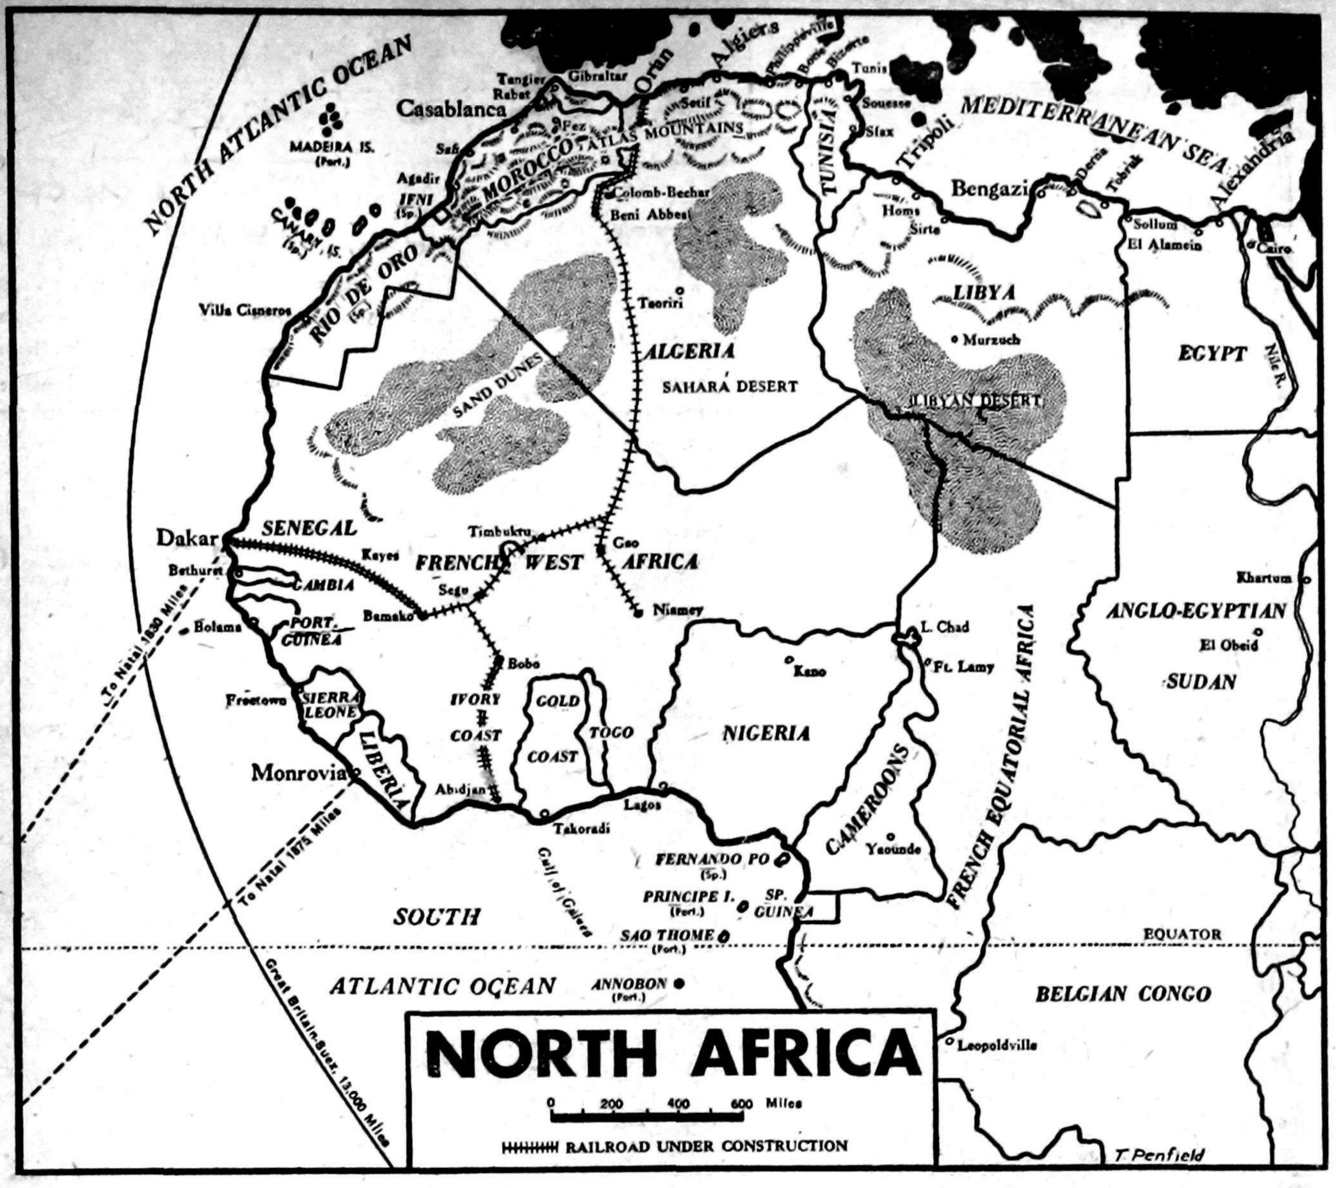
NORTH AFRICA.—The North African expedition will be written in history as one of the greatest single military overseas expeditions of all times. Carefully timed and planned it may change the whole course of the war. Fighting was negligible; it was Blitzkrieg personified. Hitler will not be defeated by the Allied conquest of North Africa, but the act will have given the Allies two tremendous advantages which have been sorely lacking: (1) Protection for Mediterranean shipping, and (2), new bases completing the semicircle of bases around Europe.

Allied air power based on North Africa will in time raise a protective "umbrella" above the Mediterranean shipping lanes and permit safe passage of that stretch of water. When this is a realization the effect upon Japan will be stunning, for then a sizeable force in India can be maintained to give the Chinese real help in driving the Japs from China. This new route will save 8,000 miles and many thousands of tons of shipping. The Middle East can be supplied and its oil brought back to Britain.

Eventually North Africa will be fringed with Allied airfields, and planes based upon them will rain death from the skies upon Southern Europe until it is softened up enough for a blow at the vulnerable part of Europe. The bases in North Africa will unquestionably be used as jumping off points for Sicily, Sardinia, Corsica, Italy, Southern France, Greece, Crete, and perhaps the Balkans, accompanied by invasions from British points.

A great deal has been said about the importance of Dakar. Only 1,830 air miles from Natal, Brazil, it has been a constant threat to the security of our Atlantic position. As an Allied base it will immeasurably strengthen our North Atlantic sea lanes and relieve the submarine menace in this area. There is no evidence that German submarines have used Dakar as an operating base, but in Hitler's control Dakar would be the equivalent of adding many new vessels to his submarine fleet. In Allied hands Dakar will cut thousands of miles from the route used for air-borne plane deliveries to the fighting fronts. It will serve as a great dispersal point for all kinds of military equipment—an advanced supply base such as established by the Allies at a secret Red sea point. The facilities of Dakar are superior to those of any West African port. The harbor is deep, well protected, and with a drydock, seaplane bases, vast petroleum storage tanks and all the other installations of a first-class naval base.

The Trans-Saharan railway has been a French dream since 1879. The section between Colomb-Bechar and Beni Abbes was completed in 1942. By 1946 it is scheduled for completion to the major river ports of Segu and Gao, tapping the vast Niger valley. The gap between Bamako and Beni Abbes is 1,500 miles. The route is largely over desert lands of shifting sands where few bridges and tunnels are required. Hitler may have dreamed of using this road in his plan to conquer South America from Dakar, and thence move northward to the United States. Now the Allies may reverse the plan.



RUSSIA.—From the icy shore of Barents sea to the snow-covered crags and peaks of the Caucasus Russia fights on a 2,500-mile long front—the longest continuous land front of World War II, and one which offers little except weather in the way of a natural defense barrier. The rich Ukraine and the iron, coal and manganese districts of the Crimea and Donetz Basin have been lost to the Germans, but the Russians fight on with the resources developed in the equally rich Magnitogorsk region. It is true that Russia has lost all of the rich wheat land of the Ukraine, but the Russians have demonstrated before that hunger does not rapidly weaken their will to resist. The loss of the Ukraine was serious, but not fatal.

Unless the Red army can be annihilated it is difficult to see how Russia can be defeated by a Germany which must guard stolen countries from the North Cape to the Mediterranean. Russia's great wall is the Ural mountains, and Russia's back is far from that wall. Russia can retire hundreds of miles. Can Hitler extend his already thin lines that distance? But Russia is determined not to retire. The Russians are peculiar this way—a peculiarity Hitler fails to understand. "They are licked," he said a year ago, "why don't they quit?"

Roughly Germany has conquered and holds but 10% of Russian soil. Contrary to public opinion the 90% still held by the Russians is rich in natural resourcesand probably adequately machined. From all reports morale was never higher. The invasion of North Africa has given her relief to some measure—perhaps not as much as the Russians desire, but at least the definite assurance that greater things are on the way.

SICILY.—For many months both Germans and Italians have been battering Britain's lifeline through the Mediterranean with planes based upon strategically located Sicily. From these Sicilian fields bombers have shuttled across the 60 miles of water to blast the British base at Malta. An air-borne army has undoubtedly long been held here in anticipation of dropping in on Malta at the opportune moment. But the solid defenders of Malta have never weakened. Instead they have exacted a terrible toll of Nazi planes and pilots.

The Germans, realizing that any Allied hope of invading the soft underside of the Axis through Italy must include capture of Sicily first, have probably heavily fortified the island and garrisoned it well. Trapani, Siracusa, Catania, Messina and Palermo are all bases with good airfields. Out of them operate Axis submarines and small surface craft. Scattered over the island, which is only 125 miles long, are innumerable concealed air bases Italian in name only.

The geography of Italy forces her to be ready to defend herself from many directions, but also gives her many geographical advantages. To Sicily, Mussolini has given the task of preventing an invasion of Italy from the south. Sicily fitted well into the offensive scheme of empire which Mussolini had outlined for his country previous to the collapse of Italian armies in Egypt and the subsequent infiltration of German troops.

In World War I Italy waited until 1915 to see how events would fall. Convinced then of Allied victory, and under promises of territorial gains, Italy entered the war and received a terrific pounding from Austrians and Germans, culminating in a disastrous defeat on the Piave river. In World War II Italy was equally cautious and did not enter the war as Germany's ally against England and France until it was apparent to her military leaders that France was already shaking on her heels from German assaults. There are good reasons for this Italian caution. Italy is a poor nation with many people and little wealth. She has millions of soldiers, but little coal and iron to make weapons for them, and little will to fight to the finish. Her coast line is long and her food supply is dependent upon other countries. Italy's chief ambitions were to build a new Roman empire around the Mediterranean sea, to open the English-held door to the Atlantic at Gibraltar and by conquering Egypt and the Sudan to link up Ethiopia with Italy.

City Hall, Belmond — Office Hours, every week day afternoon 1 to 5 o'clock.

Program Inaugurated This Week

The Belmond High School Victory Corps is now in full swing with the inauguration this week of an activities program designed for school participation in the war effort. Only one change was made in the regular curriculum, that being the addition of the course in the elements of electricity. However, several new activities have been added to the extra curricular program and are now in progress during the activity period each day from Monday to Thursday.

The most popular of the new activities is military drill and three different divisions are learning a modern manual of drill under Mr. Wagner's direction. Two of these divisions are composed of boys and one of girls. One group of ninth grade boys is meeting twice a week to build model airplanes, while a group of older boys are meeting weekly to discuss and stuly modern aviation.

A service club has been formed for the purpose of performing such services as need to be taken care of about the building. Already this club has undertaken the arrangement of the trophy case and care of the school library.

A group of typing students has been organized to do any of the work of this nature that presents itself, and the school paper will continue as a school activity.

A large part of the work being done is in the nature of Red Cross work. Two periods each day are being devoted to miscellaneous Red Cross work and two a day to instruction in knitting, with Miss Schade in charge of this phase.

An extra curricular class has been started in First Aid under Miss Delaplane's direction. In addition to this group, a regular high school physiology class will be given a unit in First Aid.

The activity period each Friday has been reserved for assembly programs and for home room guidance conferences.

Arrangements are being made for a series of government films to be shown at the high school assemblies. All of these are directly concerned with some phase of the war effort and include such titles as "King of Steel", "Campus on the March", "Men and the Sea", "Winning Your Wings", and "Women in Defense". This series of films is made possible through the P. T. A. which voted at its last meeting to defray the expense.

On Fridays, alternating with those devoted to assemblies, the students will meet in their smaller groups to discuss personal and vocational problems peculiar to war time.

Seaman Glenn Fisher telephoned his parents Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fisher of Kanawha on January 9 that he was well and back in the United States. He was on a 5-day leave which was not sufficient to visit at home.

Sgt. Chauncey L. Bane, son of the Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Bane of Kanawha writes his parents from Egypt stating that his squadron took an active part in the battles of Alamein and El Agheila. Sergeant Bane is a gunner with the Black Scorpion air squadron of the British 8th Army. He enlisted in the army air corps in July, 1941, and was sent to Egypt in September 1942, being transferred at that time from Palestine.

Mr. and Mrs. James Yeakel of Kanawha have received word from their son Duane that he is in North Africa.

M. P. Orville Arends sent a cablegram from N. Africa to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Arends of Alexander, telling them that he arrived there safely and was well. He had sent them a cablegram before he left Ireland wishing them a "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year", which they received several days after the one from North Africa.

Lowell Hoke of Camp Young, Calif., is spending a 15 day furlough with relatives and friends at Rowan.

Clarence Chamberlin who has been in training at Kansas State college, is home for an indefinite stay with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Chamberlin. He will be called in the near future to finish his training at another camp, after which he will be summoned for active duty in the air corps.

Pfc. Curtis Chamberlin who has been in camp at Oakland, Calif., has been transferred to Camp Stoneman, Calif. His new address may be found in the list of service boys' addresses.

Tenant Purchase Group Of Wright-Hancock Co's Hold Meeting in Kanawha

The annual meeting of the Hancock - Wright Co. Tenant - Purchase Families was held in the Methodist church parlors at Kanawha on Thursday, January 21st, 1943. All except one family attended this meeting and enjoyed dinner together.

Mr. S. Byron B. Cory, R. R. Supervisor in charge, gave an analysis of several farm accounts.

The members were then divided into four groups where they spent an hour discussing questions referring to farm people at large. At the end of the hour period a representative gave each group's conclusions of questions studied.

The following Wright county officers were elected:

Pres., W. L. Kurtz; vice pres., Delmar Lonning; secretary - treasurer. Mrs. Harry Bohnette; reporter, Mrs. Delmar Lonning.

...America to bring about still greater food production. May the observance of National 4-H Mobilization activities reach into every rural home. We have faith in your ability to render a greater service have the spirit and perseverance that will bring victory in the fight for human freedom and a world at peace."

The 4-H mobilization follows Farm Mobilization Day and the period for the sign-up campaign. It is an indication of the patriotic spirit of youth and the strength for unified group action under adult leadership. It gives young people an opportunity to do a job without which wartime production goals could not even be met, let alone surpassed, which is the aim of the wartime agricultural program.

The Nazis and the Japs want to know these things about our forces. Their agents assemble the information like this: from one paper an item reveals the 600th Infantry is in Australia; another, that the U. S. S. Wisconsin is in the Mediterranean; another, that the 206th Tank Battalion is in North Africa. Add hundreds of these bits of information together, and our enemies have a too-accurate estimate of American military strength.

These are our soldiers—Americans, all—whom we endanger by these "little slips".

This is not a "blackout" on the news about our soldiers. Considerable latitude in reporting personal experiences gives the enemy little military information, if the troop units, the ship names are kept secret. However, in the future the custom of the Independent in publishing addresses of the boys in the service must be discontinued to the extent that no troop units or ship names can be revealed. In sending us the address of your boy who is overseas, send us his name, "dog tag" number, APO number and name of city in which the APO number originates.

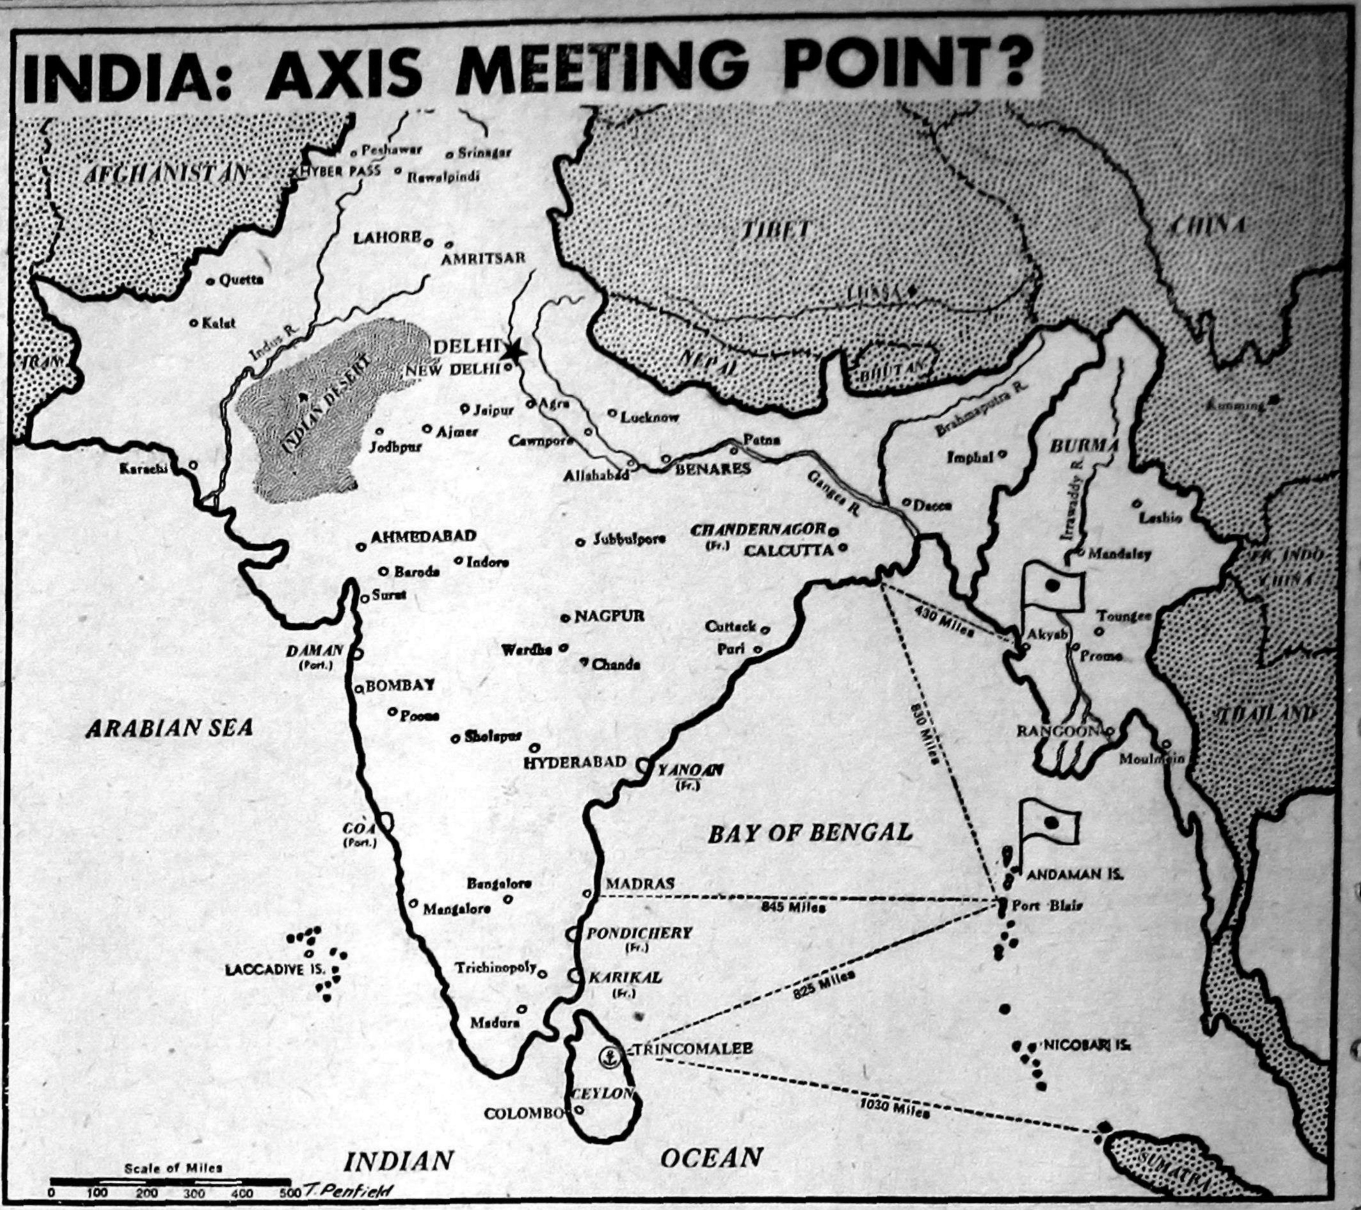
INDIAN OCEAN.—Two long Allied supply routes skirt the fringes of the Indian ocean. The western, and most used, route serves to supply Allied forces in the Near East and North Africa from the United States and Great Britain. Along this route, too, moves much of the Lend Lease equipment into the Persian gulf and thence on by rail and truck to Russia's southern armies. This route was secured by the British seizure of Madagascar, a step or two ahead of the Japs. With complete Allied control of the Mediterranean this route will be abandoned in favor of the shorter route through the Suez canal. The second and lesser used route is that from Australia to Bombay and the Persian gulf, handling U. S. transhipments from Australia. When and if India is invaded by Japan this route will increase in importance.

Unless the Japs can secure and establish further bases on the edge of the Indian ocean this great waterway should remain securely in control of Allied naval power. The great British Indian ocean base is at Trincomalee in Ceylon. During the low of British fortune in the Far East the Japs made one attempt to take this base or knock it out, but the British drove them off. The main Japanese bases for action in this area are Port Blair in the Andaman islands, Akyab and the huge Singapore base captured from the British at the outbreak of war in the Pacific. It is unlikely, however, that the Japanese have sufficient naval strength above that required to hold and press their South Pacific gains to attempt an Indian ocean venture in the near future. In the event that Germany is defeated before Japan—and Prime Minister Churchill has publicly hinted of this possibility—the Indian ocean will serve as Britain's path to pour troops and equipment into India and China in a huge pincers movement designed to throttle Japan.

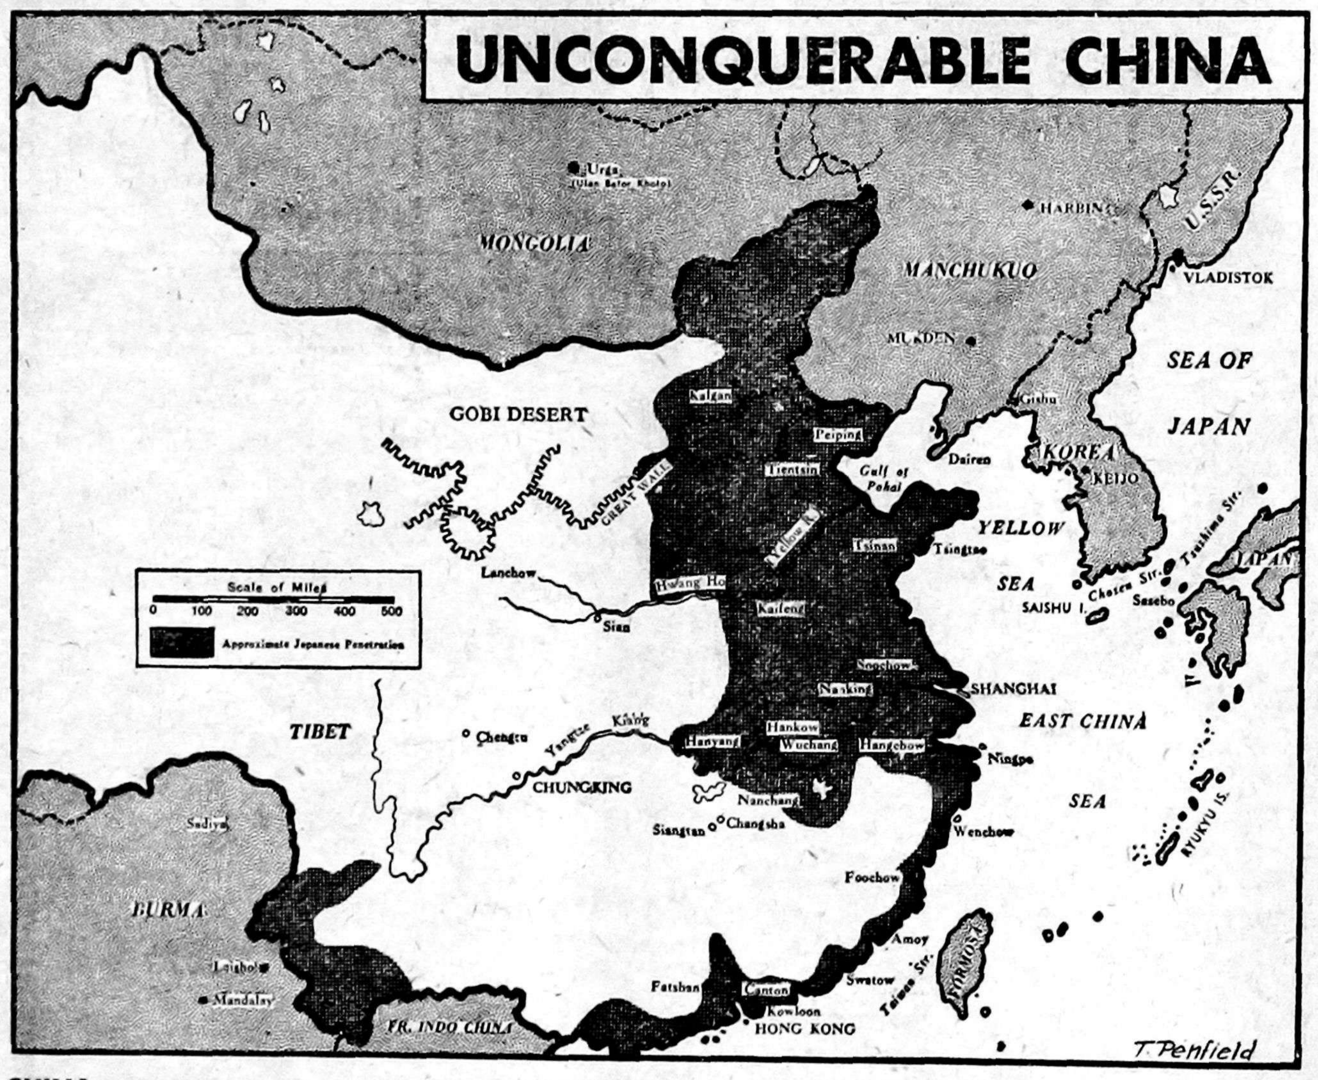
India is naturally the key to the whole Indian ocean situation. Should the Japanese conquer India and establish bases near the entrances to the Persian gulf and Red sea they will constitute a real threat to the Russian supply lines. Such a move by Japan might force Russia, in defense of her vital supply routes, to attack Japan's puppet state of Manchukuo to relieve the danger. This in turn would open Russian bases for United States bombers to carry the war to Japan proper. The situation is full of possibilities. Japan lodged in West India would be near Moslem Arabia and only a step from Africa. By jumping across the Red sea she could attack the Allied African forces from the rear, forming with Hitler's armies a gigantic pincers movement designed to strangle the Allies.



INDIA.—That India should be endangered by a power with its headquarters some 4,000 miles away is one of the wonders and dangers of modern war. But this is the prospect which India faces. The threat is deadly serious if and when Japan can release sufficient naval power from the Pacific. The imminence of Japanese invasion has tended to unify the Indian peoples, but at the same time the Indians have seized this opportune hour to demand independence from the British.

From the Japanese advance bases in Thailand (Siam), Burma and the Andaman islands, India's southeast coast is in range of Jap medium range bombers. The rest of India can be reached by long range bombers, and India's flat east coast is ideal terrain for a determined landing force. An overall Axis plan undoubtedly calls for a meeting of Jap and Nazi troops some place in teeming India. When—and if—this occurs it will indeed be a low point in the Allied fortunes of war.

Only by a conquest of India can a junction of the two Axis partners be effected, whether it be attained as a result of Japanese subjugation of the whole of Hindustan and possibly penetration even farther westward, or by a joint offensive with a German breakthrough in the Near East. In any case the resulting Axis self-sufficiency in raw materials and manufactured goods that would be the outcome of such a junction would, to say the least, prolong the war for several years. It is primarily to prevent such a catastrophe that the United Nations must hold India at all costs; but there are other scarcely less pressing considerations that serve to emphasize the strategic importance of India. The United Nations forces in the Near East, as a result of the shortage of shipping, will depend more and more on India's food production and on the many kinds of munitions and equipment that India is able to manufacture. The Allied hope of gathering a strong land force to eventually drive the Jap from China may depend upon the position of strategic India.



CHINA.—For five years the Chinese have been fighting back at the Japanese. Recently they have had to fight on a half-dozen different fronts. China is without any railroad to the outside world since the Jap seizure of Indo-China. There is no highway outlet from the north. The 2,500-mile road to Russia is all but useless since Russia needs every gun and shell she can get against the Germans. Material aid from the Allies has been slow—but it is coming. Yet China fights on with unflinching faith in the defensive strength of her depth.

China is the nearest and strongest base available to the United States for direct attack against Japan. If ways can be found to arm and equip her 2,000,000 soldiers and 1,000,000 reserves—send them the planes, the guns and the tanks—China may drive the Jap into the sea. The Chinese soldier is tough—and he has refused to quit. Against overwhelming odds the Chinese have materially aided the cause of the United Nations. Their resistance to the Japanese has been all the more amazing because of their lack of the modern tools of war.

JAPAN.—This is Japan—the enemy's lair. Placed in line against the United States it would stretch roughly from Seattle to San Diego. Its greatest maximum width is 270 miles, and with an area smaller than Indiana, Oregon, New Jersey and Vermont combined, it supports almost 73,000,000 people. Four islands comprise the main group: Honshu, Hokkaido, Shikoku and Kyushu. A country of mountain ranges, frequent earthquakes, forests and small valleys, Japan depends heavily upon the sea for food and largely upon Korea to keep the rice bowls filled. There are five cities of more than 1,000,000 inhabitants: Tokyo, the capital, Osaka, Kyoto, Nagoya and Kobe.

Japan is the poorest of the world's powers (or was until she stole the riches of the Netherland Indies, Thailand, Burma and Malaya). In her own possessions she has little coal, no iron, an inhospitable climate, few strategic minerals; and a rapidly growing population on 85% non-arable land. From conquered lands she secured oil and rubber—but what Japan needs worse is iron. China has an estimated 240 billion tons of reserve iron. In the simplest terms this is why Japan and China are at war. Japanese railroads are narrow gauge, and most are single track, far behind American and European standards in carrying capacity. There are many tunnels and bridges—strategic air targets. The rivers of Japan are short and rapid, not navigable for ocean-going vessels, but they supply irrigation water and hydro-electric power. Deep snow falls on the Japan sea side of Kyushu, Honshu and Hokkaido, often reaching a depth of 25 feet, while the Pacific side of the same islands are fair with little snow. All Japan is hot in the summer, and Taiwan is unbearably so for most white men.

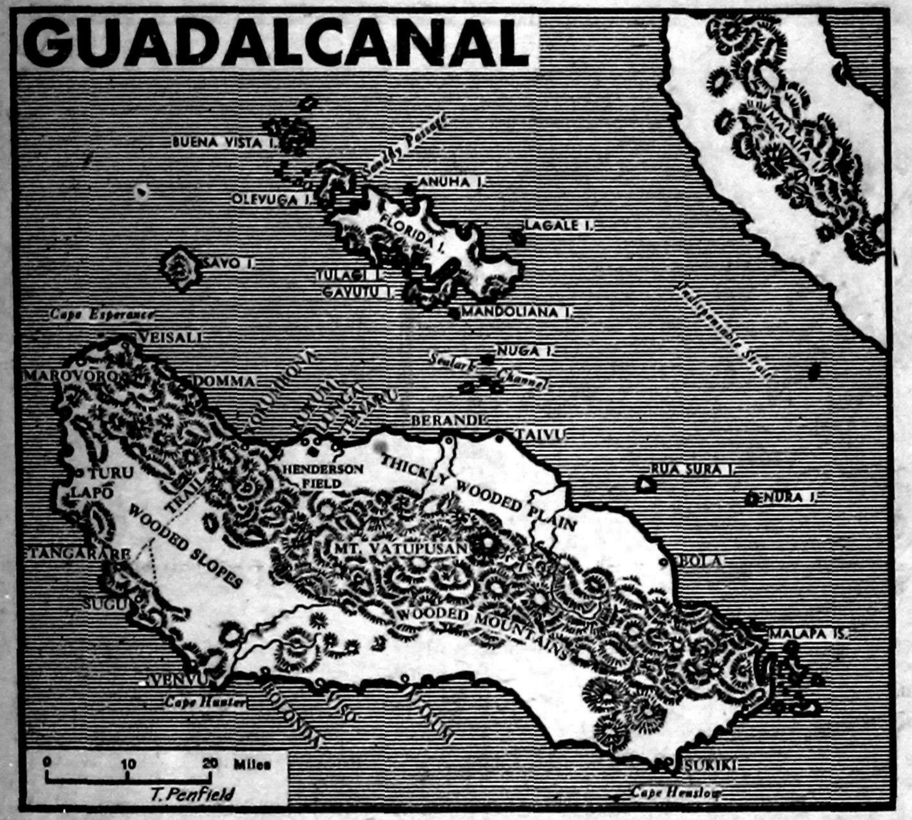
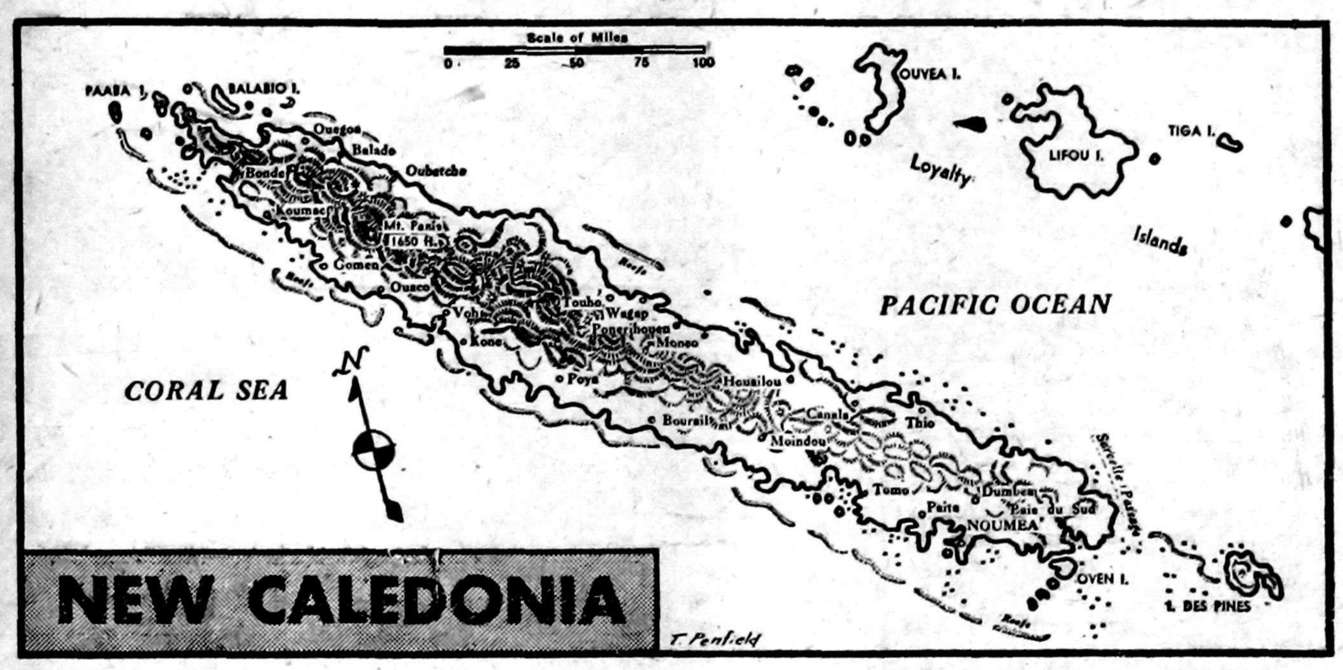
THE NEW HEBRIDES, a French and British condominium, are directly in the path of the U. S. supply line to Australia. When stopped at Guadalcanal the Japs were moving towards the New Hebrides and in their possession they would have at one and the same time severed that vital supply route and flanked Australia. With the fall of France the New Hebrides joined the Free French and eventually permitted the entry of U. S. forces and the establishment of a base at an undisclosed point on the island of Espiritu Santo. From this forward base U. S. airmen strike deep at the heart of the Japs lurking in their rapidly prepared bases in the Solomons.

SOLOMON ISLANDS.—The Solomons were discovered by a Spaniard, completely forgotten, and not seen by a white man until 1568. In 1885 they were divided between Germany and Great Britain, and in 1914 they were taken over by Australia as a mandate until they were all but swallowed up in the Japanese advance. The main Jap bases are at Kieta, Buin and Rekata bay, with Buin probably the strongest and best equipped of the three. Another base was under construction at Tulagi until knocked out by Allied airmen. If the Japs are driven out of Guadalcanal their strategy will probably be to fall back on their nearest base and carry on the war from that point. Step by step, island by island, they will force the Allies to regain their stolen outposts at the greatest possible cost. That the Jap considers the Solomons of great importance is evidenced in his fanatical fight to hold them.

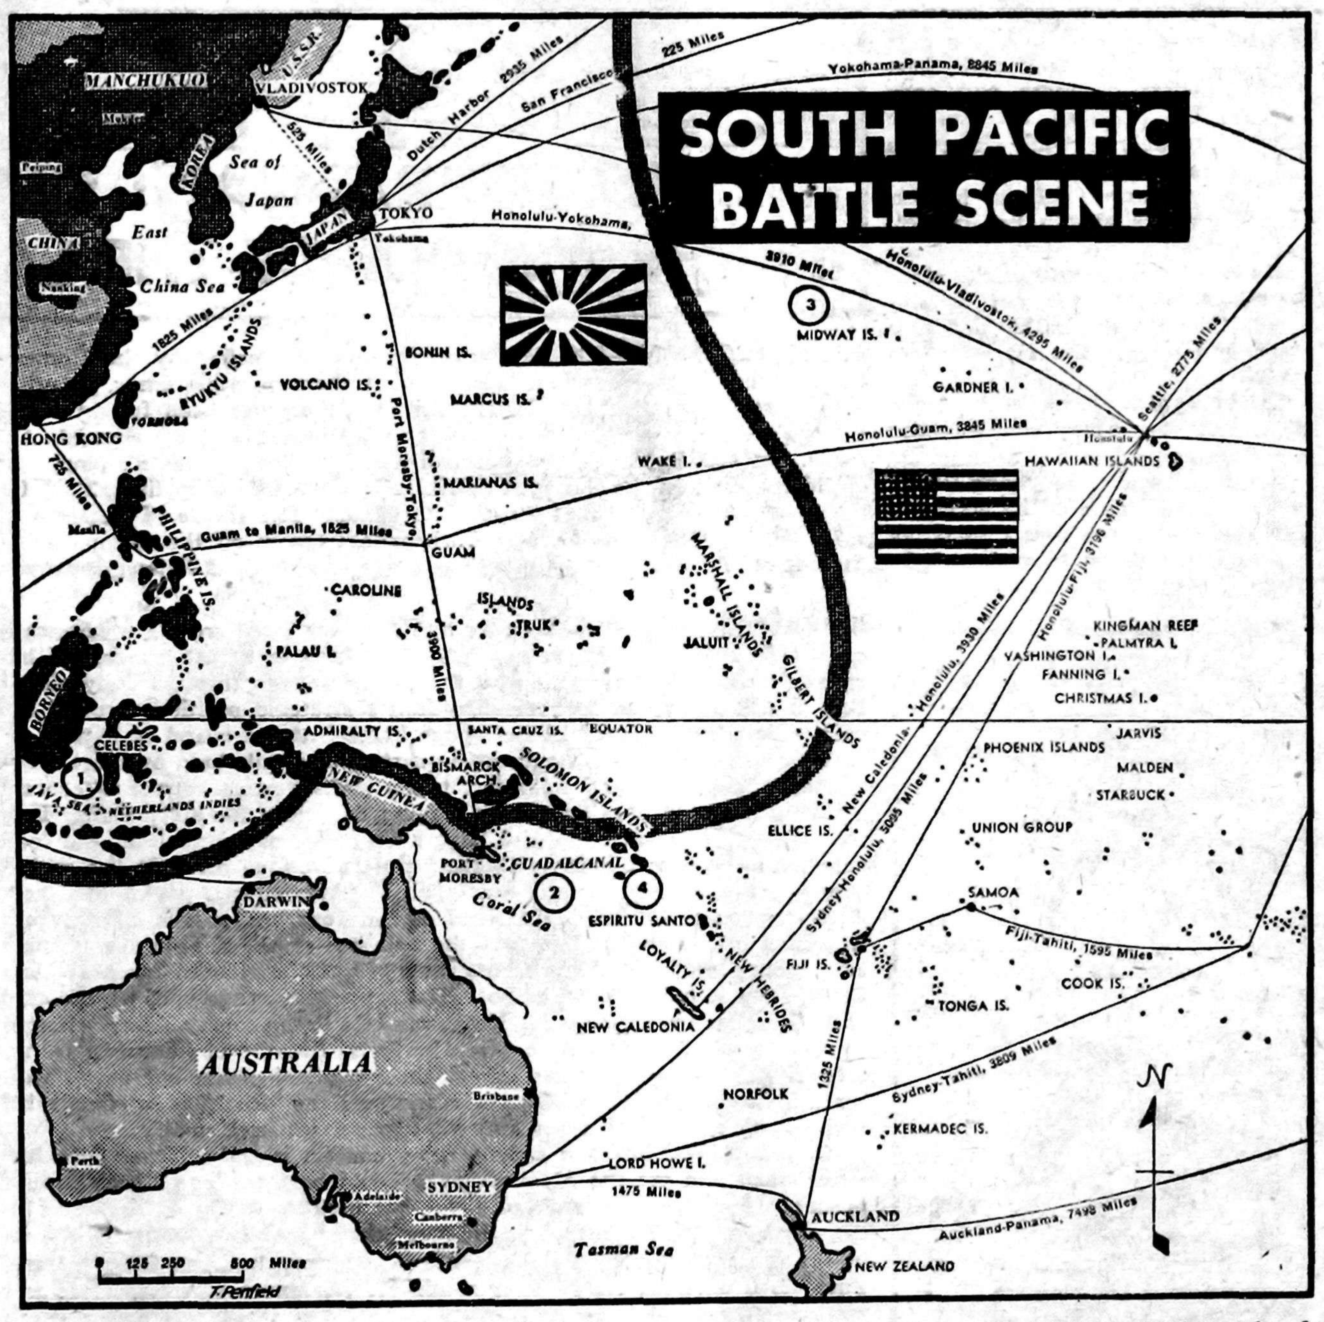




NEW CALEDONIA serves as an Allied outpost and protective base along the U. S.-Australian lifeline. It was occupied first by the British and later by American forces. With Espiritu Santo, the Fijis and American Samoa it forms a huge defensive triangle through which all troops and materials for the Pacific struggle passes. Any one of these points in Japanese control would immeasurably increase our Pacific problem and prolong the war indefinitely. New Caledonia's enlongated shores are reef-studded and the land is hilled and thickly wooded. Noumea is the chief port and a good port available to the Allies dangerously threatening Japan's southern flank

GUADALCANAL is the focal point in a major struggle for control of the southwest Pacific. Its only airfield, Henderson Field, has been the vortex of this struggle since its capture by U. S. Marines August 7, 1942. The island, tropically luxurious and topped by 8,000-foot peaks, is about 90 miles long and lies at the southern extremity of Japan's 3,324-mile reach into the southern hemisphere. It can act as a springboard for either the Allies or the Japs. Its possession by Japan makes it a constant threat to the security of Australia and its vital supply lines from the United States.

NEW GUINEA.—In all military history water and mountains have proven to be man's greatest natural barriers against invasion. The Japs have found no exception to this rule in New Guinea where the difficulties of surmounting the jungle-tangled trails of the Owen Stanley Range were more than even their suicidal determination to win could overcome. From Gona and Buna the Jap tried to drive across Papua to the Australian-held base at Port Moresby. It looked as if he might succeed again, but finally disease, hunger, the terrible jungle dampness and heroic Australians beat him back.



PACIFIC BATTLE SCENE.—In this vast corner of the world's greatest ocean four great naval battles have already been fought. These have been: (1) Battle of Java sea February 27-March 1, an Allied defeat that gave Japan control of the East Indies; (2) Battle of the Coral Sea, May 4-9, an Allied victory that halted the Jap thrust at Australia and our supply line to the South Pacific; (3) Battle of Midway, June 4-6, which prevented a possible Jap invasion of the Hawaiian islands; (4) Battle of the Solomons, August 7-November 18, a series of engagements which prevented the cutting of the U. S. supply line and so upset the balance of Pacific naval power as to materially weaken Japan's position in the South Pacific area.

City Hall, Belmond — Office Hours, every week day afternoon 1 to 5 o'clock.

Program Inaugurated This Week

The Belmond High School Victory Corps is now in full swing with the inauguration this week of an activities program designed for school participation in the war effort. Only one change was made in the regular curriculum, that being the addition of the course in the elements of electricity. However, several new activities have been added to the extra curricular program and are now in progress during the activity period each day from Monday to Thursday.

The most popular of the new activities is military drill and three different divisions are learning a modern manual of drill under Mr. Wagner's direction. Two of these divisions are composed of boys and one of girls. One group of ninth grade boys is meeting twice a week to build model airplanes, while a group of older boys are meeting weekly to discuss and stuly modern aviation.

A service club has been formed for the purpose of performing such services as need to be taken care of about the building. Already this club has undertaken the arrangement of the trophy case and care of the school library.

A group of typing students has been organized to do any of the work of this nature that presents itself, and the school paper will continue as a school activity.

A large part of the work being done is in the nature of Red Cross work. Two periods each day are being devoted to miscellaneous Red Cross work and two a day to instruction in knitting, with Miss Schade in charge of this phase.

An extra curricular class has been started in First Aid under Miss Delaplane's direction. In addition to this group, a regular high school physiology class will be given a unit in First Aid.

The activity period each Friday has been reserved for assembly programs and for home room guidance conferences.

Arrangements are being made for a series of government films to be shown at the high school assemblies. All of these are directly concerned with some phase of the war effort and include such titles as "King of Steel", "Campus on the March", "Men and the Sea", "Winning Your Wings", and "Women in Defense". This series of films is made possible through the P. T. A. which voted at its last meeting to defray the expense.

On Fridays, alternating with those devoted to assemblies, the students will meet in their smaller groups to discuss personal and vocational problems peculiar to war time.

Seaman Glenn Fisher telephoned his parents Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fisher of Kanawha on January 9 that he was well and back in the United States. He was on a 5-day leave which was not sufficient to visit at home.

Sgt. Chauncey L. Bane, son of the Rev. and Mrs. H. J. Bane of Kanawha writes his parents from Egypt stating that his squadron took an active part in the battles of Alamein and El Agheila. Sergeant Bane is a gunner with the Black Scorpion air squadron of the British 8th Army. He enlisted in the army air corps in July, 1941, and was sent to Egypt in September 1942, being transferred at that time from Palestine.

Mr. and Mrs. James Yeakel of Kanawha have received word from their son Duane that he is in North Africa.

Private Harold Church from Camp Claiborne, Louisiana, spent the week end with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rhodes

M. P. Orville Arends sent a cablegram from N. Africa to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Arends of Alexander, telling them that he arrived there safely and was well. He had sent them a cablegram before he left Ireland wishing them a "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year", which they received several days after the one from North Africa.

Lowell Hoke of Camp Young, Calif., is spending a 15 day furlough with relatives and friends at Rowan.

Clarence Chamberlin who has been in training at Kansas State college, is home for an indefinite stay with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Chamberlin. He will be called in the near future to finish his training at another camp, after which he will be summoned for active duty in the air corps.

Pfc. Curtis Chamberlin who has been in camp at Oakland, Calif., has been transferred to Camp Stoneman, Calif. His new address may be found in the list of service boys' addresses.

Tenant Purchase Group Of Wright-Hancock Co's Hold Meeting in Kanawha

The annual meeting of the Hancock - Wright Co. Tenant - Purchase Families was held in the Methodist church parlors at Kanawha on Thursday, January 21st, 1943. All except one family attended this meeting and enjoyed dinner together.

Mr. S. Byron B. Cory, R. R. Supervisor in charge, gave an analysis of several farm accounts.

The members were then divided into four groups where they spent an hour discussing questions referring to farm people at large. At the end of the hour period a representative gave each group's conclusions of questions studied.

The following Wright county officers were elected:

Pres., W. L. Kurtz; vice pres., Delmar Lonning; secretary - treasurer, Mrs. Harry Bohnette; reporter, Mrs. Delmar Lonning.

America to bring about still greater food production. May the observance of National 4-H Mobilization activities reach into every rural home. We have faith in your ability to render a greater service have the spirit and perseverance that will bring victory in the fight for human freedom and a world at peace."

The 4-H mobilization follows Farm Mobilization Day and the period for the sign-up campaign. It is an indication of the patriotic spirit of youth and the strength for unified group action under adult leadership. It gives young people an opportunity to do a job without which wartime production goals could not even be met, let alone surpassed, which is the aim of the wartime agricultural program.

State Representative W. C. Tyrrell came from Des Moines Friday to spend the week end his home here.

there are in each theater of war.

The Nazis and the Japs want to know these things about our forces. Their agents assemble the information like this: from one paper an item reveals the 600th Infantry is in Australia; another, that the U. S. S. Wisconsin is in the Mediterranean; another, that the 206th Tank Battalion is in North Africa. Add hundreds of these bits of information together, and our enemies have a too-accurate estimate of American military strength.

These are our soldiers—Americans, all—whom we endanger by these "little slips".

This is not a "blackout" on the news about our soldiers. Considerable latitude in reporting personal experiences gives the enemy little military information, if the troop units, the ship names are kept secret. However, in the future the custom of the Independent in publishing addresses of the boys in the service must be discontinued to the extent that no troop units or ship names can be revealed. In sending us the address of your boy who is overseas, send us his name, "dog tag" number, APO number and name of city in which the APO number originates.

Farmers Creamery Day Brings Many People

Board of Directors And Secretary Elected

An estimated crowd of 500 people attended the Farmers Creamery Day held at the IOOF hall in Belmond yesterday, Wednesday. The business meeting of officers and directors was held in the morning. Oscar Jenison was reelected secretary-treasurer for the 18th consecutive year. The board of directors were all relected with the exception of Gunnar Ahlstrom who was replaced by Pete Bohning. The new board will hold its first meeting Saturday, January 30, at which time the president and vice president will be elected and the employees hired for the year.

The 1942 business of the Farmers Creamery shows that 553,693 pounds of butter were manufactured during the past year. A total of $202,643.07 was paid out by the creamery which includes patrons' checks, butter, buttermilk, cheese, etc., and patrons' hauling.

A free lunch was served at noon. During the afternoon there was a program which included a talk by R. O. Storvick, manager of Iowa State Brand Creameries of Mason City, motion pictures featuring war films, and musical numbers.

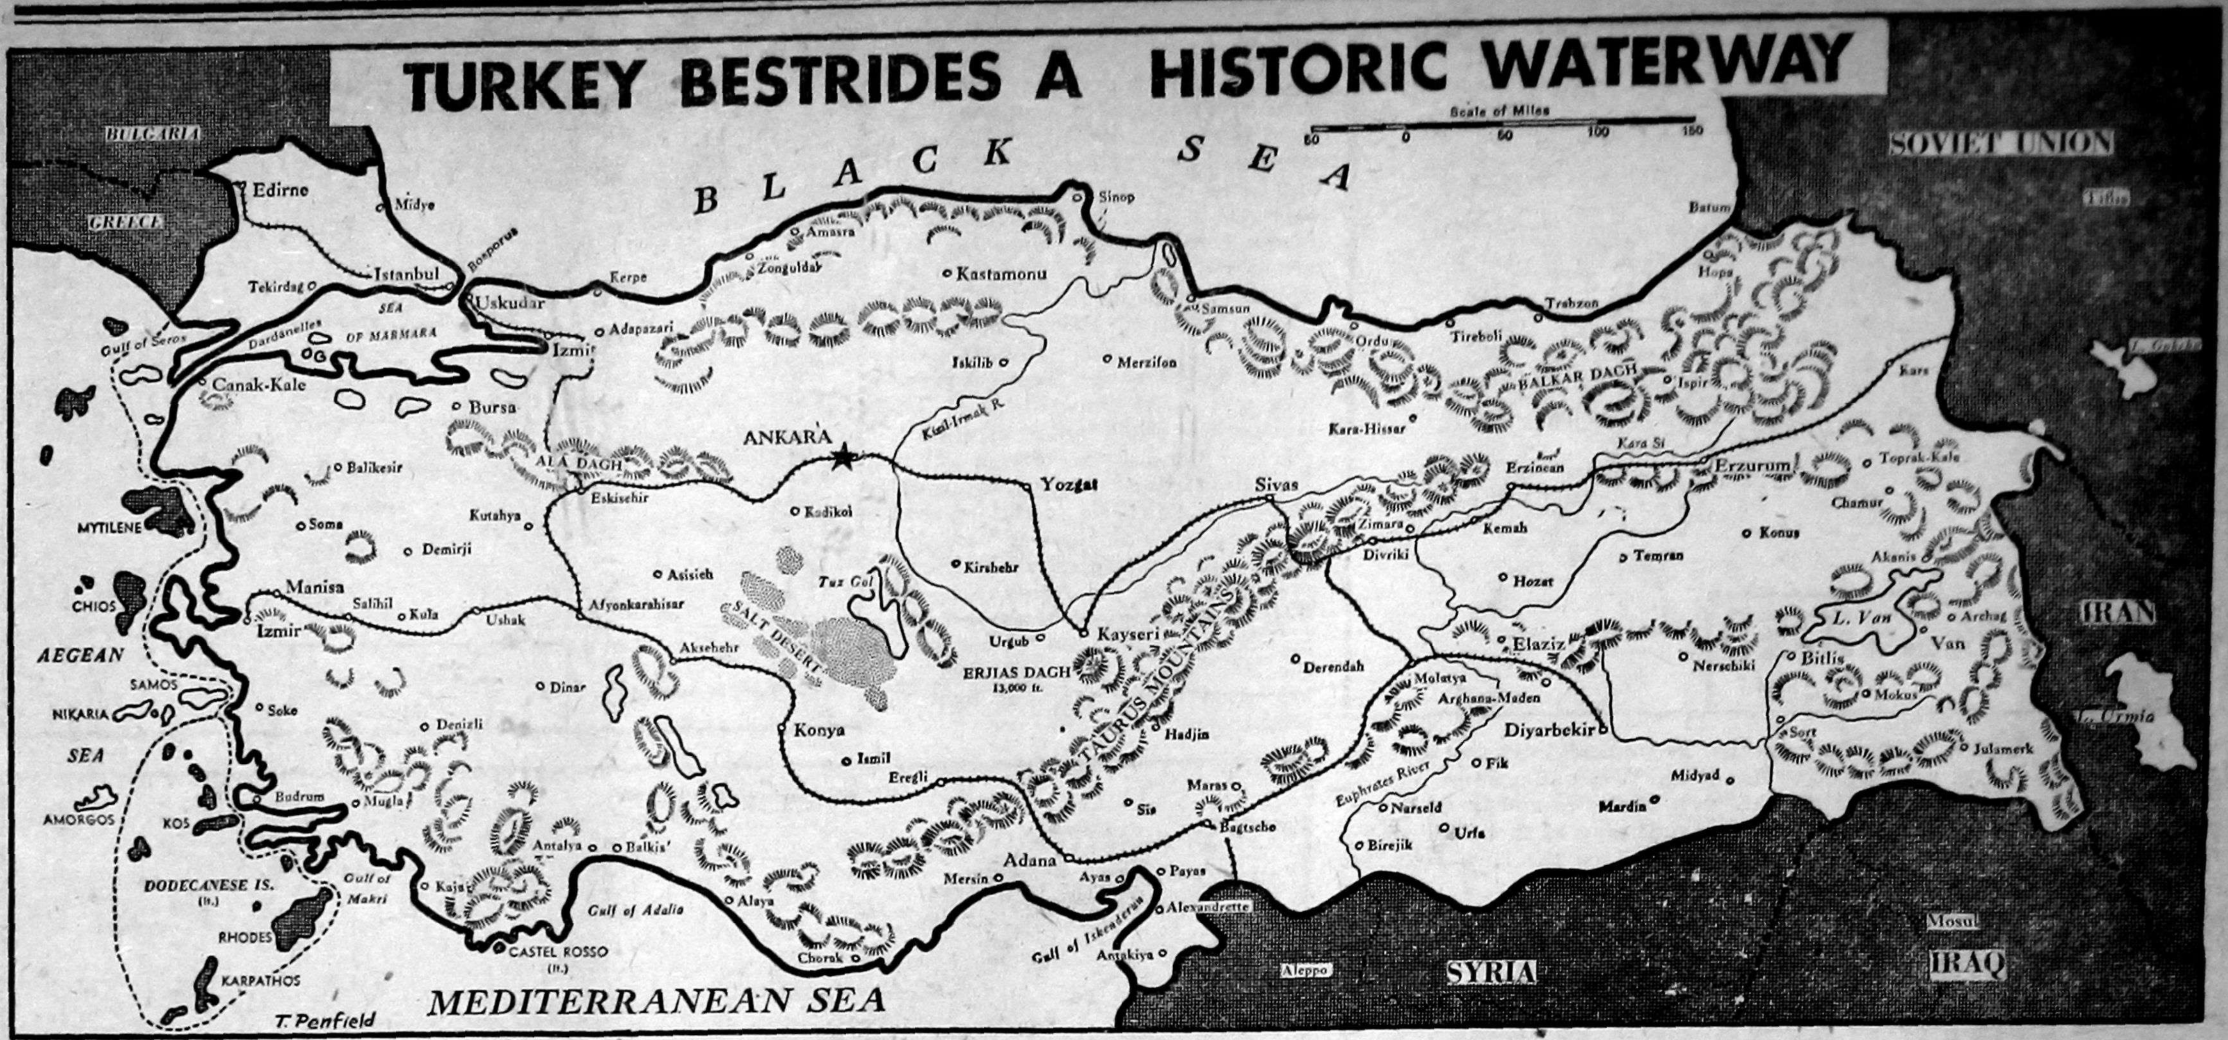
TURKEY BESTRIDES A HISTORIC WATERWAY



TURKEY.—In the foreground of history are the Bosporus and the Dardanelles—two narrow necks of water which separate Asia from Europe and form the two entrances to Turkey's own private Sea of Marmara. The famous straits, key to the Black sea, have been a source of trouble since the dawn of time. And as Turkey holds this key so does she hold the key to the vast oil fields of the Near East—the Caucasus and Iran (Persia).

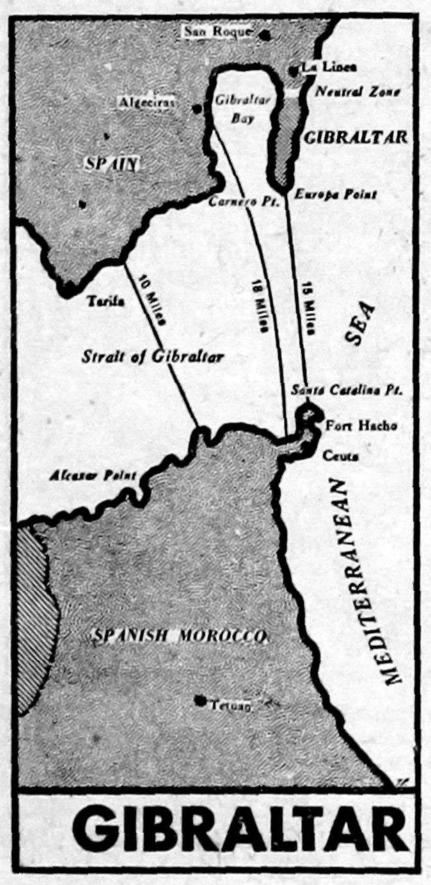
Hitler, unable to reach the Caucasus oil fields through Russia, may be forced to go through Turkey. Will the Turks fight? Only the Turks know the answer to this. They have been completely enigmatic, but in view of recent Russian successes at Stalingrad they may resist invasion. Turkey is the kind of a country which is ideal for tank and plane warfare — vast distances and open plains. The Turkish defense line would probably extend along the Taurus mountain range—the country's only natural defense barrier. The Turks, as history has proven, are stubborn fighters, and unless the Axis could gain control of the Mediterranean they could not be isolated. This is exactly the kind of a military situation the Nazis try to avoid.

If Turkey can be won to the Allied side, and the Allies can establish complete control of the Mediterranean, the problem of supplying Russia will be greatly reduced by access of the Black sea route, thus eliminating the long haul to Murmansk and the Persian gulf.

THE MEDITERRANEAN: SEA IN THE MIDDLE OF THE LAND

MEDITERRANEAN.—The Mediterranean sea was called by the Romans the "Sea in the Middle of the Land," and to them no other lands, no other seas existed. On this land-locked sea of history has been fought all of Europe's decisive naval battles except two—Jutland and the Spanish Armada. In 480 B. C. Xerxes watched the Athenians crush his hopes of world conquest off the shores of Salamis. In the Battle of Actium, 31 B. C., the galleys of Antony met those of Octavian. The Battle of Lepanto in 1571, off the Peloponnesos, saw Christendom throw off the dominance of the Turks. At Aboukir bay, off the coast of Egypt, Lord Nelson destroyed Napoleon's fleet and his oriental dreams.

Italy has long cherished control of the Mediterranean, and she has some ancient claims on this great waterway. As early as 1000 A. D. the ships of Venice were Europe's chief contact with the East. But English men-of-war did not neglect the Mediterranean, which increased tremendously with the opening of the Suez canal in 1869. Soon the British had both ends bottled up and control of the tiny island of Malta at the bottleneck between Sicily and French Tunisia, which stood out like a stop signal before Italy's aspirations in North Africa.



GIBRALTAR, MALTA.—Gibraltar and the Suez canal are the Mediterranean's only entrances. They have both long been in British hands, but because the Axis has free access to the Mediterranean through Italy, Great Britain has attempted to neutralize Italy's strategic position through the maintenance of a powerful base on the bomb-battered island of Malta.

Gibraltar is small: two and three-quarters of a mile long by three-quarters of a mile wide, and 1,437 feet to its highest point. Space to conceal batteries has only been gained by digging deep into the steep walls. Into the miles of caverns the British have stored tons of ammunition and food supplies as against the day Gibraltar must go on its own. It lies within easy range of modern guns, if Spain and the Axis powers choose to attack. Algeciras, on the Spanish mainland, is but four and a half miles across Algeciras bay. Carnero Point, at the entrance to the bay on the Spanish side, is supposedly fortified. Across the Strait of Gibraltar to Santa Catalina Point is but 18 miles. Here, at Fort Hacho, are long-range guns which could shell Gibraltar from the south. No flat surface in the colony is large enough to serve as an airport, and none can be built. Because of this there are no defending land-based fighters except those available from our newly won bases in French Morocco. On the other hand the "Rock" is bristling with anti-aircraft guns of all types and will account for itself well.

Gibraltar's position in a strictly naval conflict is self-evident. Gibraltar could stand and yet the Mediterranean could be lost. The "Rock" could probably withstand a prolonged siege, but because it can be bypassed by the methods of modern war it may not be called upon to do so in the present conflict. Malta's location—half way between Gibraltar and Suez—is a different story. It is a mid-Mediterranean fortress, naval and air base of first magnitude without the control of which any power in the Mediterranean would find itself constantly threatened on its flanks. It neutralizes Italy's bases in Sicily and the Italian base on Pantelleria island. Although its proximity to Sicilian air bases has made it untenable as a shelter for the British Mediterranean fleet it sits athwart of and threatens the Axis Europe-Africa supply route, and it completely dominates the central Mediterranean. But Malta is more than a base. It is a symbol of Allied determination and courage.

March First Deadline on Ordering Machine Parts

Blue Tag Farmers Will Be Named Soon

Farmers are urged to order their repair parts now on tractors, seeders, corn planters, disc harrows, turn plows and spike tooth harrows, according to the recommendations of the County Machinery Preparedness Committee at a meeting at Clarion on Thursday evening, January 21st.

The committee, representing implement dealers and repairmen, War Board and the county extension service, made these recomendations and suggested that a deadline of March 1st be placed on accepting orders for repairing tillage machinery so that floor space in the repair shops could be cleared for the seasonable machinery repairs to follow.

Orders for repair parts on other farm machinery to be used later in the season must be by special orded of the farmer. Dealers can get repairs on their stock order only 90 days in advance of the time such farm machinery will be used.

It is important that the serial number of such machines, particularly tractors, be secured when ordering repairs for there may be a difference in repair parts even on the same models.

The names of the farmers who have qualified for Blue Tags on farm machinery will be announced next week. Farm machinery does not have to be repaired to secure the blue tag if it is in good shape now. Applications for blue tags should be made with the local repairman or implement dealer. Blue tags for farm machinery repaired by the farmer can also be secued from the same source. When all the major farm machinery on the farm is in good repair, the farmer should apply at his local dealer or repairman for the Victory Gate Post Placard.

The vacancy created by is resignation will be difficult one to fill, according to Supt. Johnson. Iowa State college at Ames does not have a single qualified candidate and the State Department of Vocational Education reports that already some forty departments have been closed down because of the teacher shortage.

Farm Bureau Holds Goodwill Meeting

State Secretary Tells Of Farmers' Needs

V. B. Hamilton, secretary-treasurer of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation told Wright county Farm Bureau directors, editors and other farmers in attendance at a meeting at Clarion last Saturday that farmers must be better organized this year, than ever before, if they are to retain a voice in determining the issues dealing with agricultural policies. He stated that in his opinion one of three things would follow within the next year - either farmers will organize voluntarily or outside organizers not primarily interested in the farmers' welfare, will take advantage of the opportunity to organize agriculture, or the administration will have to organize the farmer in order to get the production necessary to win the war.

Hamilton stated that, in his opinion, it certainly was to the farmers' interest to organize voluntarily so that policy making provision would be directed from the rural area to Washington.

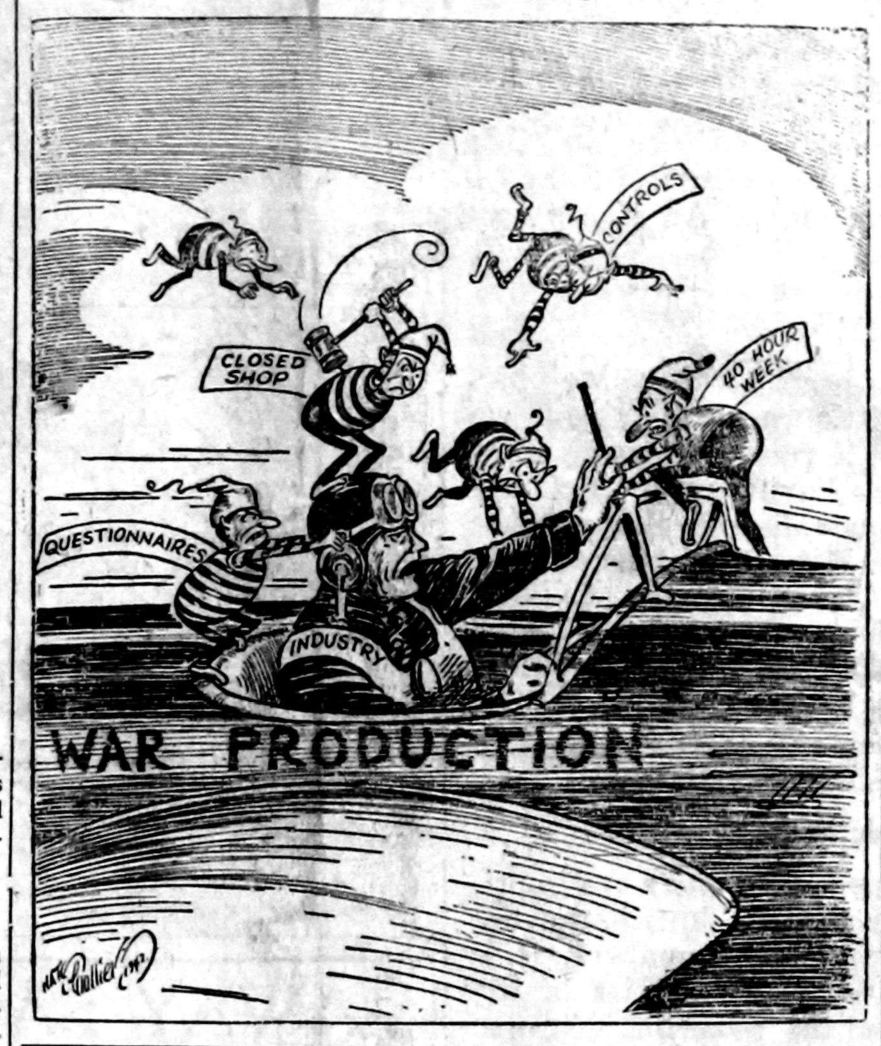
GREMLINS



County 4-H Clubs Join National Mobilization

Belmond - Pleasant Clubs Are Near Goal

Wright county 4-H clubs will join the 4-H boys and girls all over the nation in National 4-H mobilization activities during the month of February. At the meetings held during this month a discussion of 1943 production goals and youth's part in meeting them will be held throughout the county. it was announced by Robert Fincham, county club agent.

Parents, county and local leaders, as well as members of the boys and girls clubs will be called upon to cooperate in the national movement. An effort will be made to enlist all of the 200,000 eligible boys and girls, a county membership goal in boy's clubs has been set at 371 which is an increase of 110 over the 1942 membership. In order that each club would have a fair share of the increase, individual club goals have been set up. They are: Boone 33, Norway 28, Belmond-Pleasant 35, Liberty 29, Lake 30, Iowa 24, Eagle Grove 26, Dayton 23, Lincoln 29, Blaine 29, Troy 30, Woolstock 20, Wall Lake 30. In order to meet these goals, each club has drawn up a list of eligible prospects and assigned the present members to contact and enroll these prospects. The two clubs that are nearing their goals already are Belmond-Pleasant and Wall Lake. Each has registered an increase over 1942. They have 27 and 24 members respectively. Preston Tyrrell is in charge of the boys club in Belmond-Pleasant.

Both the boys and girls 4-H club work has been geared to the war effort. Maximum support will be given the food production and preservation progams, with a considerable share of the responsibility for meeting production goals resting upon these youth organizations.

President Roosevelt, in paying tribute to the 4-H Mobilization plans declared: "At this time it is particularly gratifying to learn of your extensive mobilization plans for 1943 to help the farmers of America to bring about still greater food production. May the observance of National 4-H Mobilization activities reach into every rural home. We have faith in your ability to render a greater service have the spirit and perseverance that will bring victory in the fight for human freedom and a world at peace."

The 4-H mobilization follows Farm Mobilization Day and the period for the sign-up campaign. It is an indication of the patriotic spirit of youth and the strength for unified group action under adult leadership. It gives young people an opportunity to do a job without which wartime production goals could not even be met, let alone surpassed, which is the aim of the wartime agricultural program.

Addresses To Be Censored

Unit And Name of Ship Can't Be Revealed

If you know what ship a sailor is on, or what company or regiment a soldier is with overseas, then you know a military "secret", the office of Censorship in Washington warns.

This secret ought not to be published. This is why:

A general needs to know the strength of his opponent: how many men, guns, ships, planes, there are in each theater of war.

The Nazis and the Japs want to know these things about our forces. Their agents assemble the information like this: from one paper an item reveals the 600th Infantry is in Australia; another, that the U. S. S. Wisconsin is in the Mediterranean; another, that the 206th Tank Battalion is in North Africa. Add hundreds of these bits of information together, and our enemies have a too-accurate estimate of American military strength.

These are our soldiers—Americans, all—whom we endanger by these "little slips".

This is not a "blackout" on the news about our soldiers. Considerable latitude in reporting personal experiences gives the enemy little military information, if the troop units, the ship names are kept secret. However, in the future the custom of the Independent in publishing addresses of the boys in the service must be discontinued to the extent that no troop units or ship names can be revealed. In sending us the address of your boy who is overseas, send us his name, "dog tag" number, APO number and name of city in which the APO number originates.

High School Victory Corps In Full Swing

Selective Service Takes More Belmond Men For Army Duty

The following list of Enlisted Reservists from this vicinity left Clarion, January 27th, at 2:00 a. m. enroute to Camp Dodge for active duty in the United States Army:

Donald G. Beneke, Merle J. Bonte, William D. Corwin, Wallace A. Cramer, Robert W. Duffy, Bernard Haupt, Orlando B. Hokel, Joseph D. Hood, George E. Jenison, Eugene R. Johnson, Eldon F. Loats, Henry F. Meyers, Harold S. Olsen, Roy Pals, James C. Waddington, Daniel E. Whitten, Norris J. Wilson.

Program Inaugurated This Week

The Belmond High School Victory Corps is now in full swing with the inauguration this week of an activities program designed for school participation in the war effort. Only one change was made in the regular curriculum, that being the addition of the course in the elements of electricity. However, several new activities have been added to the extra curricular program and are now in progress during the activity period each day from Monday to Thursday.

The most popular of the new activities is military drill and three different divisions are learning a modern manual of drill under Mr. Wagner's direction. Two of these divisions are composed of boys and one of girls. One group of ninth grade boys is meeting twice a week to build model airplanes, while a group of older boys are meeting weekly to discuss and stuly modern aviation.

A service club has been formed for the purpose of performing such services as need to be taken care of about the building. Already this club has undertaken the arrangement of the trophy case and care of the school library.

A group of typing students has been organized to do any of the work of this nature that presents itself, and the school paper will continue as a school activity.

A large part of the work being done is in the nature of Red Cross work. Two periods each day are being devoted to miscellaneous Red Cross work and two a day to instruction in knitting, with Miss Schade in charge of this phase.

An extra curricular class has been started in First Aid under Miss Delaplane's direction. In addition to this group, a regular high school physiology class will be given a unit in First Aid.

The activity period each Friday has been reserved for assembly programs and for home room guidance conferences.

Arrangements are being made for a series of government films to be shown at the high school assemblies. All of these are directly concerned with some phase of the war effort and include such titles as "King of Steel", "Campus on the March", "Men and the Sea", "Winning Your Wings", and "Women in Defense". This series of films is made possible through the P. T. A. which voted at its last meeting to defray the expense.

On Fridays, alternating with those devoted to assemblies, the students will meet in their smaller groups to discuss personal and vocational problems peculiar to war time.

Broncos Meet Cowboys On Clarion Floor

Game Will Be Played On Friday Night

Friday night, January 29, the Belmond Broncos will meet the Clarion Cowboys on the opposing floor in a single game of basket ball. The Bronco team will be handicapped by the loss of Philip Covington, who is in the hospital under observation. Coach Nus has been trying several players at this position in an effort to find the right man to fill the position.

The Clarion team is built around an extremely tall forward, and the team has been playing good ball this winter.

The Broncs were defeated by the strong Britt team last Friday night in a well played game which resulted in a score of 27-24. The Belmond boys effectively stopped the high scoring Bud Peterson but were beaten by a sharp shooting forward, Eisman, who scored 11 points.

Eggers was high point man for Belmond, also shooting eleven points.

FARM ORGANIZATION—

The other day we attended a meeting of the Wright County Farm Bureau to which editors and bankers in the county were invited as guests. One purpose of this particular meeting was to talk about plans for the annual farm bureau drive for members which will be held in the near future, and in this connection we should like to urge every farmer in the county to join the Farm Bureau, or—if not the Farm Bureau—some other farm organization doing a similar job for the benefit of the farmer.

Whether we like it or not, this country is being highly organized in every field of endeavor; in government, in industry, in education, in military service, etc. If the farmer wants to keep up with rapidly changing times and have a voice in the plans for the future, especially the peace plans after the war, he will have to give up at least some of his "rugged individualism" and join with his friends and neighbors in a common purpose. Furthermore, if the farmers themselves cannot get completely organized, it is quite likely that someone like John L. Lewis may get the idea to do the job for them, and it is possible that such a person might not have the best interests of the farmer at heart. It is our understanding that although the Wright County Farm Bureau is a part of the national organization, its work is adapted to the particular needs of the farmers in this county, the same thing being true of other county organizations.

So, if you are a farmer and have not yet affiliated with a farm organization, it is to your interest to do so, not only as a help to yourself as an individual but also as a boost to a more complete type of farm organization than we have ever had.

CIVIC GUARD—

Citizens of many other Iowa communities could take a tip from 54 Oelwein civilians, ranging in age from youths in their late teens to men well up into middle age, who have organized a "civic guard", believed to be the only one of its kind in the midwest. The organization is devoted to community welfare and to the physical development and military training of its members.

Of course there probably isn't an American who does not hope and pray that the war will not ever have to be fought right here on the soil of the U. S. A. And there probably aren't many people who can easily imagine bombs dropping right here on our homes and towns and communities in the middle west. Nevertheless, in war time, it is well to be prepared for any emergency, and apparently Oelwein is way ahead of other midwest towns in this regard. Furthermore, the organization of "civic guards" at Oelwein probably makes the men, who for various reasons were kept at home while others were drawn into military service, feel that they are doing something to help and no doubt gives them a feeling of closer contact with the boys who are already "over there" or being rapidly trained to go.

PIPELINE NEARS COMPLETION—

The war has made necessary new and speedy developments in American industry and all the various activities connected with it. Last Sunday's Des Moines Register announced that before long the world's longest pipeline would be completed, reaching across the Mississippi all the way from east Texas to New Jersey, a distance of 1400 miles. The 300,000 barrels of oil which will be pumped through the new pipeline each day to the east coast should give considerable relief to that area of our country which has been hit the longest and the hardest so far as gas rationing is concerned. We have no doubt that other means will be found to help relieve the ever increasing burden on our transportation facilities in this country, which has constitutd one of the major problems in America's war effort.

FRESH FISH!

We have been wishing we had time for a little vacation since we learned what a good time some Iowa sportsmen are having up by McGregor fishing for wall-eyed pike on the partly frozen Mississippi near the big dam there. And wouldn't a wall-eye, fresh from icy waters, taste good right now as a supplement to routine winter menus?

—o—

WITH OTHER EDITORS—

Look to the Pacific

There has been a wave of optimism lately about the duration of the war, which may be premature. It is based mainly on the victories of the Russians over the nazis in Europe. That has been and continues to be a very great achievement. Yet peace may still be far off, and no downright prophecies shoulld be taken at face value.

First Hitler has to be licked and Germany reduced to impotence. Presumably that will be accomplished this year or next. But the war for the defeat and control of Japan has barely started. All that there is to show in that struggle, so far, is the conquest of a few small islands in the vast reaches of the Pacific ocean.

And after all the islands and archipelagoes have been reduced, there will still be the Japanese home land to conqur. Probably every step of the way in that war will be stoutly contested.— Cliff Russell in Mankato Free Press.

—o—

To Reduce Minnesota Legislature

A bill to streamline the legislature of Minnesota by reducing the senate membership from 67 to 44 and the house from 131 to 88 will meet with the approval of a great majority of citizenship throughout the state. The only criticism we might have for the bill is that the reduction called for should be at least twice as great.—Albert Lea Tribune.

—o—

For Repeal of State Income Tax

The state income tax has been a bone of contention from its inception, foisted on the people against their will; and now that they have to bear a heavy burden to support the war, we could well do without this unpopular levy until the war tax period is over—and even beyond that.—Duluth Herald.

—o—

Reward for "Political Suicide"

Waterloo Courier: Prentiss M. Brown and Josh Lee, two lame duck congressman, have been named to important administrative posts. Loyal democrats who commit political suicide for the party leader find that their sacrifice is not in vain.

—o—

Farms Must Have Workers

Le Mars Sentinel: If this country and our allies need as much food as our leaders tell us they do it would be well to start right now keeping enough people in rural communities to grow that food.

—o—

They All Want to Beat the Drum

—o—

Prittle... Prattle....

To you gals who think you have a hard time locating your husbands in and around this village listen to this tale:

On last Friday Mildred Leinbach left by train to visit Dr. Sam who is stationed at Athol, Idaho. Just after leaving a telegram arrived advising her not to come and she was advised of the difficulty at Austin. However, Mrs. Leinbach went on to Minneapolis and talked with her husband by telephone and learned that he was leaving for San Francisco. Saturday, Mrs. Leinbach passed through Belmond on the train for Omaha bound for the same city. She said she felt like she was traveling to the end of the world. That's war for you.

Well, the Dane took his blood test the other day. Two rumors are floating around, one that it took five minutes to get the stuff out of him and the other that a telephone call from the lab at Iowa City came through asking what kind of liquid it was. They called it a very unusual sample.

Now that Hansen MAY, note we say may, go to the army and the ad manager might have to become a printer, too, a vote should be taken on the merits of the two office ads in last week's Independent (Yes, we advertise too.)

Hansen favors the white space, the ad manager, who was setting his first ad, likes the heavy black style based on the theory that when the readers see this mess they'll stop long enough to figure it out.

For the first time in his experience as an auctioneer, Joe Reisch, Worth county sale cryer, had to sell an article for less than the bidders wanted to pay.

P—P

It happened at an auction in that county recently and the object for sale was a tractor. After the first few bids, the price went to $690 and the auctioneer had to stop it there, because that was the government's ceiling price. Several of the bidders wanted to keep on bidding, and were disappointed. So that all would get an equal chance at purchase of the tractor, Reisch asked those willing to pay $690 to write their names on slips of paper and there were 12 farmers who responded.

The wind this a. m. reminds me of a story about a gale in my grandfather's day that blew so hard it blew the paint off his house, the knots out of his fence, blew the sun back three hours and blew my grandfather's nose that hadn't been blown for 15 years.

Little Girl: "A person must be brave these days to go to church."

Minister: "Why do you say that?"

Little Girl: "Oh, I heard daddy telling mother that Christmas morning there was a big gun in the pulpit, the choir murdered the anthem, and the organist drowned the choir."

The Tip

The Tip by Goodell Schools

Confidence

Confidence means the state of feeling sure. This single word plays a very large part now in everyone's life. If the fighting men on the battle front weren't confident of the people on the home front we would naturally lose the war. Lack of confidence means the lack of trusting or of feeling sure that you are being backed. Naturally we would not always want to be backed or have to be backed by someone else, but we cannot expect the fighting men to do the work on the home front as well as what they are doing now for it would be impossible.

We must be very confident and each do our part to the best of our ability. A soldier has to better himself, so why shouldn't we?

Opportunities are greater today than ever before in history. Young people graduate from our schools with the confidence that they have better chances for health, happiness and prosperity than have had the children of any previous generation. Everyone wants to preserve these chances and to do this we must make the fighting men confident in us so that the battles on the fighting front will be won, confident that we will win the war.

Let us all make the soldiers confident of us and be true to them so that they will have something to fight for as well as something to come back to.

War Stamp Sales Over Half Billion Dollars, Album Drive Opens

U. S. Treasury photo

Appealing Margaret C. Russell of the War Savings Staff tacks up this new Treasury poster which will be seen from coast to coast. It pictures retailers' slogan, "SAY YES." A drive is underway for Americans to buy additional War Stamps to fill albums and convert them into War Bonds.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The nation's retailers from the tiniest hamlets to the mighty cities are acting as a spearhead in a great Treasury Department campaign to sell the additional War Savings Stamps needed to fill more than 100,000,000 albums now in the hands of the American people.

According to a report released by the Treasury Department today, sales of War Savings Stamps totaled $559,777,000 for the period from May 1, 1941, through November, 1942.

Stamp sales have risen from less than three million dollars per month when they were first introduced to the public to an average of more than fifty million dollars per month at the present time.

The Treasury's slogan, "A half-filled album is like a half-equipped soldier," has been adopted officially by retailers for the campaign.

The importance of the drive is seen in the fact that a War Bond potential of nearly two billion dollars hangs in the balance.

Every War Stamp album, converted into a People's Bond, for which the purchaser pays $18.75 and which matures to $25.00 value when held for 10 years, adds its force to the war effort.

The Treasury Department is counting upon the country's school children to play a powerful role in the success of the SAY YES drive. The volume of stamp and bond sales is at the rate of $200,000,000 for the current school year.

Household Salvage

Here's a tricky campaign to because in the words of Donald Nelson, "It is a problem that can be licked only by American initiative, American muscle, and Amercan will to win!" There is no single best way to collect scrap, no one best way to persuade people to save it. Fats are essential to the production of glycerin, which makes explosives to blast the axis. Silk stockings make powder bags to hold the charge that speeds American shells across no-man's land. Tin is a vital ingredient in the making of steel, of electrical equipment, etc. Rags are needed to wipe machinery and clean guns, for a hundred and one other purposes in our mechanized fighting units. Rope and string is transformed into hausers and tow lines, moorings and boat cranes. Every single ounce of rubber we can lay our hands on adds more time to the life of a plane, truck, tank or car. It's all junk, but it's all needed . . . desperately . . . and NOW. You can do your part, we know.

You're in This War, Too
Turn Your House Inside Out!
Throw your scrap into the fight!

Joseph C. Grew Warns

Half-Effort Will Not Defeat Japan

By JOSEPH C. GREW

United States Ambassador to Japan until the outbreak of war, and author of "Report From Tokio."

(Written for the Treasury Department in connection with the Retailers' "SAY YES" campaign to complete the nation's 100,000,000 partially filled War Stamp albums.)

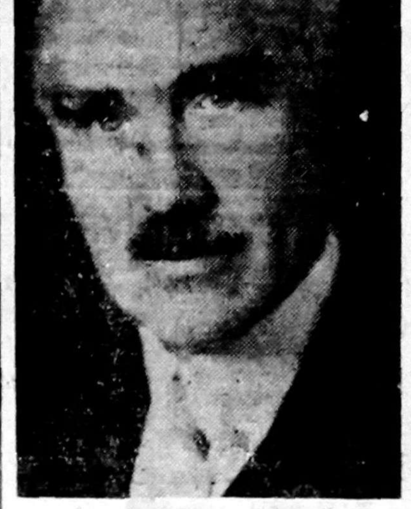
WASHINGTON, D. C.—In describing one of the big air battles over Guadalcanal a recent newspaper account tells of an American flyer who parachuted from his crippled plane to the waters of Lunga Bay. The Navy craft which picked him up next went to the rescue of a Japanese pilot seen struggling in the water nearby. As the rescue boat reached the Japanese flyer he suddenly pulled out his revolver, aimed it at the drenched American pilot and pulled the trigger. The cartridge failed to explode. Then the Japanese officer turned the gun on himself with suicidal intent. Again he pulled the trigger and again his revolver failed him. At this point an American sailor knocked him out with a boat hook and pulled him aboard the American craft a prisoner.

Almost daily one reads eye-witness stories such as this one, and all of them clearly demonstrate that war with our enemy in the Pacific cannot end in compromise.

For ten years I lived in Japan. The truth as I know it from close observation is this: Nothing less than the exertion of our maximum capacities, individually and collectively, in a war of offense will bring our beloved country safely to the longed-for haven of victorious peace.

The Japanese are pawns of a senseless but mighty militarism—a warrior caste which is ruthless and cruel beyond comprehension.

From the flood of eye witness accounts of atrocity and bestiality one



JOSEPH C. GREW

fact shines clear. We must utterly crush that machine and caste and system. If, however, we Americans think that collectively and individually we can continue to lead our normal lives, leaving the spirit of self-sacrifice to our soldiers and sailors, we shall unquestionably run the risk of a stalemate with Japan. I do not have the slightest doubt of our eventual victory. But I do not wish to see the period of our blood, sweat and tears indefinitely and unnecessarily prolonged. We must not fail to realize that we are up against a powerful fighting machine, a people whose morale cannot be broken even by successive defeats and untold economic hardship, a people who gladly sacrifice their lives for their Emperor and their nation. We must also remember that Japan did not start this war without carefully laid military plans for victory over the United States and a peace dictated by their war lords at the White House.

This is a total war, the only answer to which is a total American victory. It is a war in which half measures of any kind mean incredible waste of material, energy and human life. In this sense a half-filled War Savings Stamp album is symbolic of a half effort. There are, I am told, roughly 100 million partially complete War Stamp albums now in circulation. These uncompleted Stamp albums are, in a measure, like a 100 million threats to a speedy and victorious peace. On the other hand, for every War Savings album completed and cashed in for a Bond, you the owner have helped some soldier or sailor take a forward step on the uphill road to total victory. U. S. Treasury Department

AUTO RESTRICTIONS

Can help the business of the Belmond merchant due to the natural inclination of the farmer and stockman to buy at the nearest point—the appeal and value being equal.

BUT

This same friend of yours is NOW being bombarded with a most intensive and elaborate and well planned campaign to induce him to shop by mail — It is a combined effort of the old mail order houses and the big stores who are using this method for the first time.

YOU

You have at your disposal a home paper with a high reader interest and the highest circulation ever reached by a Belmond paper. The results are more powerful and the cost is lower than direct by mail advertising.

YES

It is a problem about securing merchandise, but you won't make a penny out of something you do not have. The stores that survive will be those that advertise and cause their customers to want what they have in stock and what they can get.

THE MONEY

Is here in the hands of your potential customers Enough will continue to come to your firm to enable you to continue your valuable service in war-time unless you allow your customers to forget you through sheer negligence. Advertising can lift you over many a future rut.

Our Freedom Is Priceless

By JOSEPH E. DAVIES

Former Ambassador to Russia and Belgium.

(Written for the Treasury Department in connection with the Retailers' "SAY YES" campaign to complete the nation's 100,000,000 partially filled War Stamp albums.)

What I myself saw in my four years in Europe gave me a new realization of the priceless rights which we here enjoy.

No secret police can in the night whisk us away, never again to be seen by those we love.

None of us can be deprived by any party, state or tyrant of those precious civil liberties which our laws and our courts guarantee.

None of us can be persecuted for practicing the faith which we found at our mother's knee.

None of us can be persecuted, tortured or killed because of the fact that an accident of fate might have made us of the same race as the Nazarene.

No American can be placed by any party or government in a regimented vise which takes from him or her either freedom of economic opportunity or political religious liberty.

What would the millions of unfortunate men, women and children in Europe give to be able to live and enjoy such a way of life?

Well, in this war, those are the things in our lives which are in jeopardy. Our boys are dying to preserve them for us.

Then we can do no less than to "say yes" and fill those war stamp albums. It is our duty and privilege to help the secretary of the treasury, Mr. Morgenthau, in his magnificent effort to do the tremendous job of getting the money to keep our boys supplied with the weapons with which to fight our fight.

Surely that is little enough for us to do on the home front.

FEDERAL INCOME TAX

Credit For Dependents—

A taxpayer is entitled to a credit for each person other than husband or wife, whether related to him or not, and whether living with him or not, who during the taxable year was dependent upon and received his chief support from the taxpayer provided the dependent was either (a) under 18 years of age, or (b) incapable of self support because mentally or physically defective.

The credit for dependents is based on actual financial dependency and not mere legal dependency. It is not necessary that the dependent be related to the taxpayer, but the taxpayer must have provided more than one-half of the support, or there is no dependency.

The term "mentally or physically defective" includes not only those who are mentally afflicted and physically crippled, but also persons who, by reason of old age or impaired health, are incapable of self-support. The state of mental or physical defect need not be of a permanent nature, but if it existed for only a portion of the year, then the credit for the dependent can be claimed only for that portion of the year during which the dependent was supported by the taxpayer.

A person may not acquire a credit for dependent by reason of support of a person qualifying as a dependent if, as a result of such support, he acquires a head of family exemption, but may acquire a credit for dependent by reason of additional persons qualifying as dependents, whom he supports. Thus, if a person claims head of a family exemption on account of support of an aged mother or father, incapable of self-support or a child, he would not be entitled to a credit for such dependent; but if he supported more than one such person he could claim credit for such additional persons provided they were under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support.

Credit for dependents may not be divided between two persons filing separate returns but must be taken by the one contributing the chief support. A credit for dependents may be claimed by a father who provides the support for his children living with his divorced wife, if the support is provided as a result of a divorce decree or as the result of an agreement between husband and wife.

The credit for dependent, allowable to a taxpayer filing on Form 1040, is $350, and is proportionate with the number of months of dependency. Thus for a child born on July 1, the credit allowable would be $175 (for six months), and if a child became 18 years of age on July 1 the credit allowable would be $175. One-half a month or less is not counted as a month; more than one-half a month is counted as a month in calculating the credit.

A credit of $385 for each dependent on July 1 of the year is allowable to a taxpayer using Simplified Form 1040 A.

FRIENDS UNITED

On board a rescue ship would be a very welcome place to meet a friends from "back home". That is what happened to Harvey Glen Frailey and Milton Mills of Iowa Falls. Frailey, a survivor of a sunken ship, boarded another vessel where he found Mills, who gave him clothing and cigarettes.

A VETERAN RETIRES

John F. Etchison of Mapleton has settled many a dispute on the basketball floor. Gasoline rationing and more work with his regular business has forced him to retire after 18 years serving as high school basketball official. During that time, he has averaged 100 games a year, or 1800 in all.

VOL. 21. NO. 15 — BELMOND, WRIGHT COUNTY, IOWA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1943 — THE FAMILY NEWSPAPER

Announce Honor Roll For Machinery Repair

Awards Indicate Farm Cooperation in War Effort

Eight farmers qualified for Victory Gate Post Placards in Wright county and over 94 farmers were issued "Blue Tags" for their farm machines by implement dealers and repairmen indicating they had put these machines in top working condition for the coming growing season.

"Blue Tags" are issued by repairmen and implement dealers to farmers to place on the machines that are in good working condition at the present time, or have been placed in good repair either by the farmer or repairman.

Farmers who have machinery that is qualified to receive the "Blue Tags" should go to their implement dealer or repairman for them.

When all major farm machines on the farm are in good repair a Victory Gate Post Placard should be issued to the farmer by the implement dealer or repairman.

The names on the honor roll are those that have been sent to the county agricultural extension office to date. Other names will be added to the Farm Machinery Honor Roll as they are reported by the implement dealers and repairmen.

Victory gate post placards indicating that all machines on the farm are in good repair have been awarded to the following farmers in this vicinity: Luther Proeger and Andrew Lieuwen of Belmond, placards issued by L. M. Helland.

Blue Tags which are placed on each tractor in good repair in this vicinity are as follows: Luther Proeger, James Payne, Fred Vestweber, R. E. QUESTIONS AND ANWSERS ON NEW RATIONING PROGRAM

Q—When will rationing begin?

A—Around March 1st.

Q—What food items are to be rationed immediately?

A—All canned and packaged processed foods.

Q—Why is it necessary to suspend retail selling during the week prior to the effective day of point rationing?

A—This period will be used by the merchant to prepare for the start of rationing. It will give him time to replenish his stock, train his clerks, and to receive and post the official OPA list of point values. Secondly, the public must register for Book 2 and become familiar with the program.

Q—Will coffee and sugar be rationed under the point rationing program?

A—No. Coffee and sugar will continue under the present program. You will retain ration book 1 to secure those two commodities in the future as int he past.

Q—Will recipients of War Book 2 declare the amount of rationed food on hand?

A—Everyone applying for War Ration Book 2 will be required to fill out and sign a "Consumer Declaration" form stating exactly the stocks of processed food on hand. Heavy federal penalties can be applied to those making false declarations.

Q—Does this 'Declaration' mean I will have to declare the fruits and vegetables I canned at home?

A—No. Nothing you have packed at home need be declared and no stamps will be deducted for these home supplies. Your government is asking you, hoyever, to use more home-canned supplies instead of buying commercial products.

Q—Will the housewife have to make an inventory of her canned goods by products?

A—No. She need report only the total number of cans on hand at the start of the rationing.

Q—Can the ration books of all members of the family be used when shopping?

A—Yes. Just as the coffee and sugar book is now being used.

Q—How will the consumer know when point values are changed?

A—Newspapers and radio will carry the announcements, and every food store will have an OPA official poster showing current point values of each particular product.

Q—Will point values be the same in every store in the country?

A—Point values will be the same in every store regardless of the price charged for the product.

Gets Nazi Baptism Of War

Lieutenant Richard Banning, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Banning of Belmond, recently experienced his first "baptism of war" from Nazi planes in north Africa. He was one of nine Yanks who left the United States on a bomber headed for the African front during the holiday season.

The crew included: Lieut. Richard Banning, co-pilot; Lieut. Charles Watt, Jacobsburg, Ohio, navigator; Lieut. Victor Coveno, Cleveland, Ohio; and five sergeant gunners, Richard Hasbrough, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Harry Alsaker, Montana; W. K. Thames, Fayetteville, N. C.; Joseph Obradovich, LaCrosse, Wis.; and Robert Oheroney, Crestline, Ohio.

They flew without incident to the coast of Africa and were instructed after landing to report for action to a designated airdrome at the front. They flew all day looking for the airdrome, but could not find it. Toward the end of the day, two fighters dived out of the blank sky, spitting lead at them. This "baptism of war" was the first indication to these youngsters fresh from America that they were in enemy territory. They started fighting back at the Nazi planes, but the fighters turned to another plane and were soon lost.

A series of incredible incidents followed in which the gas supply of the plane was depleted; the crew parachuted to the ground; they traveled all day with an Arab; joined a French caravan and took a two day ride by camelback which camels, the boys remarked, would make excellent razor blades.

They eventually arrived at the airdrome they had hunted so desperately for five days before. This might rightfully be called the story of our local boy's "Desperate Journey".

Public to Apply for New Ration Books During This Period

The OPA announced Tuesday that public sale of canned fruits and vegetables will stop at midnight on February 20 and will resume on a rationed basis March 1. The order will apply also to frozen fruits and vegetables, dried fruits, canned soups and baby foods. Canned foods rationing is felt to be necessary because of the quantities of food needed by our armed forces and lend-lease operations.

Beginning March 1 the housewife will have to pay not only the money price for the above listed goods; but also a value in coupon points. For March she will have 48 points for each member of the family. She may buy any kind of canned foods she chooses, as long as she stays within the required point limits.

Between Feb. 20 and Mar. 1 grocers will stock their stores, mark point values on goods and train employees in the rationing methods. The public will use this period to get its new ration books at the designated places. At this registration everyone who can show that he has war ration book No. 1, now used for sugar and coffee, will be entitled to receive war ration book No. 2 which will be good for canned goods Mar. 1 and meat rationing about a month later.

During the registration days the OPA will announce the point values of the various foods during March. These may be changed from month to month. Point values will vary according to size of can or package and to the relative scarcity of the food they contain.

Householders should take an inventory of the canned foods on hand before Feb. 22. From this, stock they should take away 5 cans for each member of the family, except cans smaller than 8 oz. The number of cans left over should be reported when getting the new ration books. It is not necessary to count any home canned foods or unrationed articles such as jelly or olives.

In the local rationing board's jurisdiction, 5 places of registration will be picked in central locations for Norway, Belmond, Pleasant, Iowa and Blaine townships. Locations and administrators will be announced next week.

The local board wishes to emphasize that if you are at home during the period of registration, you are to register at the place designated in your territory; but if you are not at home, you may register wherever you are. By following this procedure you will aid in eliminating much of the extra work coming from transfer of records, etc.

There are four things to remember particularly when applying for the new ration books:

1. Be sure to go to your correct place of registration.
2. Bring your War Ration Book No. 1 with you.
3. Bring your list of surplus canned foods.
4. You will be required to report to the clerk on the amount of coffee your family had on hand last Nov. 28, the date coffee rationing began.

GERMANY IS STILL STRONG—

We all want to be as optimistic as possible about the war, but we would do well to heed the words of news broadcaster and commentator Morgan Beatty who told us Sunday from London that the Allies cannot expect a quick blow to put Hitler out of the war. Beatty also shatters high hopes that may have been built up by recent German defeats in both Russia and north Africa. He intimates that German strength is still so great in both men and materials that it will have to be divided on many fronts before the Allies can hope for victory.

—o—

WAIT AND SEE!

Another historic conference between Roosevelt and Churchill and military heads of Allied nations has taken place—this time near the war front in northern Africa—and now our President has arrived back home safely.

For all the publicity that was given about this meeting, the news-conscious public got little real information. Of course, we know that matters of momentous importance were discussed, but we shall have to use our imagination or wait until future events reveal the plans that were made last week at Casablanca.

—o—

WE LIKE THE MIDDLE WEST—

We have always thought the middle west, particularly the rich agricultural state of Iowa, was about the best place to live in the best country in the world. We are convinced that in war time this is even more generally and more specifically true.

While we hope that the United States' defense positions are so strong that enenmy attacks from any direction may never reach our soil, if such were ever the case, the middle west is not as vulnerable as a great many other areas, because of its location and because it is not so highly industrialized as the more densely populated spots.

Besides being more remote from the actual dangers of war, the middle west has more advantages to offer its residents, at a time when living habits are becoming more and more restricted, than can be found in the coastal states or those adjacent to our national boundaries. We are of course compared to what folks have had to cramped somewhat by our transportation problems, but this is nothing give up in the eastern states.

We have had one practice black-scared by the real necessity of a black out.

We have become accustomed to rationed fuel oil and the saving and protecting of our precious rubber tires. Most of us have learned to get along with satisfaction on our sugar and coffee allotments, so that we are not looking forward with too much displeasure at the thought of further food rationing—butter, cheese, meat, canned goods—in the not distant future. So far there has been an abundance of butter for sale around here, if one does not object to the price, while that richest of foods has been so scarce in some areas that folks are unable to buy it at all. When meat rationing is put into effect we shall be able quite easily here in the middle west to supplement that food with game, fish and fowl.

So far as fruits and vegetables are concerned, a large per centage of middle west families have always canned or processed their own supply either from their own gardens or from the gardens of prospesous truck farmers. And there is plenty of space here in the middle west to step up production of fruits and vegetables so that our menus need not lack appetizing variety or necessary nutritional values even if we can't rely to the extent we have in the past, on the contents of tin cans.

Depending More and More on Prayer

We talked a bit with a man who is the head of a big concern, harried with war production responsibilities. He said he had just come from a prayer service. "You know", he said in a matter of fact businessman's way, "I am coming to depend these days more and more on prayer". We think that is an attitude that happily and helpfully is growing on thoughtful men and women Prayer alone can't win the war, but it can help mightily. Fairmont, Minn., Sentinel.

Prittle... Prattle....

The following article was submitted by our new County Agent Aaron R. Bowman. It is taken from the Nebraska - Iowa Kiwanis Bulletin. It deals entirely with the town sucker who gives so much of his time and energy to community affairs without hope of reward. We have large numbers of this group in this county. But we would also call attention to the fact that we have an equally large number among our rural population. We have in mind H. B. Vanderlip of Dows who heads the county Triple A and the county War Board. We have in mind Russell Smith who is secretary of the Triple A and chairman of the successful county defense bond campaign. We have in mind John Schipull who is also on the Triple A committee and chairman of the war hond sales in the townships. And then there is M. K. Frey who secretaries the Junior Fair. They could all enroll under the banner of "Country Suckers". We would also include Mr. Bowman, our new county agent, who as Vocational Ag instructor in the Britt schools secured a Hemp plant for his community before coming to Wright county as county agent. And we have named just a few of them. There are dozens of others in every township. And we give you the definition of a "Sucker" from the Kiwanis Bulletin:

TOWN SUCKER

He was the town sucker and know it. He was the only one who was called upon during the various drives who was asked to donate not cnly his time but his merchandise. Others went so far occasionally as to give merchandise at cost, plus a small handling charge, and there were occasional rare individuals who gave outright.

But the town sucker was always in there pitching.

Not only did he give his time and merchandise, but his men also helped and the town sucker paid their wages during such periods without a protest.

He was also entirely to blame when things did not go right, and his brand of merchandise even though given freely, was not the proper thing or the project would have gone through.

The town sucker was an optimist. He was always looking on the bright side. The next time would be o.k. seemed to be his motto if a town promotion flunked or fizzled.

When a project went through with brilliant success, the town sucker never claimed or got any credit—the credit went elsewhere—somebody else got the engraved watch.

The town sucker belonged to the chamber of commerce, the Kiwanis club, the various lodges, served on committees, etc.

Lawyers who charged so much per hour for their time would call him in and spend hours of his time without thought of paying him. Doctors who charged him for calling at his home would call him in to advise him and think nothing of it from a monetary angie.

Did he ever complain? Not that anyone ever heard of. Maybe sometimes in the evenings when he was working alone he might think some times it just wasn't fair—but so what—the town had to progress, even at his expense alone.

Who is he? If you don't know by now that he's the small town news paper man or editor, you've never served on a town committee. The fellow who attends all the meet-

Criticism

Who are we to criticize? In the first place nearly everyone criticises whether or not they are qualified to do it. From day to day we say things which we really do not realize are criticisms but they really are.. Just a thing like saying that a poet's poems are not very good or that they don't even make sense, when we could not even write one if we tried. If the poet didn't know what he was doing he probably would have never even written a poem to begin with. If we sat down to write a poem we would do good if the greater share of us could even do two or three lines that really made sense at all. So you see that one is not to criticize unless he knows more of the thing or subject matter that is being talked of for it may be a great work of someone that really deserves praise instead of criticism. We are all ready to help in criticism but not to praise a good thing, maybe this is due to the fact that we do not realize the true worth of things. The best policy is to see what the people that know the thing will have to say, and then listen but not criticize unless we know more of the thing being discussed.

Eddie was feeling very well in literature class one day, and he expressed his feelings by happily making crazy motions. A glorious grin spread over his features. Finally he calmed a bit, and then he was soon back to normal. The teacher told him that he received 100 in the last week's literature quiz.

Chicks Bought Near Home Make Bests GAINS

Poultry raisers are most likely to have healthier birds that make quicker and cheaper growth if they purchase their baby chicks from a reliable dealer near home.

Recently completed tests by poultry specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture show that not more than 60 hours should elapse between time of hatching and the time the chick is fed in the farmer's brooder house. Although 60 hours may seem like plenty of time even for long distance shipment, the average chick is about 24 hours old before it is moved from the incubator, leaving only 36 hours for transportation and handling.

If a batch of chicks is delayed in transit so they are out of their eggs longer than 60 hours before the farmer gets them, many are likely to be dead on arrival, more will die soon after, and still more will be weak, stunted, and slower to reach egg-laying maturity.

Still another reason for buying chicks nearby. The buyer has an opportunity to know more about a local hatchery, its reputation and the quality of its chicks, than he does about a hatchery a hundred or more miles away.

Head of Family Exemption

A Single person, or a married person not living with husband or wife, is entitled to personal exemption of $1200 for the year if he can qualify as head of a family. A head of family is "an individual who actually supports and maintains in one household one or more individuals who are closely connected with him by blood relationship, relationship by marriage or by adoption, and whose right to exercise family control and provide for these dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation."

Examples of head of family status would be a widower or widow who maintained a home for a dependent father or mother. In order to meet the test of actual support and maintenance as head of a family, the benefactor must furnish more than one-half of the support and maintenance.

The term "in one household" ordinarily means under one roof, but if a father is absent on business or a child or other dependent the common home being still maintained, the head of family exemption would still apply. Where he is away at school, or on a visit, parent is obliged to maintain his dependent children with relatives or in a boarding house while he lives elsewhere, the additional exemption may still apply. If, however, without necessity, the dependent continuously makes his home elsewhere, his benefactor is not the head of a family irrespective of the question of support.

The term "closely connected by blood relationship" applies to a person's progenitors and lineal descendants, to his brothers or sisters, whether by the whole or half blood, and to his uncles, aunts, nephews, and nieces. Irrespective of any legal obligation of the taxpayer to support such dependent relatives, a moral obligation to do so exists, and if the individual is actually supporting and maintaining in one household relatives of this degree he is entitled to head of family exemption.

A taxpayer is considered to be "closely connected by marriage" with his stepsisters and stepbrothers, but whether his right to exercise family control and provide for these individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation must be decided upon the facts in the particular case. The same considerations apply to the status of a taxpayer because of support fur- ... law, mother- ... and sister-in ... by blood, and ... degree, are not ... as so "closely connected by blood relationship," as to give rise to a head of family exemption.

A legal guardian who may maintain and support in his home a dependent ward is not entitled to the personal exemption as head of a family if the ward was not connected with him by relationship of blood, marriage, or adoption; nor is taxpayer entitled to exemption as head of a family by virtue of maintenance and support of a child not legally adopted.

Drive For Farm Bureau Members Starts Feb. 16

300 Farmers Apply For Membership

The Wright County Farm Bureau will receive it's initial push at a dinner meting at the I. O. O. F. hall in Clarion on Tuesday noon, February 10th. Francis Johnson, Iowa Farm Bureau Federation president, will be the principal speaker.

All county Farm Bureau officers township directors and teams are expected to attend the "kick-off" dinner and also they are urged to bring their wives with them, according to a statement made by Gerhard Thompson, county Farm Bureau president.

Nearly 300 Farm Bureau memberships have been received to date without an organized drive. The organized drive will be conducted with a team of two men selected from each school district so that tires and gas can be conserved as much as possible. Maurice Mechem, Lincoln township farmer, has been selected as Organization Director for the county. He will assist township directors and teams where needed.

A new service will be offered the members and patrons of the county Farm Bureau this year in addition to the services previously offered. The board of directors of the county Farm Bureau voted to enter into an agreement with the Iowa Farm Serum Company, an Iowa corportion, to provide anti-hog cholera serum and virus for members and patrons of the Wright county Farm Bureau. A local dealer will be secured to handle the products.

Wtih other outside agencies attempting to organize farmers in other sections, President Thompson urges Wright county farmers to join the county Farm Bureau and assist in determining their own local needs and set up the type of policies needed by the working farmers of Wright county.

"Penny Milk" Program Sponsored At School Through Efforts of AMA

Between one hundred fifty and two hundred Belmond school children of the primary and elementary grades are participating in he socalled "penny milk" program sponsored by the Agricultural Marketing Association of the U. S. government.

Pasteurized milk furnished by the Baker Dairy and bottled in half pint bottles is delivered to the school house each morning and distributed among the children who are participating. To make the picture completely hygienic the children drink the milk through fountain straws.

To finance the project each child pays one cent per day or five cents per week for his daily half pint; then, after receiving a month's report on the amount served, the A. M. A. reimburses the school for approximately the difference between the aggregate of the pennies collected and the cost of the milk.

The plan is of national scope and is benefitting thousands of school children throughout the country.

Tuberculosis Skin Tests Being Conducted In Wright County

Calls upon physicians and patients in the Wright county program for the discovery of unknown cases of tuberculosis are being made at the present time by Miss Wilma Soehren, public health nurse. The present survey is a continuation of the work done a year ago, and is being supported by the Wright County Medical Society and the Wright County Christmas Seal committee, who are cooperating with the State Department of Health and the Iowa Tuberculosis association in conducting this program.

One-half of the costs of the work is being met by the State Department of Health and one-half by funds from the annual sale of Christmas Seals.

Tuberculin skin tests will be performed at the individual doctor's offices, Miss Soehren explained, and will be concentrated on persons who have had known intimate contact with tubercular victims.

Wright County Pledges Quota For Bond Drive

$1,680,800 Is The Goal Set For 1943

The U. S. Treasury Department is asking Wright county to buy $1,680,800 worth of War Bonds for 1943 and this figure has been accepted by the County War Savings staff as the goal for the 1943 Pledge Campaign to be launched here, February 22nd.

"We have investigated our quota and we think it is a conservative estimate of the ability of our people to buy War Bonds," County chairman, Russell R. Smith said. "This quota, as near as we can figure, has been based conservatively on the income of the county as it relates to the income of the state and the state quota amounts to $200,000,000 in War Bonds for this year."

In figuring the county quota actual records of income and sources of income were used. The quotas were built from the ground up. That is, in farm territory Government crop records were used and in cities and towns records of industry, business and commerce. The state quota was set by the Treasury Department on the basis of the per cent of the national income for Iowa. Leading economists from Washington had the cooperation of economists of Iowa State College at Ames and the University of Iowa at Iowa City in working out the figures which have been in preparation since early in December last year.

"The Pledge Campaign is of vast importance to the war effort on the home front," Mr. Smith said. "We believe the Pledge Campaign can be put on with a minimum of effort if we organize it carefully and that is just what we are hoping to do. No one Minute Man will have more than twenty persons to call on in the Pledge Campaign. He will have definite individual quotas he will ask them to sign for.

"We must all do our part and purchase these War Bonds. They are absolutely the finest investment anyone can buy. They bear 2.9% interest and are, in-fact, a certificate of deposit bearing the highest rate of interest in this world today. Let me urge everyone to accept his or her War Bond quota and then let me say the next job will be to buy the bonds you pledge to buy."

Local Board Explains Shoe Rationing

Use Stamp 17 In Ration Book One

Confidence that the citizens of Belmond will give their full cooperation to the shoe rationing program, was expressed today by the local War Price and Rationing Board.

Shoes that are rationed include: Unused shoes made in whole or in part of leather or with rubber soles, including all ordinary types of hard soled moccasins, casual, play, platform and rubber soled athletic shoes.

Shoes not rationed include: Waterproof rubber footwear, including rubber artics, lumbeman's overs, gaiters, work, storm and dress rubbers, clogs and toe rubbers. (A previous ration order covers six types of men's hubbe boots and rubber work shoes). Soft and hard soled house and boudoir slippers including scuffs, mules, romeos, operas, soft soled moccasins, soft soled infant's shoes and ballet slippers. Shoe repairs are not rationed.

After Tuesday, February 9 every man, woman and child is entitled to purchase one pair of shoes in any store with the use of Stamp 17 in War Ration Book One, the book which is now used for coffee and sugar. This stamp will be valid through June 15 or slightly more than four months.

This stamp is transferable between members of a family living in the same household. In cases where an individual does not have a stamp he can use and can prove a hardship if unable to buy shoes, local boards may issue a sugar certificate made valid for one pair of shoes.

1. Stamp 17 in War Ration Book One is valid from February 9 to June 15. In case of orders by mail you tear the stamp from the book and attach it to the mail order. When you order in the store, the stamp must be torn from the book as in the case of sugar and coffee.

2 This stamp is transferrable among members of a family group related by blood, marriage or adoption and live in the same household. For example, parents can use their stamp to buy shoes for children.

3 If you do not have War Ration Book One you can get it by applying at the local Rationing Office.

4 If you need shoes and you have no stamp you can obtain a shoe purchase certificate at the local Rationing Office.

The Board points out that Stamp 17 is good for approximately four months and if the same ration basis is continued each man, woman and child can obtain about three pairs of shoes in the next 12 months.

Wtih The Boys In Service-

The Independent is in receipt of a letter from Lt. Douglas Klemme, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Klemme of Belmond. Since it contains some interesting bits of information, we pass it on to you.

Dear Dick:

I meant to tell you the last time I was home that our unit was moved. We are now in the army's highest camp—10,000 feet—in the Colorado Rockies.

Men of all walks of life have been placed in our outfit for reasons that some day will be obvious. Torger Tokel is in our battalion; many other ski champs are included in our roster.

It's rather a tough row to hoe for an Iowan used to flat land to schuss these hills with the slippery boards, but essential in Mountain Infantry.

I have been enjoyed reading the Independent and have really appreciated getting the addresses of all the fellows from Belmond.

My new address is:
Lt. Douglas Klemme
87th Mt. Inf. Regt.
Camp Hale, Colorado.

This does not conflict with A. R. on censorship.

Doug.

Philip Lowenberg who has been stationed at the Naval Training Station at Great Lakes, Illinois, arrived Saturday on leave to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Justin Lowenberg.

L. Dale Whipple, apprentice seaman at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station arrived Monday night to spend a leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Whipple.

The Independent has received several new pictures of the local men in service and may we urge you again to come in and see them. If you have a snap or photo of your husband, brother or son that you would like to have in our display, be sure to bring it in.

Irvin T. Soma, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Soma of Belmond is studying to be a Navy radio operator at the U. S. Naval Training School on the University of Wisconsin campus at Madison. Upon completing the 16-week course he may obtain a petty officer rating and be assigned to duty at sea, or at a Naval shore station.

More than 1,200 Bluejackets and approximately 500 WAVES from all parts ofthe country are enrolled in the radio schools in Madison.

Phases of Point Ration System Are Clarified

Questions Answered By Local Chairman

C. C. Benson, chairman of the Local War Price and Rationing Board is high in his praise of the public for its interest in the point rationing program which will be inaugurated in the near future. He said the number of inquiries the local office has received regarding the program is evidence that the public is interested in becoming familiar with the plan in order that it will be successful.

"From their experience with the coffee and sugar programs", he said, "the public, in general, agrees that the only fair way of apportioning the available food supply is by the rationing system. We have received and answered many questions commonly asked concerning the forthcoming program and have selected the questions most commonly asked for the benefit of those who, as yet, are not familiar with some phases of the program."

Q—May War Ration Book Two be used by any member of the family?

A—Yes, Ration Book Two - like War Ration Book One (now used for sugar and coffee) may be used by any member of the household to whom the book is issued. Any member of the family may use all the family's ration books.

Q—Will all persons be given the same number of ration stamps?

A—Yes. Exactly the same ration book, with the same number of stamps, will be issued to every member of the family.

Q—Will processed baby foods be rationed on the same point system as foods for grown ups?

A—The processed baby foods that are made of strained or chopped fruits, vegetables or meats, or combinations of these, put up in sealed glass or tin containers are included in the ration order. Canned milk, canned milk formulas and canned prepared cereals will not be rationed.

Q—Suppose I have used all my family's point stamps and run out of baby food?

A—You should learn to make your points last throughout each ration period, just as you now budget your money for food to last until next pay day.

Q—How will I know how to budget my ration stamps?

A—The point value of all rationed foods will be published and posted in each store at the beginning of each ration period. You will also know how many "points" your family will have to spend during that TAXES! TAXES!

In discussing the "Pay as you go tax plan", Randolph E. Paul, treasury general counsel said, "complete doubling up (payment of two years taxes in one) would undoubtedly be too harsh for some taxpayers". Indeed it would! We believe that it would be impossible for most taxpayers, in view of the demands of higher living costs, the purchasing of war bonds, etc, to pay two years' taxes in the space of 12 months. We think it is imperative, therefore, that at least a part of the 1942 income tax be either cancelled or spread out for future payment, if the government expects to collect the new and higher taxes this year on 1943 incomes.

THREE PAIRS OF SHOES—

We have been hearing so much about rationing of meat, canned goods and other foodstuffs which will be put into effect in the near future that many of us have already started practicing the most economical use of such items. One thing for which we had little time to get our feet braced was the rationing of shoes, three pairs a year, the announcement for which came only a day or two before rationing was actually started.

—o—

LOYALTY—

Anyone who finds this business of war too hard to bear may find some comfort in copying the attitude and fine spirit of two people who have probably given more so far than any other American to our war effort. We are thinking of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sullivan of Waterloo, Iowa, whose five sons have been listed by the navy as missing in the sinking of the cruiser Juneau in the battle of Guadalcanal, November 13-15.

These parents, who must be burdened down with grief at their loss, are doing something fine in memory of their beloved sons. They have given so much already but they are anxious to do more, and they are visiting defense plants around the country for the purpose of stimulating war production, in connection with which Mrs. Sullivan said: "The sooner they turn out these materials the sooner the war will be over, the boys can come home, and other mothers may not lose what we did."

It would be hard to find anywhere a better example of unselfish loyalty to country than that which is being displayed by the Sullivans.

GOOD MEMORY NEEDED—

To memorize and understand the names, meaning and activities of the multifarious government agencies, committees and boards—both those that sprung up during "New Deal" legislation and the more recent organizations made necessary by the war—would require a better memory than learning and remembering all the books of the Bible and the events which made each of these chronicles important as a historical background of our present life.

WITH OTHER EDITORS—

Legalizing The Blackouts

Blackouts in Iowa will be made legal if the bill introduced before the state legislature this week is passed. Then there will be no more cause for outspoken criticism of this new wartime phase of civilian precaution such as was voiced by Frank Pierce of Marshalltown recently.

Pierce's assertions that blackout ordinances are not legal and that individuals are not obligated to obey them brought down a storm of protests from patriotic citizens.

The problems arising from blackouts—penalties for violations, liability for damage, etc.—are all new in this country. Legislation does not always keep pace with developments, especially in wartime. But when legislation is passed, it is usually sufficient to fulfill actual needs.

For the time being, civilian defense officials urge the public to conform to the "extra-legal" rulings merely as a measure of public safety and protection.

No thinking individual has questioned the necessity of practice blackouts—even in the midwest. It is entirely possible that the next air raid warning will be the real thing.

The right to criticize public policy should never be relinquished. But sound judgment must be exercised with such criticism.

Pierce's statements could better have pointed out the necessary points to consider for legislation authorizing blackouts, instead of urging flagrant disobedience.

Those who are doubtful as to proper blackout behavior will probably enjoy their next one with the comforting assurance that the state legislature has given it legal sanction.

If the legislature is a little slow with its ayes, let's co-operate anyway—even if Mr. Pierce doesn't.—Iowa City Press-Citizen.

Mechanized Warfare

Many military strategists in our own country believe that this war will be won not by huge armies but by mechanical weapons which are used by comparatively small but highly trained units. If this is the case then it may easily be true that destruction of Japanese aircraft can be much more disastrous than loss of man power.—Manly Signal.

Hitting Japan in a Weak Spot

Latest Associated Press tabulation shows 445 Jap ships, including warships and merchantmen, have been sunk since Pearl Harbor and the Japs are hastily constructing Chinese type junks and large rafts to carry supplies to troops and bases. Washington Lincoln and you

Abe Lincoln knew about thrift in a log cabin on the Sangamon river in Illinois.

..George Washington was thrifty, too, on a plantation in Virginia, not through necessity, but because he was a wise manager and a good business man.

You're Thrifty because it's smart to be that way regardless of circumstances; because in these times the virtues of working and saving become more and more worth while.

We are grateful for Democracy. We have faith in liberty, free enterprise, in the resources of this country, and in the ability of the American people to preserve their rights. We believe that the American dollar...like Democracy...is worth saving. To these purposes, we pledge our resources and energies.

Well war has struck the force once again. First it was Bob, then Merle and now George.

There will always be an Independent though and there will always be eight pages or more as long as there is material to fill them and swell pesons like Eva Hansen and Sophie Gealow, who will soon take the place of those who leave to fight for their country.

P—P

"We haven't seen anything yet, though, boys. Look what happened to the Dows newspaper week before last. Their printer goes to the navy, the linotype operator leaves for college and editor Lee just couldn't find help of any kind so the paper misses one week. But he didn't give up and last week six small pages, printed in another shop, were sent to his subscribers and Dows still has a newspaper."

BACK SHOP TALK AFTER HANSEN CAME BACK FROM TAKING HIS PHYSICAL EXAMINATION AT CAMP DODGE—

"What's the verdict, Hans?"

Passed 100% for the Army, Navy or Marines."

"Rather thought you would, but how about the operation?"

"The Doc looked that over and put an 'N' on my papers so that is OK."

"Now what are we going to do?"

"I believe Dick can soon learn to set the ads and make-up the pages, and Eva can take over selling the advertising and help Gloria with the news as well as write the editorials."

"What about help on the linotype?"

"We could find a high school boy and start training him but about the time he would become of any help to us, the army is going to take him."

"Let's ask Sophie Gealow to help us out for three days a week."

P—P

So that's the set up for the time being and that is why you will continue to get your Independent every week after George goes into service.

And that is just rough sketch of what goes on in every business, large or small, as they lose, one by one, a key man in their organization. Pretty soon it's going to be business women instead of business men on this Main street of ours.

If you've ever wondered why midgets are that way, it is because when they get married they settle down.

The baby chick business has changed a great deal in the last few years. People have stopped buying "just chix" and are asking, what is behind the chix I buy? What kind of parent stock did they come from? Knowing that chix are not going to be much better than the parents stock from which they came.

Before you buy your chix, examine their records. A few are good; the rest are poor. Do you know which flock you are getting your chix from?

So buy from a hatchery with years of records on hand to prove their breeding stock is the kind of stock you expect when you purchase your chix.

Just Getting By?

"I've got a right to do anything I can get by with, ain't I?" said a crabbing school boy to a fellow student. This way of living is the attitude of not just this boy but of some men and women who have made this their rule of life and of some boys and girls who are now copying this same principle from those that have authority over them. To illustrate my point I will cite a true story out of many.

Just recently a certain firm in New York City wrote for a recommendation from the high school teacher of a young lady they were anticipating hiring. Immediately the teacher reflected back on high school activities of this Iowa youth who was about to get a very responsible position in this firm handling money. Try as this teacher did her mind could only picture this capable girl as doing just enough of her lessons to pass to the next grade. In the light of her slipshod ways the teacher could only feel that a girl who was dishonest and lax in preparing herself would not be trustworthy for such an accountable undertaking. Even now this young lady is in her home town with no hope of enlarging her horizon. If she only knew, that just beyond the veil, there were great possibilities of broadening her life and experience through travel, through a new field of service and through social advancement. She would have touched new abilities in her life, made new friends, and made someone else happy because she was happy. Yes, JUST GETTING BY resulted in a loss of opportunity for this young lady.

In contrast to this we have the words of the great American patriot and idol of every school boy, Abe Lincoln, who said, "I will study and get ready and some day my chance will come". Think what a different nation we might have had—a nation divided and torn, a race driving and enslaving another race—if Lincoln had been content to have his brilliant mind shaded and clouded by a get-by attitude instead of living to his full capacity for the sake of the nation.

If only people knew that when they assume such an unwholesome way of thinking, such a half hearted way of living that they are building their characters with weak mortar wich will not stand the strain on the testing ground of life. Yes, those who built their character out of flimsy material had the same and equal promise of success and advancement in life as the rest, but they will have to take the mediocre job and perchance even go to the rocks in utter ruin in our own fair land of opportunity.

The story is told of young Daniel Webster in his early law practice when he accepted the case of a poor blacksmith. Webster being young in the work, had to spend much time and money in looking up the points for the trial. He had to travel to nearby Boston to study out his pleadings. When the day of the trial came his thorough preparation for the hour won the case for the blacksmith. The hardworking old man could only give Webster forty dollars which did not pay the worth of the legal services. After many years of practice Webster was to plead a case based on the same principle of the blacksmith's lawsuit. He gathered the detailed findings of this earlier case and looked them over. On the day of the trial Webster came through with an easy victory. The man for whom he pleaded was so pleased with his job that he gave him ten thousand dollars. Faithfulness in the work of life always has a rich reward whether it comes early or late. What if Webster had collected just enough material in his earlier trials to just get by? He might never have won the blacksmith case, or if he had would never have advanced high enough in the legal profession to get the "ten thousand dollar case". The difference between success and failure, whether for farmer, merchant or ambitious youth, can be pivoted on the acceptance of rejection of a GET-BY ATTITUDE Many have been the wrecks of time because of this view of life. Do you want success and happiness? Then live up to the full measure of your life. Just by getting by will ruin your life or mine by hindering us in our best work.

Pedagogue's Picture

Enthusiastic and energetic in all activities—in and out of school routine—Miss Guth is the favorite with all the intermediate pupils. Her pleasing personality and cheerful smile coupled with her industry and sense of humor make her a genial companion for both grade and high school pupils.

Rosy-cheeked and with long page-boy bob, Miss Guth is often seen lightly swinging to and fro with high white rubber boots, wine coat, and Kelly green scarf tied protectingly around her face.

Miss Guth received her training at Iowa State Teachers college, after completing her secondary education at the Meservey high school. During her high school days Miss Guth was an ardent basketball player and occasionally displays her skill playing forward in a rough scrimmage with the Goodell girls. Versatile in the athletic world, Miss Guth enjoys skiing, bobsledding, and playfully scrapping with her two attractive brothers at her farm home near Meservey. Also indoors she enjoys needle-work and reading during her spare moments.

Industrious Miss Guth is always ready for plenty of fun but usually her school work come first.

HOT MONEY!

An oven may be a good hiding place for money, but not if it is being heated, "Dutch" Rubie of Decorah learned. One Saturday night he took his cash home placed in a paper sack and put it into the oven. Next morning his wife attempted to make toast in the lower half, but soon an odor, not of burned toast, was being spread around the room. "Dutch" finally "tumbled" and shouted "dough in the oven". The money hadn't burned, but the top of the sack was burned off and another minute or two would have been the end of the cash.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Rural Electrification has made great strides during the past ten years, bringing to thousands of farm nomes the conveniences of their city brothers. Today, however, copper wiring, fixtures—all the materials which are required for rural electrification—are "out" for the duration.

The farmers of the nation, however, can start now buying rural electrification and all the equipment which goes with it through purchase of War Bonds. Your War Bonds today will buy rural electrification tomorrow and give you back $4 for every $3 you invest.

Deputy Income Tax Collector In Clarion

Services Brought by The Treasury Department

February 23 and 24 are the days set aside for Wright County individuals needing aid in filing income tax returns, for on those days, the deputy collector of internal revenue will be in Clarion at the postoffice to advise and assist in filling out returns. His services are brought to Wright County by the Treasury Department and individuals needing assistance are urged to consult him if in doubt.

Farmers To File Returns

95% of Wright County Farmers To Pay Tax

Farmers will have to file their 1942 Federal Income Tax Report and pay at least the first quarter tax, stated Charles Fritz, deputy collector of the Internal Revenue Department, at a series of six meetings on Federal income tax-information conducted in Wright County. The Income tax meetings were conducted during the week of February 8th in joint co-operation with the Internal Revenue Department, the Agricultural Extension Service and the Vocational Agricultural departments.

Ninety of the 95 per cent of the farmers of Wright County are expected to have in excess of the $1,200 gross income for husband and wife making it necessary for them to file a return. Mr. Fritz showed how the Federal income tax requirement for filing has been lowered and the rate of payment increased. In 1939 a married man with a $3500 net income and one dependent paid $12.00 tax; in 1940, $32.00 tax; in 1941, $168 tax and in 1942 the same man will pay $352 tax.

Farmers with sealed corn, not listed as sold in the year sealed, have until March 1, 1943 to file an amended return with the Internal Revenue Department. This makes it possible for them to pay income tax on the sealed corn sold this year in the year it was sealed. With income tax rates higher this year, it would pay farmers to file the amended returns.

Mr. Fritz reminded farmers that farm produce exchanged for groceries must be listed as income received. In previous years this has not amounted to much but with the high price of eggs and butterfat, the dollar value will be considerable.

Farmers were provided with income tax blanks and also given a new pamphlet written by the Internal Revenue Department and the Extension Service with special income tax information for farmers. Extra copies of this pamphlet can be secured from the County Extension office at Clarion or by mailing a card to the above office.

Navy bluejacket, as he has just reported at Farragut, Idaho, for duty and training at the huge U. S. Naval Training Station located in the mountains of northern Idaho.

"However," he continues, "each and every pilot in my outfit is itching to load up with 'eggs' and go to work...'I always look forward to transfer to another field where I can fly something just a "little" bit bigger and faster... To the present I have experienced the longest summer and fall of my life—yesterday, in fact, was the first time the temperature of any location, where I have been fortunate to be based, got to be below 45 degrees.

"Starting at the coast, I have been transferred continually eastward. From this field we expect to make many cross country flights including Kansas City, Omaha, Los Angeles, and San Antonio. In the past we were confined to a 250 mile radius and flying alone—but company is going to feel good on these long trips—suppose we could get "off course" and "Buzz" Belmond?"

Farm Bureau Campaign For Membership On

Drive Launched at Feb. 16th Meeting

Beginning with a noon dinner served in the I. O. O. F. Hall in Clarion on Tuesday, February 16, the Farm Bureau membership campaign was launched. 136 persons, as guests of the Wright County Farm Bureau, took part in the dinner served by members of the Rebekah Lodge. This number included membership teams from all townships in the county, their wives, and invited guests.

Francis Johnson, President of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation, was guest speaker for the meeting and presented some interesting and educational facts concerning the policies, aims and service rendered by this organization which has as its goal—a united and general organization for the welfare of its members. The Farm Bureau organization is set up for the good of the farmer and the State Organization is doing all that it can in the way of taxation, legislation, freight rates, etc, which will be of general interest and value to the farmer.

Maurice Mechem, newly elected Organization Director for the Wright County Farm Bureau, acted as toastmaster and introduced and presented the following program:

Three selections by the Clarion High School Girl's Glee Club under the direction of Miss Gwen Kemist, music instructor. Mildred Qualey served as accompanist.

Talk by Francis Johnson, President of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation, from Terrill, Iowa.

Vocal selections, "Kiss the Boys Goodbye", "The Army Air Corps Song' and "God Bless America," by Betty Paul. Miss Kemist served as accompanist.

Announcement of the Service Set-up by President Gerhard Thompson and introduction of Frank Anderson, Farm Mutual Insurance Agent for Wright County.

Duet with guitar accompaniment "There's a Star Spangled Banner Waving Somewhere" and "The Song of the Field Artillery" by Camille and Phyllis Pardun.

Short statements of the County Educational program were given by Aaron R. Bowman, County Extension Director, and Robert Fincham, 4-H Club Agent.

Loren Airy, Regional Agent for the State Farm Bureau Federation completed the program with a few brief remarks on "Selling"—in this case the Farm Bureau program.

In conducting the membership drive, a definite goal was set up for the county and township teams to strive to attain. Each township was given a definite membership goal based on the last year's memberships paid and the possibilities within a township. In setting up these goals a total of 717 members were anticipated. Goals for each township are: Boone, 53 members; Norway, 39 members; Belmond, 33 members; Pleasant, 16 members; Liberty, 36 members; Lake, 60 members; Grant, 43 members; Iowa, 51 members; Eagle Grove, 32 members; Dayton, 86 members; Lincoln, 76 members; Blaine, 35 members; Troy, 61 members; Woolstock, 22 members; Wall Lake, 56 members and Vernon, 18 members.

DIVORCE DECREE

In the case of Marvis Lowman Hake vs Ray F. Hake, an absolute divorce was granted the plaintiff, who was awarded the care and custody of one minor child, the defendant to pay $25 per month as alimony and the further sum of $40 per month for the care and support and education of minor child, payments to begin March 1, 1943. The defendant was also assessed court costs, including $50 fee for plaintiff's attorney, H. W. Stowe.

$1,680,800 Is Wright County's Bond Quota

Pledge Campaign Starts February 22

The 1943 War Bond Pledge campaign will be held in Wright county starting Feb. 22, Russell Smith, county War Bond chairman announced this week after having held a meeting of the full county committee. The pledge campaign will be conducted at the same time throughout the state and the War Bond office hopes that it will be 100% complete in Iowa by the end of this month.

A complete campaign plan has been set up by county Chairman Smith calling for the organization of a County War Savings Staff. This staff will handle all phases of the pledge campaign, and finally will check on fulfillment of pledges.

The quota for Wright County has been raised from the 1942 figure of $1,483,200 to a figure of $1,680,800 for 1943. This is an increase in quota of $197,000 but is an increase of only $111,000 over the amount purchased last year. This county quota has been subdivided into township and town quotas by the county committee. These sub-divisions are based on actual individual incomes in the various localities and are emphatically on the conservative side. In the case of farmers their quota will be based on the things they will produce such as corn, hogs, soy beans, milk, eggs and other produce.

In the towns wherever people are regularly employed and receiving pay checks an effort will be made to institute the payroll allotment plan which calls for a regular deduction of ten per cent or more of pay to be used in the purchase of bonds. This percentage varies with the amount of weekly income to which must be added any income from other sources. A table which has been suggested and one which you might be thinking over before you are contacted by the person who will be around with your pledge is as follows:

Less than $30 total income per week, 10% for bonds.

$30 to $50 total income per week 15% for bonds.

$50 to $100 total income per week 20% for bonds.

Over $100 total income per week 25% plus for bonds.

In this connection Secretary of the Treasury Morganthau says, "I will tell you what my goal is, and

Red Cross Needs Snaps And Buttons

More Workers Needed For Sewing & Knitting

Cooperation of the women of Belmond is needed in order to complete Red Cross sewing and knitting quotas at an early date, Mrs. G. H. Steele, chairman of production, announced today.

Seventy-five ladies blouses for forgeign relief are all cut and ready for distribution to workers. "Since it is diffcult to find enough buttons and snaps to finish this number of blouses in Belmond" Mrs. Steele said "we are asking local women to hunt through their sewing boxes for three matched buttons and miscellaneous snap fasteners."

Fifty pounds of yarn has just been received from which the local chapter is to make sleeveless sweaters and mufflers. "Many more volunteers are needed for knitting since the National Red Cross is calling for the finished garments at the earliest possible date," Mrs. Steele stated. A shipment of 50 army sweaters and 30 army helmets was sent out last Saturday.

Anyone who can help with the sewing and knitting program or has a few buttons and snap fasteners to spare should get into touch with Steele at once.

Farming For Victory Meeting To Be Held In Near Future

"Local farmers are finding that increased use of their tractors and other farm equipment is one way of overcoming the scarcity of help" said Mr. Mariga, local Sinclair agent in announcing the start of a "Farming for Victory' program in this territoy. "This 'Farming for Victory campaign aims to help farmers to keep their tractors and trucks operating at top efficiency and also lengthen the life of their equipment for the war's duration," Mr. Mariga explained.

A "Farming for Victory' meeters. Also every farmer in this area is to be contacted by the Sinclair route men as part of this campaign, according to Mr. Mariga. The route men will check over with the farmer several tractor adjustments that are necessary but frequently overlooked. He will also see that the farmer has the right lubrication charts for his truck and tractor. Several books, especially prepared for war-time farming, will be given each famer.

Millions Cooperate In Big Red Cross Drive

$125,000,000 Is The Goal Set

American Red Cross volunteers by the millions on March 1 will launch a house-to-house canvass of the cities, hamlets and rural communities of the nation in behalf of the $125,000,000 Red Cross 1943 War Fund.

Early indications show that 3,000,000 men and women will participate actively in the Red Cross War Fund campaign to help finance the vastly expanded wartime Red Cross program at home and abroad.

Heading the local drive in Belmond is a committee including C. C. Christie, chairman; L. B. Oberhauser, co-chairman and Ethel Brunes, secretary-treasurer. Workers covering every block in town together with every section in Pleasant, Belmond and Norway townships will help with the campaign for funds.

In 10,000 Red Cross chapters and branches throughout the United States, volunteers have spent weeks preparing for the most important fund-raising in the history of the the organization.

"It is the aim of the Rer Cross to give each and every American an opportunity to contribute to the cause of mercy and humanity needed by the world sa never before," declared Red Cross chairman, Nnrman H. Davis.

Volunteers who will give their time to the exacting task of "door bell punching" will identify themselves with Red Cross volunteer workers' credentials during the campaign. They have been organized into efficient squads by chapters and branches.

Each contributor to the Red Cross War Fund will receive the customary Red Cross service flag for display in the windows of their homes and business establishments, but war time exigencies have relegated the customary Red Cross metal lapel button into oblivion for the duration.

This year for the first time, in order to avoid tapping vital defense material, contributors to the Red Cross War Fund will receive a paper lapel tag bearing the Red Cross insignia.

The campaign will continue throughout March, and early reports from communities in all parts of the country indicate that this year, more than ever, the American public is prepared to welcome Red Cross volunteers with sizable contributions.

Money collected by the volunteers will serve to further the American Red Cross work not only on the home front but on the distant fields of battle where American fighting men are defending freedom.

OUR PATRIOTIC DUTY—

Wright County was among the first to go over its 1942 quota of $1,-4*2,000 in war bonds in the state of Iowa. Now we learn that in 1943 we shall be expected to pledge $1,680,800 as our share in the quota of $200,-000,000 set for the state of Iowa.

Though it is becoming increasingly difficult to meet the various financial burdens of the war, we are confident that Wright County and the state of Iowa will again go over the top in the forthcoming drive. Not only is it our patriotic duty to pledge all we possibly can, it is also wise from the standpoint of an investment to buy the maximum. War bonds pay as good or better interest that can be found on any other really safe investment, and they will constitute a new lease on life for thousands of people in the difficult readjustment that is sure to follow the war.

PRIVILEGED AMERICANS—

Many ardent baseball fans will be greatly disappointed if the prophecy made comes true—that. professional baseball will fold-up, along with other businesses and professions considered non-essential, for the duration of the war.

Competition in various sports—baseball, football, basketball, tennis, swimming, etc.—has played an important part in American life for a long time. An unusual number of people have had good livings by making sports their business. Thousands of others—tired, busy folks,—have found pleasant and beneficial relaxation as spectators, either in person or by means of the radio.

In the world nowadays, however, there is less and less time for relaxation. The boys on the fighting fronts have little time or opportunity for that, and if we here on the home front or to provide them with the equipment necessary for victory, we must work harder and longer, postponing until some future time many of the things we have been taking for granted as the privileges of Americans.

WITH OTHER EDITORS—

Note Of Optimism

There is one man at least who does not sympathize with the self-pity that is so common nowadays. He is Samuel S. Stratton, new president of Middlebury college in Vermont. He told the students:

"I do not pity your generation. you are fortunate to be coming of age in time to participate in this crusade against evil and in the task of fashioning the better order that must follow."

The now maturing generation is encountering tempering experience for making the best type of men and women. They will graduate neither into the enervating sheepskin-to-bond salesman lushness of the '20s nor into the economic vacuum of the '30s.

No, the coming generation shouldn't be pitied; it should be envied.—Madison, Wis., Capital-Times.

The Turn Toward Republicanism

No doubt many people wonder why certain new deal editors have suddenly, during recent weeks, started eulogizing republican leaders and principles. Is it not obvious that these editors are the ones who never did stand too firmly on their own feet? And now that they see the new deal taking the count under mighty blows of a lusty, two-fisted republican opponent, these wishy-washy, jellyfish, counterfeit editors hope to be in a position to slap the winner on the back and say, "I told you so!"—Decorah Public-Opinion.

Why They Want a Townsend Plan

Forty years ago a man with ten thousand dollars could retire, live high in Fairmont in a good house, never do a tap of work and be looked upon as one of the town's rich men, all on the interest his ten thousands would earn for him. Now, for investment purposes, ten thousand dollars is only pocket money. Pity the poor cuss who, with his wife, must live on it's interest yield. No wonder folks want the Townsend plan.—Fairmont, Minn., Sentinel.

Would Reopen Pheasant Season

Some opposition has been voiced against Thursday Reporter's proposal of reopening the pheasant shooting season, but we believe that the majority of persons in the county, who have given the matter very much thought, will agree with the suggestion. Here and there only a few birds are reported, but some sections of land are overrun with them, if we are to believe farmers living on these sections.—Emmetsburg Reporter.

—o—

It's Fifty-Fifty

Every farmer who pays 50 cents for two eggs and a wafer thin slice of bacon at a restaurant is convinced that there is a fortune to be made in the restaurant business. And every restaurant man who sees a farmer pick up a check for a case of eggs of a can of cream is sure that he could make more money on a farm than can be made in the restaurant.—Wapeton (N.D.) Farmer-Globe.

CHANGED STORAGE PLACES

Some squirrels made themselves "right at home" in the garage belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Will Walker of Algona. They took it upon themselves to get the black walnuts in the garage and carry them to the automobile, placing them in the exhaust pipe, the horn and under the hood. Walker found nuts also in the water pipe nine feet from the floor. The squirrels did not bother the walnut trees in the neighborhood but waited until someone picked them and shelled them.

FINGER INJURED

A ring on the third finger of his left hand, caused Floyd Wolf of Marengo to lose the finger in an odd accident. It was later found necessary to amputate the entire finger.

Leonard Johnson, now at Bowman Field, Kentucky, must have gotten the surprise of his life when he opened the letter sent to him by at least 25 or 30 customers at Petersen's Market where Lenny used to work before he became one of the army's chief cooks and bottle washers.

Clarence suddenly had an inspiration about 5:00 one evening last week and tore off a sheet of wrapping paper. Each customer who came in wrote a few lines to Lenny.

This column has a new contributor, the Sutherland Dairymaid who thinks the following poem aptly describes the great question mark, the woman.

TRUTH AND POETRY

She's an angel in truth, a demon in fiction,
A woman's the greatest of all contradictions;
She's afraid of a cockroach, she'll scream at a mouse,
But she'll tackle a husband as big as a house;
She'll take him for better, she'll take him for worse;
She'll split his head open and then be his nurse,
And when he is well and gets out of bed
She'll pick up a teapot to throw at his head.
She's faithful, deceitful, keen-sighted and blind;
She's crafty, she's simple, she's cruel, she's kind;
She'll lift a man up, she'll cast a man down,
She'll make him her hero, she'll make him her clown,
You fancy she's this, but you find she is that,
For she'll play like a kitten, and bite like a cat;
In the morning she will, in the evening she won't,
And you're always expecting she does, but she don't.

• Eggs for the breakfast table mean energy to build planes and ships and tanks. We'll help lick 'em with eggs!

That means produce more eggs. That means give the hens what it takes to make eggs. That means, on the Dr. Hess Research Farm, add DR. HESS POULTRY PAN-A-MIN to the ration.

PAN-A-MIN is a two-job product, it supplies the hen with both tonics and minerals. Tonics stimulate appetite and the consumption of feed. Minerals are as essential to egg production as the proteins and carbohydrates in grain.

Dr. Hess & Clark get as many as 23 extra eggs per bird per year from their PAN-A-MIN birds. We think you'll get more eggs if you use PAN-A-MIN. Will you try it?

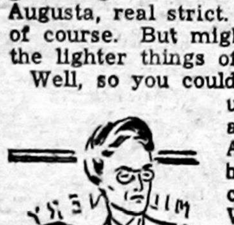
Augusta

Augusta Travers—you know, the one who runs the little hat shop down on Main Street—she's always been dead set against gambling in any form. Never will forget when I was a kid and she found little Hammy, her youngest nephew, playing marbles for keeps out back of the shop. Took it on herself to give him a whaling and point out the evils of gambling. She's a strict woman, Augusta, real strict. Good as gold, of course. But mighty set against the lighter things of life.

Well, so you could have knocked us all over with a feather when Augusta started her gambling campaign for War Bonds and Stamps, right out in the window of her shop.



First she got hold of the photographs of every boy here in town who's joined up, and pasted them on a big board in the window, with little American flags at the corners. Half the town was down there watching her do it. She left the middle empty. Then she brought out a placard she'd had printed up and put it in the middle, and this is what it said: "These are the Local Boys who have enlisted in America's War—They are betting that you are buying War Bonds and Stamps—Hitler and the Japs are betting you aren't—Place your bets inside."

My wife couldn't wait to get herself down there and inside Augusta's shop to see what in the wide world had happened to her, turning right around about gambling like that. You know my wife. She kind of likes to talk. She went right up to Augusta and said, "Augusta Travers, seems like something's come over you. Why, I never thought I'd see you running a gambling campaign in your own shop."

Mean to tell me it's a gamble whether this country buys enough bonds to win this war?" Augusta asked.

I forgot to say. Wasn't just a hat my wife brought home. Was a hat and a $25 bond.

(Story from an actual report in the files of the Treasury Department.)

Remember: It takes both—taxes and War Bonds (and more War Bonds)—to run the War and combat inflation!

Victory Fleet Recruits Sought in Belmond to Aid Fighting Allies

This newspaper has been selected for a campaign to line up marine engineers and other men with sea experience to man the fast-growing Victory Fleet which is being added to at the rate of three ships a day. 65,000 men, not now employed in the industry, will be needed this year.

Any man in this locality who has such experience is urged to present his qualifications to the nearest office of the U. S. Employment Service.

The support that we can give to our allies depends upon how many ships we can get through, for if the ships fail, hundreds of carefully made plans are rendered ineffectual and whole structure of our war effort is in jeopardy.

To keep this war program in operation, the U. S. Merchant Marine needs engineers who hold marine licenses, A. B.'s, Cooks, Bakers, and Mates.

Liberty Ships which are being produced are equipped with the finest protection, the best guns, lifeboats, life rafts, and the finest safety devices for our men, that technical skill can produce. The food and quarters on these ships are excellent, and men are being asked to return to a Merchant Marine that has changed over night.

Men being asked to join the Marines will be well paid. The average A. B. Seaman makes from $230 to $300 per month. A cook makes from $200 to $315 per month, an engineer $400 to $800, board and room furnished. These wages are computed on a men's basic wage scale, plus a 100% war bonus, plus overtime, plus port bonuses. In addition, each seaman carries a $5,000 war risk insurance policy furnished by the Government.

According to the annual report loans totaling over $50,000.00 were closed during the year.

L. A. Clay, co-chairman of the AAA of Franklin County, gave some interesting facts, setting up the new goals of the 1943 Food Production Program. Charles F. Fritz, Deputy Collector of the Internal Revenue Department, also gave a most interesting talk regarding our 1942 Federal Income Tax, carefully setting out the changes in the law and demonstrated the details in making out the income tax report. P. P. Zerfass, Associate Regional Manager of the Federal Land Bank of Omaha, was introduced to the meeting.

The Board of Directors met and elected officers for the coming year:

Emil Bock, President

Treatment For Cattle Grubs is Being Tested

Although it already is known that treating cattle for grubs is an effective way of increasing gains and boosting the value of hides more exact information will be available next spring.

This is pointed out by Harold Gunderson, Iowa State College extension entomologist, who is supervising the experimental treating of 200 head of beef cattle on the Wes Tranchta farm near Cedar Rapids. The cattle already have been given their first treatment, and the second application is scheduled about Feb. 20.

All of the cattle are uniformly heavily infested, Gunderson says, Thirty are being left untreated as a check lot.

In May these 200 cattle will be marketed, inspected and the differences recorded.

Complete information on how to treat can be obtained from the County Extension Director's office.

Obituary

Harm J. Pals, son of Harm H. Pals and wife Remka as born in Ditzumer Verlast, Germany on March 31, 1869. While a young man he left his home land and came to America arriving in this country in 1889. He as united in marriage to Alida Goeman on March 2nd, 1896 by Rev. John De Beke. To this union were born 6 sons of whom one, the oldest, Hajo preceded the father in death on March 17, 1929. After their marriage they resided on a farm in Franklin county and on this farm they spent their active life together until they retired in 1930 establishing a residence in this town. He was a charter member of the Meservey Reformed church in 1907 and faithfully served in the capacity of Elder for about 20 years and also was assistant teacher in the Sunday school and in addition was for many years instructor of classes in Catechism. His faithful work and council meant much in the preparation of the church work. About 2½ years ago his health began to fail and in April 1941 he submitted to an operation. Hope was held that he might fully recover but God in His infinite wisdom permitted that he be afflicted with gradually weakened condition. Save 10%... to Save 100%

All over the nation, patriotic Americans are spending less and saving more—putting at least 10% of their incomes into War Bonds and Stamps. So our boys can have the planes and tanks and guns they need to fight and attack and WIN for us!

So the Nazis and Japs will wish they hadn't tried to enslave America, too—and won't ever try it again!

And it's going to take 10% in War Bonds to do it!

So, if you've been postponing buckling down, remember, it's "Everybody 10%" or "Nobody (except our Axis masters) having a cent."

$1,680,800 Is Quota—

what our goal shall be. It is to reach quickly within the next few months, every single recipient of regular income in the United States, have every one of these people setting aside some part of their pay regularly within the shortest possible time. And when I say part of their pay, I am not thinking of a mere token contribution. I mean a real investment, the very limit that each person can afford, without actually taking food or other necessities from his family." Chairman Smith says: "By sacrificing—doing without some of the things which we may want, investing what would have been spent on these things in War Bonds, we will know that our soldiers will be assured of having warm clothing, good food, tanks, guns, and ammunition. We can be sure that never again will there be another Bataan or Cerregidor with too little and too late. Think these things over and remember that the man or woman who will call to ask you to sign your pledge is a volunteer worker. Don't make it necessary for them to make more than one call. Be ready to sign your pledge the first time they call on you."

The farmers' quota is based on the amount of various crops, livestock and other items which he sells during the year. This plan was decided upon as being the fairest to everyone concerned. Farmers will be asked to invest ten cents from every bushel of corn sold. This figure as reached in the following manner. 1941 was a good year for the farmer. Corn sold for and average of 58c per bu. Much of the increased price they are now receiving is due to the war. The lowest loan rate in Iowa for sealing corn under the 1942 program was 74 cents a bushel. The sealing rate has a definite effect on the price of corn sold from farms which are not eligible to seal corn. The 1943 loan rate will be equal to or higher than the 1942 rate. Using the estimated 74 cents per bushel loan rate as a guide for the price of the 1942 corn crop and comparing it with the 1941 average price of 58 cents a bushel, shows an increased war price of 16 cents a bushel. If we take six cents per bushel as a fair increase in the cost of production we have a net increase in price of 10 cents per bushel. Every persons who sells corn whether landlord or tenant should be willing to invest this ten cents in War Bonds.

Each farmer will be asked to invest $5.00 of the sale price of each hog sold in war bonds. The guaranteed price on hogs at Chicago is $13.25 per cwt. This means an average price in Iowa of $12.50 per cwt. Compare this to the 1941 average of $9.27 per cwt. and we have an increase of about $8.07 for each hog sold. Investing $5.00 of this amount in bonds will leave $3.07 per hog for added cost of production. Most of the year hogs will be higher than the guaranteed price which is extended to Sept. 30, 1944. The need for pork is great and farmers can't raise too many.

The figure on cattle has been placed at $7.50 in bonds for each head of cattle sold. This figure is based on an average yearly price of cattle sold in 1941 of $10.00 per cwt., compared to a 1942 average of $12.00 per cwt. Prices will be higher in 1943 because of the meat shortage. The average weight of cattle sold in 1942 was 800 pounds. This leaves an increase in price of $16.00 per head. $7.50 of this amount invested in war bonds leaves $8.34 per head for cost of production.

For each dozen of eggs sold five cents should be invested in war bonds. In this case there is a difference between the 1941 price of 22 cents per dozen and the 1943 guaranteed average annual price of 34 cents per dozen, of 12 cents per dozen. This leaves seven cents per dozen to take care of increased cost of production. In like manner the figure on each pound of butter fat sold was fixed at four cents. The difference between the 1941 average price of 35 cents per pound and the 1943 guaranteed average annual price of 45 cents per pound is ten cents. This leaves six cents per pound for increased cost of production. The war will make greater and greater demands for milk and eggs and butter during 1943.

Farmers will be asked to invest 30 cents from each bushel of soy beans sold. The war has created a need for this oil bearing crop beyond all expectations. This unprecedented demand has resulted in a guaranteed price of $1.60 per bushel for beans grading No. 2 or better. Before the war most edible oils were procured from the far east. Japan sonquered this source of supply so it is up to the American farmer to supply that oil and this to a great extent from soy beans. In 1941 Iowa harvested 949 thousand acres and in 1942 nearly two million acres of this crop. This means additional income from a crop which they didn't have before the war. Past records show the price of soy beans ran from 80 to 90 cents per bushel. The $1.60 guaranteed means an increase of some 70 cents per bushel minimum. By investing 30 cents of this amount in bonds the farmer has forty cents per bushel for added cost of production and increased profit.

There are many other things which the farmer sells which are not listed here. The amount received from the sale of these items should be taken into consideration when figuring each individual pledge.

Chairman Smith also says: "nearly every boy who is in the armed service of his conntry, whether in this country or on foreign soil, has pledged himself to purchase bonds in an amount equal to ten per cent of his salary. If these boys can do this in addition to making all the other sacrifices required of them, which may even include the laying down of their lives, surely we can purchase the amount of bonds asked of us. Lets get into the spirit of winning the war and showing these boys that we are backing them up 100% by having all of our pledges signed by Saturday, February 27."

Launch 1943 Victory Garden Program

Nutrition Specialists Will Help in Training Course

A Victory Garden training school will be held at the County Court House in Clarion at 7:30 p. m. on Wednesday evening, March 10th, to supply city and rural garden leaders of the east and central portion of the county with outlines for the 1943 garden plans and production information.

Professor John Fitzsimmons, Extension specialist, and Miss Mary Rissinger, nutrition specialist, will present the garden information.

Heading the garden program in Clarion will be Mrs. J. S. Stewart. Chairmen will be lined up in the towns of Belmond and Dows Township garden cooperators of the east and central portions of the county are invited to attend the Clarion meeting. A similar meeting is planned for the west portion of the county to be held during the afternoon of March 10th at the City Hall in Eagle Grove.

In order that maximum efficiency be obtained from every available plot of ground, plans will stress a continuous gardening program throughout the year. Discussion will cover tools; location and size of plot; rotation of crops; fertilization and soil preparation. In addition, help will be given on planning, planting and management; selection of varieties; and control of insects and diseases.

The nutrition specialist will give homemakers help with things they might do now in preparation for the canning season, preparation of garden products to obtain the most possible food value and various methods of preservation designed to make the best use of available canning equipment and supplies.

Garden packets on sale in local seed stores contain an assortment of seeds recommended by nutritionists and horticulturists. Varieties have been approved for Iowa garden conditions and to provide an adequate family food supply.

New garden pamphlets will be available at the meeting.

"THAT'S THE KEY TO VICTORY"

SHOULD I HELP THE RED CROSS

For many years the people of Belmond, Pleasant and Norway townships as well as the town of Belmond have contributed very generously to the Red Cross Roll Call. This year because of the war our national and local Red Cross have taken on additional responsibilities. Besides their regular duties of caring for flood, fire and storm disasters, they are spending $66,000,000 to provide comfort and clean entertainment for our armed forces. In addition to this they are spending $20,000,000 on supplies to make sweaters, scarfs, hospital gowns, service kits, etc. for the use of the boys in service.

Because of the greatly increased expense, it will be necessary for all of us to make our contributions larger in 1943 than they have been in recent years. For this War Fund Drive, which will be held in Belmond, Pleasant and Norway townships March 3 and 4 and in the town of Belmond on March 4, some families will have to give at least $10.00 if the Belmond chapter is to meet the quota set by the National Red Cross. Anyone who has a relative in the service should be willing to give $10.00 if his income warrants this amount. Anyone who does not have a relative in the service should be more than willing to give at least an equal amount to help the men and boys who are fighting their battles for them.

War casualties have already hit our local community and there are sure to be more. Remember, your contribution will give comfort, medical aid and clean amusement to men and boys who are facing death in order that we here in the security of our American homes may keep our security and our freedom. We seek the cooperation of every citizen in the Belmond Red Cross territory.

Belmond Given Quota of $2,150.00

In connection with the big War Fund campaign of the American Red Cross which begins March 1, all over the country, solicitation of every adult citizen in the Belmond Red Cross territory will be made next week, C. C. Christie, chairman of the War Fund Drive, announced today. In the town of Belmond, the workers will make their calls on Thursday, March 4. In Norway, Belmond and Pleasant townships, Wednesday and Thursday, March 3 and 4, have been set aside for the solicitation. "Since it is important to finish up the drive in a shirt time, we urge everyone to remember these dates and be ready with his contribution when the Red Cross worker calls", Mr. Christie emphasized today.

A meeting for all workers in the town of Belmond will be held on Wednesday evening, March 3, at the City Hall at 8:00 o'clock. Each worker .will .be .notified personally by Mr. Christie and urged to attend since matters to be discussed in connection with the campaign are of importance, and all details in regard to the drive will be explained at that time.

In its second War Fund campaign the American Red Cross is asking the American people for contributions to the War Fund to enable the organization to continue to meet its wartime obligations, particularly to the armed forces of the United States as prescribed in its Congressional Charter and in Army and Navy regulations.

The total sum to be raised by the Belmond Chapter in this campaign is $2,150.00, of which $1,20.00 will go to the National organization as this Chapter's share of the sum required for the national and international activities and $950.00 will be retained by this chapter for authorized and essential Red Cross activities in its jurisdiction.

All funds contrbuted to the Belmond Chapter in this campaign will be collected and handled subject only to the authority of the American National Red Cross and this Chapter, and all such funds will be divided between the National organization and this Chapter in accordance with the ratio which this Chapter's quota of the national fund and the sum required for its local activities, as stated above, bear to each other.

New Pheasant Season Opened

Wright County One of 11 To Have Open Season

Wright county is one of eleven counties in north central Iowa to have an open spring pheasant hunting season, the Conservation Commission announced Tuesday. The dates are March 15 to 22 inclusive. Other open counties are Worth, Cerro Gordo, Franklin, Hancock, Winnebago, Kossuth, Humboldt, Palo Alto, Emmet and that portion of Pocahontas north of Highways 221 and 10.

The "extra ration" season was ordered as one step in a drive to reduce surplus bird populations in areas where they threaten crop damage. The commission announcement said, "The spring pheasant season is designed only to reduce pheasant populations in territories where heavy concentrations of birds are causing serious loss of crops. It is not designed as a sporting measure."

"Plans are being made whereby farmers in the affected areas may notify central agencies, possibly the county agent, asking that hunters be directed to their farms. Other farmers in the same areas who do not need control measures on their property are encouraged to post 'No Hunting' signs. Hunters will not be permitted to hunt on any land wihout first receiving permission."

The daily bag limit will be five birds and the possession limit 10. Two hen pheasants may be taken in any one day. The hen possession ceiling is four. Shooting hours will be 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

In past seasons, hunters were limited to three birds in one day, to a possession limit of six, and to noon-to-5 p. m. shooting hours.

The commission reminds hunters, "Under the statutes, hunters will be permitted to keep pheasants taken under the special open season 10 days after the close of the open season or until April 1."

With The Boys In Service

"You guys that are planning on being drafted had better start getting into shape and I don't mean the way that you have been doing," warns Pvt. "Soupy" Cramer in a recent letter to some of his Belmond pals. "I thought I was in shape when I came here but I wasn't at all."

"Boy," 'Soupy', "it is hell the way they keep you moving. We get up at 5 a. m., revielle at 5:45, chow at 6:15, then clean up the huts until 7:55 a. m., drill from then until noon, chow at 12: 15, then drill and rifle practice until 5 p. m. then dress for retreat, then chow again at 6:15 and then study or some detail or drill etc., and then maybe you have a little time until lights out at 9:45 p. m."

"Today we went on a hike and was it rough! We didn't go so far but we walked up hills that were about a 45 degree angle and just covered with rocks. Most of us made it but some dropped out and had to be helped. At one time I didn't know whether I was going to be able to make it or not. We had full packs, gas masks and rifles and if you think I had a load carrying mail you should see all that equipment strapped on you!"

"Only six weeks and four days left of my cycle, that seems like a long time. Tell all of my friends hello, that is if I have any eft in town."

School Bus Routes Must Be Reorganized

Old Certificates Void After March 31

Reorganization of school bus routes has been ordered by the Federal Office of Defense Transportation as a means of further conserving transportation equipment. The ODT states, "The demands of the army and navy for crude rubber does not leave much for civilian use. School buses must be provided with tires made from nearly all new rubber. The supply of these truck tires is very limited."

The ODT goes on to explain what is required in reorganization: The elimination of all unnecessary mileage, reduction of stops, restricted use of school buses for transportation of students, teachers and other employees between their homes and places of daily instruction and only those who must walk more than two miles to school or more than a mile and half to a school bus trunk route, continued elimination of transportation for special events.

Present certificates of war necessity held by the school bus will be voided by ODT after March 31, at which time new certificates of war necessity should have been secured.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Bailey of Klemme have moved into the Gordon Kessler house.

How Your Mail Goes To Johnny Doughboy

Overseas Mail Dispatched By Army and Navy

During recent months, complaints from the public of delayed or lost mail addressed to members of the armed forces indicate that there is wide misunderstanding of how this mail is handled and of the difficulties encountered in its delivery.

These complaints, incidentally, are far fewer than the number received during the First World War according to the first assistant Postmaster General, although the volume of mail is much larger.

Your mail to Johnny Doughboy is delivered by the Postal Service to Army and Navy authorities at post offices convenient to camps or stations in this country or to ports of embarkation when addressed to persons overseas. The Postal Service then has no further jurisdiction over the mail, and responsibility for its delivery from that point on lies entirely with the Army and Navy. Mail from your boy to you is handled in a like manner only the Army and Navy deliver it to the civilian post offices in this country.

Technically branches of civilian post offices in this country, Army and Navy post offices are not under the jurisdiction of the Postal service, being operated by military and naval personal under the Army and Navy command. For instance A. P. O. 1234% Postmaster, New York, N. Y. would be a branch of the New York post office, although it may be located with the troops in Africa or elsewhere. Mail deposited in that post office for delivery in this country would carry that return address although it came from abroad and the postmark on the envelope is placed thereon at the overseas location.

Directory service, through which improperly addressed mail is readdressed and forwarded, is provided by the Army and Navy.

Many Things Can Cause Delay in Mail Delivery.

Delays in the mail to the armed forces may be caused by various factors. Transportation of the mail sometimes must be postponed so that more urgent needs for arms, food, or more military and naval personnal may be filled first. Although mails are dispatched at every opportunity, at times the overburdened facilities cannot accommodate all the mail and it must wait until shipping space is available. Waiting for a convoy, changes in perhonnel and censorship all add up to making delay in the mail reaching its destination possible. While ship sinkings account for many of the thousands of letters and packages lost.

The more rapid delivery of the mail from overseas to the folks back home is because much less mail comes from overseas, ships and planes coming back have more available space.

V-Mail letters are given priority in transportation by the Army and Navy over ordinary mail, and, when possible, are sent by plane.

So when Johnny writes home that he received an armful of packages and letters all mailed from home at different dates, be thankful they arrived and if he writes he hasn't heard from you for months, have patience and write him another letter at once for the ones he didn't receive may have been lost at sea.

MARCH IS RED CROSS MONTH—

President Roosevelt has designated March as "Red Cross Month". During March the American Red Cross War Fund apppeal will be conducted throughout the nation. Hundreds of volunteer workers in cities, towns, and crossroads hamlets will offer every American an opportunity to contribute to the Red Cross and its work.

In peacetime many persons have been satisfied to become members of the Red Cross by subscribing the minimum membership of one dollar. Surely, this year, few of us will be content to make such a contribution. Global war, which has made necessary the dispatch of a dozen A. E. F.'s to the far corners of the world, has multiplied many-fold the work of our American Red Cross.

Wherever United States fighting men go, there also the Red Cross goes.

It is our sincere belief that if the public realizes the extent of the job being done by the Red Cross, it would not need to be asked for a contribution to this worthy cause. The greatest "selling point" for the Red Cross is the work it does.

Today the American Red Cross is the only non-military organization operating within military and naval reservations. It is the liason between the people and the soldiers who fight to defend them.

Here are only a few of the thingst that the Red Cross is doing for the soldier who may be your husband, your son, or your neighbor:

At home and on foreign soil, Red Cross field directors — sometimes called "trouble busters"—are ever present, offering friendly counsel and assistance to servicemen in personal and family problems. For soldiers with our expeditionary forces, Red Cross overseas clubs for servicemen are a touch of the America they love so well transplanted to foreign soil. In the midst of the opening phases of the Battle of the Solomons, Red Cross personnel were with our Marines, distributing cigarettes and comfort kits as a reminder that we the American people, were there beside them. For more than one serviceman, the Red Cross has been the only means of communication between him and his family.

It has provided recreation for fighting men convalescing from sickness and the wounds of battle. Red Cross volunteers by the millions have produced surgical dressings by the tens of millions for our soldiers. In the form of food and medical supplies, the Red Cross has brought hope and succor to the victims of war and to our Allies. Wherever disaster has struck within our own boundaries, it has extended its assistance, always without being asked to do so.

That is the American Red Cross—an organization of the people doing for the people what no other organization can do. It has been truly named "The Greatest Mother."

And that is why the Red Cross is worthy of your larger contribution in this second year of war.

It's Time for a Short Ballot!

It is to be hoped that the legislarure will not be content merely with removing commerce commissioners from the ballot. The whole statehouse officiary except governor ought to be taken off also, for here, too, voters do not know enough about candidates to make an intelligent choice.

From time to time it has been suggested that these officials be also appointive by the governor, as similar federal officials are appointive by the president. There are convincing reasons why this would be the better way. One is that since the governor is held responsible for the administration of state affairs he ought to have the right to name officials upon whose cooperation he can depend.

But though logic would suggest this way of clearing the ballot, it is not probable that the people, or, at least, the politicians, are yet ready for it, and the best practical way to achieve a measure of needed reform is perhaps to leave the statehouse candidates on the ballot but to restore the nominations to the party conventions.

This would not operate to acquaint the great majority of voters any better with whom they were voting for, but it might tend towards a better quality of candidates, and in any event the voters would know that the candidates had had to run a guantlet in which at least some measure of competent choice had been exercised.—W. C. Dewel in Algona Advance.

PUBLIC FORUM

To the Editor—Garden time is almost here again. Victory Gardens. I think it will be a problem to raise even a family garden if people let their dogs run at large as they have before. Some folks think because they pay tax on a dog he is a privileged character, but that is not the case. The town ordinance insists that if you own a dog or dogs you keep them on your own property or have them on a leash when out. Dog owners give your neighbor a chance to raise a garden this year to help beat the Axis, or expect your neigh bor to beat your dog. J. H. Fetrow

REFUND

A welcome gift of a refund on their light and power bills, and their last quarter water bills was made to Ackley residents. The $3750 refund was made in the form of government bonds and war savings stamps. The new issue of war bonds makes a total of $18,750 for the town.

Why Study?

Why study? So we can get an education is the most common answer. Why do we want an education? So that we can get ahead in life. But, do we want to attain success? Most of us do, yet some of us want to learn how to better ourselves and to just be of help to others. These say, "Build for character, not for fame." This is very true, but then too we can also build a good character and still get ahead. This getting ahead is not fame though, but the building of our character is helped and so are we. People are easy to get along with who have good character. Character is us; our personality, individuality, self, will, and character are practically one—us.

We may think that we would like to study, so we can go to school to have a good time and enjoy ourselves. We all want enjoyment out of what we do is very true but some of us may carry it too far. We want enjoyment, why shouldn't we? But yet we cannot say that we have just one reason for studying, for if we said education was the reason there is still an underlying factor for it. There will be for everything that we suggest.

One of the main reasons for studying, though, is that we do not want to be backward and ignorant, for if we were we all know where we would be and what condition our country would be in. Studying may seem dull to us but if we put our whole being to it and try to get all the enjoyment out of it there is in it, it will not seem this way.

Use Your OLD Ration Book for SUGAR and COFFEE

HOW TO USE YOUR NEW RATION BOOK

TO BUY CANNED OR BOTTLED FRUITS, VEGETABLES, SOUPS, AND JUICES; FROZEN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES; DRIED FRUITS

1. The Government has set the day when this rationing will start. On or after that day, take your War Ration Book Two with you when you go to buy any kind of these processed foods.

YOU GIVE MANY POINTS FOR SCARCE FOODS — YOU GIVE LESS POINTS FOR FOODS THAT ARE NOT SO SCARCE

2. Before you buy, find out how many points to give for the kind of processed foods you want. Prices do not set the points. The Government will set different points for each kind and size no matter what the price. Your grocer will put up the official list of points where you can see it. It will also be in the newspapers. The points will not change just because the prices do.

3. When you buy, take the right amount of blue stamps out of the book. Do this in front of your grocer or delivery man and hand them to him. The grocer must collect a ration stamp, or stamps, for all the rationed processed foods he sells. Every rationed processed food will take points as well as money.

4. Do not use more stamps than you need to make up the right amount. For example, if the food you buy calls for 13 points it is better to tear out an 8-point and a 5-point stamp than two 5-point stamps and a 2- and a 1-point stamp. Save your smaller point stamps for low-point foods. You can take the stamps from more than one book belonging to your household if you need to.

8→ A 8
13 Points

5. Every person in your household, including children of any age, has a total of 48 points to use for all these processed foods for one ration period. This means that you may use ALL the blue stamps marked A, B, and C from all the books during the first period. You may use as many of the blue A, B, and C stamps as you wish at one time. When they are used up you will not be able to buy any more of these processed foods till the next stamps are good. The Government will announce the date when the next stamps are good.

6. Use your household's points carefully so that you will not run out of stamps. And buy with care to make your points come out even, because the grocer will not be able to give you change in stamps. Use high-point stamps first, if you can.

IMPORTANT

You may use ALL the books of the household to buy processed foods for the household. Anyone you wish can take the ration books to the store to do the buying for you or your household.

A FAIR SHARE FOR ALL

We cannot afford to waste food or give some people more than their fair share. . . . That is why canned fruits and vegetables are rationed and that is why meat is going to be rationed. Rationing of some foods is the best and fairest way to be sure that every American gets enough to eat.

TRIPLE-ACTION GERMOZONE helps Chicks make MONEY for you. FIRST, ACTS IN DRINK Against germs and bacteria with which it comes in contact there. SECOND, ACTS IN CROP. Why Elephants Live Longer--

The horse and mule live thirty years,
And know nothing of wine and beers;
The goat and sheep at 20 die,
And never taste of Scotch and rye;
The cow drinks water by the ton,
And at 18 is mostly done;
The dog at 15 cashes in
Without the aid of rum and gin;
The cat in milk and water soaks,
And then in 12 short years it croaks;
The modest sober bone-dry hen
Lays eggs for nogs, then dies at 10.
All animals are strictly dry—
They sinless live and swiftly die.
A little rum and beer-soaked men
Survive for three score years and ten.
Elephants who drink beer by the keg
Will stand a century on four legs.
YOU'VE GUESSED IT!

"This Little Pig Went To Market

This Little Pig Died At Home

Hogs can make money for the farmer and can help greatly to Win the War. But, not unless they live long enough to get to market. This year hogs are worth too much to take chances.

The importance of Warm Dry, Farrowing Houses cannot be too strongly emphasized. To keep pigs clean and comfortably housed may pay the biggest wages the farmer ever earned.

INSTRUCTIONS.—To find the Point Value of an item:
1. Find out the net weight of the contents (from the label, if any).
2. In the line across the top of the chart, showing the weight in ounces and pounds, find the column in which this weight belongs.
3. Find the item in the listing of items in the column to the left.
4. The POINT VALUE of the item appears on the same line as the item and in the column listing the correct weight.

All Point Values must be determined by weights. If no weight is marked on the item, the item must be weighed.
In finding the Point Value of a container where contents are given in fluid ounces, consider the fluid ounce to be the same as the avoirdupois weight ounce. One pint is one pound; one quart is two pounds.

The Point Value of any item weighing over four (4) pounds shall be arrived at by multiplying the number of pounds of that item by the Point Value per pound of that item as given in the "Per Pound" column. Fractions of a pound should be figured in quarter-pounds. Fractions of a quarter-pound should be figured to the next higher quarter-pound. Thus, an item weighing 4 pounds 9 ounces would be considered as weighing 4 pounds 12 ounces for the purpose of getting the Point Value of the item.

As a young man of 27 years, he came to America in 1882. He was married in 1883, on Oct. 7th, and lived on a farm near Geneva for six years. In 1889 he moved with his family on a farm northeast of Alexander, and dwelt there until 1903.

In 1903 he moved to Alexander, and lived here the rest of his life. In 1933 it was their priivlege to celebrate their Golden Wedding anniversary.

His wife preceded him in death in June 1936.

For something over 10 years, Mr. Pals walked with crutches; and then for about five years, was confined to his wheel chair. In spite of these limitations, he had and manifested a fine Christian grace in bearing his physical disability. To visit with him was a pleasure to him, and a beneficial inspiration to the visitor.

He became a member of the congregation of the Reformed Church on confession in 1903, and remained consistent and active until his death.

He passed away between two and three o'clock last Saturday morning, at the age of 87 years, 3 months and 16 days.

By his departure he leaves his five daughters, Mrs. Dick Dirksen, Mrs. Minnie Eden, Mrs. Nysco Boelman, Mrs. Lambert D. Pals and Mrs. George Barkema. His wife and nine children and one grandchild preceded him in death. URGES RAISING MORE CHICKENS

Harry Linn, state secretary of agriculture, advises Iowans to have a flock of chickens in every backyard this year, saying poultry provides the quickest increase in animal protein food.

Every one with poultry facilities available, city and country people alike, should raise a small flock of chickens for eggs and fries, Linn said.

Every chicken raised and every egg produced by those who have not been raising chickens means more eggs and chickens for men on the battle fronts or people in crowded cities.

There are facilities available—abandoned chicken houses and—pens—idle in small town backyards throughout the state—which can be utilized. Utilization of these facilities will allow more poultry products to be shipped where they are sorely needed and prove profitable and provide a supplementary meat supply for the family, Linn said.

Prittle... Prattle....

He felt pretty good when the card came from the draft board telling him he had been deferred. Now he and Dad could go ahead with the plans for spring farrowing, and planting that back forty to corn. It would make a lot of extra work, but then it was certain food would be needed, and they could help. Dad wasn't so hot on the physical end of the job any more, but he could do the nuisance work, and the plowing and heavy work could be handled all right during the coming long summer days, given any kind of a weather break at all.

Farmers were prettty important now, he heard over the radio. They were soldiers on the home front, getting the food for the man who did the fighting. He felt pretty good about it—being a part of the big battle, and he knew too that if they planted the back forty and raised all those extra pigs and cows he would put in plenty of time as soon as the weather broke.

It was time go go to town, and he climbed out of his work clothes and got into the tub for a bath, cleaned up, shaved, and took a quick look at the paper to see what the movie was that night. It was Saturday night—called farmer's night by the town people—but city people were peculiar anyway—they didn't understand much about farmers.

Maybe it was more crowded to shop on Saturdays, and maybe by Saturday everything they wanted would be gone. What of it? On Saturday all the other farmers would be in and they would see the neighbors of three years ago, when they lived over west. They were nice people, and their oldest boy Bill had been a good friend of his back then. Bill had been drafted long time ago, and he had heard Bill was in Africa. Then there was "Piggy", so-called because her pigtails were choice handles to make her scream, and besides she hated the nickname, so they called her that.

Of course there were no longer pigtails—the hair was frizzed up, and suddenly a couple of weeks ago he had realized good old "Piggy" was a girl—and a real personable young filly at that. Instead of gettintg all steamed up at the kidding and wanting to fight she just smiled back or sent a quick answer. She had graduated from the town high school, and brother, she was a looker now. Instead of being a sassy giggly stringy kid she was all filled out in the right places and she seemed to like him. Maybe now, he was deferred, it might make sense to start some double-harness preliminaries. He hadn't seen any girl that gave him marriage ideas before.

They ate early, and were on their way as the light faded in the west. The days were growing appreciably longer, and spring was not far away. The daylight saving that some smart Washington bird had thought up wasn't so good—the cows didn't understand it, and the mornings came early and very dark. It wouldn't matter so much, though, come summer.

P—P

Riding home in the car that night the way seemed so long. He just wanted to get home, and up in his room, and get to bed. It wasn't much use to explain things. He had to think a little about it. He hated himself for snapping back at mother, and Dad had froze his face like he always did when Dad was mad about something, and he knew that he was the cause of the trouble. But he didn't care, right now, much. You couldn't go crying and bellyaching back to mother like a hurt kid. It wasn't any help to say he had been called a slacker, or that "Piggy" had made a point of telling him about Bill and how she thought a man in uniform was so good looking, much more so than in a civilian suit. And she had been pretty pointed about the reference, too, and a little cool about the whole thing. Gosh, he hadn't asked the draft board to let him off. And didn't the soldiers need food, and could they plant the forty if he wasn't there, and Dad would lose half the spring litter crop because he could stand just so much. Sure—he would like to go too, to have a uniform, and see something besides these plains—and be a soldier. Nuts to her, anyway.

P—P

He sat in the doctor's office. He had no regrets. There hadn't been as much of a scene when he asked permission as he had expected. Mother, of course had fussed about it, and still was not entirely reconciled. Dad hadn't said much, except that they could probably get along somehow—maybe he could rent the back forty to the new folks moving in across the road. Gosh—he hoped he passed the physical tests. Funny—the draft board hadn't wanted to let him volunteer and had tried to talk him out of it—said he was needed. Maybe so, but he couldn't take what Piggy was handing out—and a couple of smart-alecks too young to be up to the buzz-saw.

P—P

The auctioneer's voice cajoled the crowd around him, rising and falling in an effort to draw the final bid. He watched the man at work, and knew he was good—there'd be some cash money from this stuff. Dad had decided upon the sale of extra machinery and other stuff when the medical board had given the O. K. signal. Only three days more—and he'd be in the army. He felt exhilerated, yet there was a pull to the old home. He heard Dad telling a neighbor that he would have to cut her pretty close this year to get through on the help, but maybe those city dudes would help—and they both laughed. He wandered away. It seemed to hurt. He looked over the fence behind the grove at the back forty—would it be farmed this year? And he wondered whether he was a coward running to army safety, or what? Gosh, a fellow doesn't know.—Hodgepodge, in the Kossuth County Advance.

WOMEN AT WAR

Leonora

Leonora straightened the objects on her desk with great care. She had put her desk at the end of her room facing the door so that when her mother came in she would have to cross the whole room under Leonora's stern executive eye to get to her. From movies and pictures in the newspapers Leonora had gotten a good idea of how the desk of a busy woman of affairs should look.

With an important scowl, Leonora picked up a sheet of paper. Now she was two people — herself, the busy woman, and her own stenographer. "Miss Simpkins, take a letter to the Secretary of the Treasury, will you?" she murmured under her breath. "Yes, immediately," she murmured back at herself.

Leonora cleared her throat and looked at the ceiling for inspiration. Miss Simpkins bent over the sheet of paper hanging on the words about to fall.

"Dear Mr. Morgenthau," — "Got that?" — "Yes, madam."

"I am—ahem—thirteen years old and anxious to be of all possible service to the country at this time, ahem!

"I earn a weekly income of from $1.37 to $2.12 by helping with the housework and by shovelling snow. I am at present in possession of one War Savings Bond and am buying stamps weekly. I want to become a member of the 10 percent Club. I feel it to be—ahem—not only my duty, but my privilege" ("How do you spell privilege?" asked Miss Simpkins. "Don't bother me with these details," said Leonora)—my privilege as an American to invest at least ten percent of my income in War Bonds.

Yours truly,"

"Get that off at once, Miss Simpkins," said Leonora. "Yes, Ma'am! You certainly are an important woman, ma'am," said Miss Simpkins.

Now - - - Stop A Moment and Look at the Spot Your Grocer Is In

It isn't just the usual rush. It isn't more customers, big orders and lots of them.

No! Your grocer's problems today are far more serious than that. Already he has been facing a shortage of certain foods. Not that there won't be plenty to eat.

But we're certainly not going to find the same lavish assortments and the big displays we've been used to. We won't be able to pick and choose with the same pre-war freedom. We're not going to like that. None of us. We may even be annoyed and impatient.

So, when your grocer says, "Sorry, I'm all out," or "I hope to have what you want next week—it ought to be in", how should you take it? In the name of fair play, don't blame the grocer. Instead, remember—

IT IS NOT YOUR GROCER'S FAULT. It is not the packers' fault. Nor the grower's. It isn't anybody's fault.

IT'S JUST PLAIN WAR

That is what the trouble is. Last summer, for instance, packers of the foods we buy for retail put up more fruits and vegetables than ever before. Every can was filled as well as every glass jar — and the quality was kept right up where it always has been.

America has more hungry mouths to feed than ever before. Millions more! Our fighting men at home and all over the world. Our Allies! Our home folks — with bigger paychecks and bigger wartime appetites.

Who Takes It On The Chin?

Who's caught in the middle? Why your grocer! He wants to give you the food you want. That's what he's in business for. But he has less to sell. Deliveries to him are often slow and“uncertain, because the men and machines must even move ahead of food. That's why you'll sometimes find empty spaces on the shelves.

He's hard-pressed for help, too. And he feels the pinch on tires and gas far more than most of us do. Of course, he can't come through with the service he used to give you. It isn't humanly possible.

What Can We All Do About It?

Your grocer can't work out these problems all by himself. It's a job we've all got to tackle together. We've all got to join together in a big wartime shopping program based on the broad plan of

Help For The Consumer
Help For The Grocer
Help For The Whole Country
—through the intelligent co-operation of all.

All you have to do is plan meals ahead—a week in advance. Then buy as many as possible of the foods you need for a week in one grocery order. Not just canned goods, but other foods, too.

And, also, shop earlier in the week, if you can—and when the store isn't crowded. Make one trip do the work of several. Every trip you don't make saves steps, work, tires and gasoline. It gives your grocer a fighting chance to give the kind of service you want.

OUR PRICES ARE SET BY THE OPA AND THERE WILL BE NO UNDUE PROFITEERING

And, remember, when you run into shortage of any kind, it's up to you to adjust your needs accordingly. No one can be selfish now. We must work out the problem of using what there is to the advantage of everybody.

Learn To "Switch and Swap"

In our stores, that is especially easy, because we endeavor to keep a good line of foods at all times. While we may be short on some items, there are others to take their place.

If you can't find the pineapple you are looking for, for instance, it's quite possible you may find we have peaches or pears or fruit cocktail. If we don't have corn, perhaps we have peas, green beans or asparagus.

Learn to "switch and swap" and revamp your menus around the foods we do have in stock. That helps you—helps the grocer—and you still don't have to sacrifice on the quality of your meals.

Won't you try this plan? Think what it will mean if you and 32 million other American houswives get wholeheartedly behind a movement that can help so many—so much.

GET THE BUY - FOR - A - WEEK HABIT
Save Time - Save Work - Save Tires And Gasoline, Too!

Town Contributes To Red Cross War Fund Today

Drive Started March 3rd In Townships

Workers in the Belmond Red Cross War Fund Campaign will solicit the people of Belmond today under the supervision of the air raid wardens: Ed Chapman in Ward One, Fred Thompson in Ward Two, and Fred Fulton in Ward Three, as announced by C. C. Christie, chairman of the War Fund Drive.

The campaign in Norway, Belmond and Pleasant Townships, under the direction of L. B. Oberhauser, started yesterday and will be completed today. In the rural areas two supervisors were chosen for each township who in turn organized workers in their respective school districts.

In the town of Belmond, there will be a solicitor for each city block. Main street will have a special solicitation by blocks, and those in business will be asked to contribute on Main Street for both their businesses and their homes.

$125,000,000 is the quota set by the National Red Cross for the 1943 drive for funds, and from this $66,000,000 has been bugeted for services to the armed forces. Belmond's share of the national quota is $2150.00. Of this amount $1200.00 will be sent to the National Red Cross and the remainder of $950.00 will be retained by the local chapter for local war production work and for the usual chapter expenses.

A local committee has discussed the Belmond Chapter quota and has tried to apportion fairly the amounts that will be expected from the town and the rural territory of the chapter in order to go over the top in the drive this week.

Independent Picture Gallery Enjoyed By Many Local People

There is seldom a day passes that several people do not come into the Independent office to look over the picture gallery of boys and men and women from this community in the armed services of the United States. Almost one whole wall space has been filled with more than 125 photographs and snapshots, but there are a good many more Soldiers, Sailors, Waves, Waacs etc. from Belmond and vicinity whose picture have not yet appeared on the display.

The Independent would like to urge relatives and friends of those in service to bring down a photo or snapshot to add to the collection. Many people enjoy these pictures, and the Independent office can always find room for more.

Harm L. Pals Succumbs Sunday at Age of 50

Harm L. Pals, 50, Pleasant Township farmer, died suddenly Sunday afternoon, February 28.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon, March 3, from the Immanuel Reformed Church with the Rev. O. G. Poppen and the Rev. John Schmidt officiating. Burial was at the Immanuel Reformed Cemetery. The obituary will appear in next week's paper.

Gilbert Bayliss of Wichita, Kansas, spent from Sunday to Wednesday evening with his family in Belmond.

With The Boys In Service

Pfc. George Tourtelotte is now stationed in North Africa. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Tourtelotte near Lake Cornelia. George likes Africa real well. It is warm and rainy there. He says they grow oranges, tangerines, figs, etc. there. He says they also see open pull carts and they also have cars there and drive on the right side of the road. He had been in England, and he said they drove on the wrong side of the road there. George does barbering in his spare time. When in England he was a batallion barber. He has been across for a year now, first stationed at Ireland, then in England and now North Africa. He is well and happy.

Verle Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Wilson is now stationed in Mississippi. He is going to school, taking up mechanical work. He has only been inducted in the army for two months.

Lieut. Lawrence Rikansrud received his commission as 2nd Lieut. from the army administration school at Grinnell, on Wednesday, Feb. 17. He will report at headquarters for the 7th Service Command at Omaha, Nebr., about Feb. 26th. He spent Thursday and Friday with relatives in Kanawha and left Saturday for Minneapolis to visit friends and relatives there.

Estel Ames, E. M. 2-c telephoned his parents Saturday, Feb. 13 from California informing them that he had been chosen to go to school somehere in the east for 6 months in order to receive advance training. On Friday morning Estel paid a surprise visit to his parents and Kanawha friends.

Sgt. Everett Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Anderson, was one of the five Iowa boys who with their comrades were surrounded by Japs in the campaign at Sanananda. For 23 days the men endured fever, hunger and enemy fire until an Australian force broke through on Dec. 23 and delieved them.

Private Clifford E. Lutz left Kanawha Thursday afternoon after having spent several days with his parents and sisters. Clifford is a clerk in the visiting officers headquarters and is stationed at Washington, D. C.

A thrill that comes only in the lifetime of a few was that experienced by Miss Emma Gabel, daughter of Mrs. Fred Gabel, who had

"Stop Crying" About War Hardships At Home

Naval Officer Tells Us Off

Fred Ashby's column in the Des Moines Register last Sunday quoted some thoughts from a letter to Ashby from a naval officer stationed right in the thick of the war. Ashby says about him, "Ordinarily a nice pleasant individual, he gets this load off his mind—but thoroughly:

'I HAVE A FEW BEEFS. In the first place, the people at home should stop crying about their hardships of rationing and so forth, or else newspapers and magazines containing stories about it should not be sent to men at the fronts. It infuriates them! Any beefing at home—anything done to impede the war effort such as strikes—makes the boys want to throw away their guns. They like to believe they are fighting and suffering for a great nation.

'When I read of the poor automobile driver who can't get gas, or the unfortunate people who lose their family physician and don't know where they can get another doctor to fit their needs, I think of the boys on Guadacanal. A doctor there told me they didn't take men with malaria out of the front lines unless their fever was 102. Of course that was several months ago. It is not true now.

'When I read of the suffering citizens who can't get along on their coffee ration, I think of the boys in the hospital at Tulagi in the Solomons. The hospital is a big tent. The temperature must be at least 110 or more. The men off the ships are lined up there after a naval battle, burned and moaning. They stink and they draw flies. I think of the burial party I saw at Tulagi. The mournful notes of taps sounded over the graves. I wonder what sort of people back home those poor guys died for?'"

War Production Work Of Red Cross On Display In McGuire's Window

Since last Saturday, McGuire's Clothing Store window has featured a display of the Belmond Red Cross War Production work. This display will remain through Saturday, March 6, at which time some of the items are due to be shipped out to the Red Cross headquarters.

The hospital gown represents over 100 garments being shipped out this week. Sweaters like the one shown in the window have been made by local women and sent on by the hundreds. There are still 35 sweaters to be made as soon as posible, and those wishing to knit are urged to get into touch with Mrs. G. H. Steele, Production Chairman.

The kits for service men on display are only a few of the quota of 432 which the Junior Red Cross in the Belmond schools is making and assembling under the direction of Mrs. Steele. More help is urgently needed by individuals or organizations in basting bundles of kits. Anyone wishing to help with this work should let Mrs. Steele know immediately.

The Norway Rambler's Boy's 4-H Club, which has not met recently because of bad weather encountered on the nights that the meetings were scheduled, broke the jinx February 26, and held a meeting at the home of Kermit and John Rietima. There were nine members present.

Election of officers was held and those elected are as follows: President, Herman Heimstra; vice president, Martin Clark; secretary-treasurer, Kermit Rietima; reporter, Billy Eliason; Leader, George Eckhoff, and assistant leader, Bill Scheurer.

Norby Tells Of Shipwreck Experiences

Spent Four Hours in Life Boat Before Rescue

"I would rather fall into a lake than an ocean any time," Charles Norby intimated in an interview this week. Norby, a member of a navy gun crew, who has been serving on a cargo ship with the United States Merchant Marines, and is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris Norby, during a furlough from February 21 to March 7, reveals many interesting experiences when his ship was wrecked from a submarine torpedo somewhere in the south Atlantic the morning of February 9th at about 4:00 o'clock, daybreak.

There were 80 men on the ship and they were forced into life boats immediately since the ship sunk within 20 minutes after it was hit. Seven lives were lost, many were injured, but Charles came out of the wreck without a scratch, even though he was in a lifeboat with 15 others who lost all their clothing and had to keep busy rowing and bailing out water to keep afloat.

Some of the bodies of the men who lost their lives were discovered and buried at sea. Two of the men in Charles' boat suffered broken bones in ankles and feet, one lost four fingers when the boat brushed against the side of the destroyer which picked them up, and Charles himself missed the rope and fell into the water when he first tried to board the destroyer. One man, less fortunate, was lost, when he fell into the sea.

Charles said, "The water was warm, but the wind was cold. We didn't have much time to think or for conversation. We were so busy rowing and bailing water."

After the men were picked up, they were taken to Bermuda, and kept in the hospital there for a week. Charles landed at Brooklyn, New York just before he came to Belmond on the 21st.

Passenger Tires In New Classification

Effective After March 1 Says OPA

The Office of Price Administration has announced that effective March 1, 1943, all tires manufactured principally from reclaimed rubber ("War" Tires) are to be included in the Grade III classification. This step is necessary since the inventory of tires now included in the Grade II classification is rapidly nearing depletion.

As a result of this change, passenger-type tires will be classified as follows:

Grade I—A new tire other than a Grade II or Grade III tire.

Grade II. 1. A new tire for which the Office of Price Administration has established a maximum price of less than 85% of the ceiling price for standard quality casings.

2. A damaged new tire which is serviceable either with or without repair,

3. Factory "seconds" so marked by the manufacturer,

4. A new tire manufactured prior to January 1, 1938,

5. A new tire removed from the wheel of a vehicle, from which tire the mold marks have disappeared by reason of wear, and

6. A tire manufactured principally from reclaimed rubber.

Grade III—A used or recapped tire.

Belmond Has Pledged $70,000 In War Bonds

Townships Report Good Progress

$70,000 has been pledged to date in Belmond's War Bond Drive which started last week, Roy A. Henderson, chairman of the local committee, announced today. This figure is not complete since some of the workers have not yet made their reports.

"Although the pledges turned in have exceeded last year generally, Belmond will fall far short of the 1943 quota of $132,000 unless some very substantial pledges are made in the next few days," Mr. Henderson said.

Working under Mr. Henderson in conducting the Belmond drive are C. P. Luick and John Greenlander in Ward One; E. F. Bailey in Ward Two; Fred Fulton and Ben Fetrow in Ward Three.

L. B. Oberhauser, who is in charge of the drive in Iowa, Grant, Pleasant and Belmond townships has no final results to report to date, but he indicates that from information turned in the drive is going very well. Oberhauser says, "One school district in Belmond township almost doubled the average quota set for the school districts in the four townships." Assisting Mr. Oberhauser in organizing the township drives were Harold Simerson, Belmond township; Rex Fetrow, Pleasant township; Henry Larsen, Iowa township and Sam Craigmile, Grant township.

Wright County's war bond quota for 1943 is $1,680,800, an increase of $197,600 over the quota of $1,483,200 set for 1942. Since the county went over its quota in 1942, the new figure represents an increase of only $111,000 above the amount pledged last year.

SCORES

Final scores Wednesday night in the Sectional Besketball Tournament being held in Belmond Mar. 3-4-5-6 are as follows:

Use Of Ration Book Two Not Too Difficult

Many Stamps Clipped Since Monday

Monday, March 1, was the first day Ration Book Two could be used, and the Independent's Reporter interviewed some of the Belmond grocers in regard to the use of the stamps in the first few days.

Harold Johnson at the Tip Top says, "Most of our customers think it is quite a job, but they are beginning to use the stamps quite a lot. Some folks used up all their points for the first period in one day, and we think this practice would save considerable time for both grocer and customer."

Phyllis at the A. B. C. Grocery says, "Most folks understand the point system quite well. We have taken in more stamps since March 1st than we expected."

At the Super Value Orrin Jacobson has this to say. "March 1st was our biggest day so far as rationed canned goods is concerned. I think the sales have gone down somewhat, as was to be expected.

"Helping the ladies tear stamps out of their books compensates somewhat for all the work of rearranging our canned goods shelves and labeling the items with point valuations," Clarence at Peterson and Sons' Market remarks.

Mrs. McBride says, "Tuesday was a busy day. Our customers went behind counters, examined cans, figured out point values and spent freely. We think the point system will work out fine."

Ben Fetrow at the F. and F. Food Market is pretty cheerful about the whole matter. "No trouble at all. All we need is a scissors furnished with each book. The stamps are not perforated well enough to tear out easily."

"Seven Sweethearts" Is At Lyric March 7-8-9

Seven leading ladies, and each one a sweetheart, will feature the picture "Seven Sweethearts" next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, March 7, 8, and 9, at the Lyric Theater.

The cast includes Kathryn Grayson, Van Heflin and Marsha Hunt and is a Frank Borzage production. Theatre goers have indicated an increasing popularity for Van Heflin, who is in the middle of the seven sweethearts and has his hands full. This new picture is brought to the screen by the same man who producted the successful Deana Durbin hits.

Wright County Farm Bureau Is Conducting Membership Drive Now

Wright County Farm Bureau memberships collected to March 1st totaled 391 paid memberships this year. Dayton Township is heading the list with 56 members and Lincoln township is second high with 48 members. Wall Lake and Grant tied for third place with 32 each. Very few township solicitors have reported in to date on membership work and after completion of the membership campaign it is believed that Wright county will have well over 600 members.

If you have not paid your 1943 dues stop in at the office or send check at once. Remember the Wright County Farm Bureau is serving you Iowa farmers in legislation, educational programs, and personal service through the Insurance and Serum Companies.

Belmond To Participate In World Day Of Prayer

Friday, March 12, Is Date Set

Friday night a group of women representing the different local chuches and organizations met to formulate plans for the observance of the World Day of Prayer, to be held on Friday, March 12.

In preparation for the observance of the World Day of Prayer, groups and individuals are uniting in prayer the world around. The first place to observe the day will be the Fiji Islands, and services will follow the international time belts around the world.

This annual day of prayer is sponsored by the United Council of Church Women and is nondenominational as well as worldwide in scope. Church leaders say that because of present world conditions it seems particularly fitting at this time that members of all churches, both Catholic and Prostestant, respond to this call to prayer which goes to all people.

The general committee which organized the World Day of Prayer for Belmond is headed by Mrs. E. F. Bailey as chairman. Other members include Mesdames Foster M. Beck, R. H. Klemme, D. L. Rankins, H. W. Faris, Cecil Carstens, George Thompson, R. E. Courson, H. L. Schultz, Albert Dorr, Matilda Skovlin, as well as Mrs. George Greenfield, representing the Navy Mothers' Club. A program committee consisting of Mrs. Klemme, Miss Skovlin and Mrs. Beck was appointed.

In Belmond throughout the first Friday in Lent, March 12, the church bells will be rung at intervals, and at 8:00 p. m. special serservices will be held in the Congregational church. All those who have relatives or friends in the armed forces are especially urged to attend. A program of the service will be published in week's paper.

THANKS—"I'll be seeing you."

It has been almost five years since we came to Belmond to make our home and to take over the operation of the Independent. It doesn't seem that long because our associations in the community, both business and social, have been so pleasant and happy that the weeks and the years have sped by all too soon.

And now for us, like many other Americans, these pleasant and happy associations must change.

Because I thoroughly believe in the principles for which our country is now fighting I am glad that I can be one to help in the fight, even though breaking the ties that bind me to my home and to this town is so very hard to do.

There are some things in a man's life however that make easier the adjustment to such a change, and those things have happened to me. For instance, in the past few weeks, since I learned that I was to be in Uncle Sam's armed forces, we have found many expressions of sincere human friendship—one of the most precious things in the world.

Another thing makes me feel good: I am confident that my wife, as she takes over some of my responsibilities in the Belmond Independent, will have the same kind of cooperation from Wallace and Dick that I have had, and I believe the same thing will be true of our patrons of the newspapers: merchants up and down main street and subscribers to the Independent, in town and country.

To be more specific in speaking of friendship, I am sincerely grateful to Doctor and Lillian Nelson who are so generously sharing their home with Jeff and Eva while I am away. I know I need not worry about their comfort and security.

When this issue of the Independent is being put to bed, I shall be on my way to parts unknown, but I am hoping that even in the busy routine of navy life I can find time and some worth while thoughts for contribution to the Belmond Independent, maybe a weekly column called "The Editor's Navy Diary."

I have tried to see everyone before leaving Belmond. To those whom I failed to see personally, I wish to say, "not goodbye", but "I'll be seeing you."

Navy life is going to be a new experience for me, and I know that there will be many times when I am lonesome and blue. One of the most cheering thoughts I can have is that the folks at home are right on the job as usual, so "Keep the Home Fires Burning."

George C. Hansen.

Bar on Home Town Papers

Cresco Times: The public generally will not be greatly impressed by the propaganda charges, but what concerns country weekly publishers is why an edition of "Victory" weighing 420 tons is shipped overseas for distribution, while an order issued recently, prohibits relatives from sending to boys overseas, their home town paper because it imposes too heavy a burden on transportation. It would take a lot of weekly papers to weigh 420 tons, the contents of which would be far more interesting to the boys in uniform than the Victory magazine, we would say.

Sometimes a simple statistic tells a complete story. The office of war information recently published a booklet, "The Tale of a City," describing conditions in Warsaw, Poland. But the whole story of the German occupation, which is paralleled to a lesser degree in all occupied countries, is told by the following figures: 1939—Warsaw deaths, 7,300; births, 10,800. 1941—Warsaw deaths 21,800; births, 8,000. Nothing more is needed to give a clear picture of Hitler's "New Order." — Waterloo Courier.

Gillette Has Proved Himself

Senator Gillette has again announced that he will not seek renominatiton and re-election. In the view of many republicans as well as democrats this is an unfortunate decision for Iowa. The senator's honesty and ability have proved that he is of senatorial "size," and "size" for the job is all but as rare as hen's teeth. The political chances are ten to one against a successor of equal caliber. —Algona Advance.

3-Cent Piece Is Coming Back

We are going to have the old-time three-cent piece back again, it is announced by the coming division of the United States mint. The most vivid recollection this writer has of the three-cent pieces is that of their size—similar to a dime—and the many attempts made by petty cheaters to slip them in for ten-cent values when paying for goods with a quantity of loose change.—Northwood Anchor.

Coming From the Tribune

The Tribune now demands that Walter Winchell be ruled off the air because of his attacks on congress. And this from a scurrilous newspaper which for years has been hitting below the belt and spilling abuse and invective against the president members of congress, and other persons in public life whom the Tribune hates.—Madison Capital-Times.

In Favor of Dies Probe

It is gratifying to note that Iowa congressmen voted 100 per cent to continue the Dies committee—in spite of sniping by various members of the press and certain intellectuals who seem to want to give free rein to folks who think rather lightly of American institutions. — Newton News.

High Food Prices Indicated

All the signs point to higher ceilings on food prices. Since the administration lacks the wit or the courage to clamp down the lid on the whole business, there appears to be little hope of price stabilization.—Dubuque Telegraph-Herald.

Prittle... Prattle....

PRITTLE PRATTLE .. ..

This week Belmond plays host to 11 visiting basketball squads from Wednesday through Saturday and with halfway decent weather a good turnout of fans is expected to be in attendance at each of the four night sessions.

P—P

Everybody knows Dave Finn, but few know that Dave has a poet in the family, namely a son Ray, who is principal at Harlan, Iowa, and also does a bit of refereeing on the side. Since this is basketball week in Belmond, this column plays host to a poem written by Ray, clipped from a recent IHSAA bulletin, that will give you some inkling of how the ref feels."

"FOUL PLAY" or "SOUL IN AGONY

I think that I shall never see
A fairly treated referee.
He has to be ok'd by all,
To work a game of basketball.
His shirt must be in prison stripes,
To furnish gags for people's gripes.
He nods and smiles to show he's square,
To act too wise—he wouldn't dare.
The game begins and all is set,
He hasn't called a foul as yet.
But soon a boy has charged or blocked,
And for that foul he then is socked.
This time the crowd is full of joy.
The game gets warm, the pace is hot,
Our whistle tooter's on the spot.
Right underneath the home town's goal,
Someone has pushed—and bless my soul—
Our striped friend, with whistle shrill,
Has called a foul on our star, Bill.
And fans go mad—they're all agog,
And shout, "You need your seeing dog
"Where are the other two blind mice?
"You're not a louse—you're almost lice."
The ball drops in, the score is tied,
The heat's on full, he's being fried.
Now up the court now back with speed,
The boys, all moving fast indeed.
To watch their feet, their hands, their hips,
And toot that whistle in his lips
Is one big job—at last—the bell—
The half-way mark—it's surely—well
He needs a rest—perhaps a smoke
To referee is not a joke.
The coaches seek him out to say,
"Watch that big boy," or "Watch that play,"
He says "OK," but thinks "You Dope!"
At home I could have heard Bob Hope."
Three minutes more—the die is cast,
He vows this game will he his last.
The second half now starts, twelve all,
For just a minute there's a pall,
That settles o'er the entitre crowd
That soon will be in cheering loud.
Up goes the ball, the tension's high,
The ball is watched by every eye.
Of course each line of vision true,
Is not the same for me and you.
The guy downstairs, he hollers "Boo."
The guy upstairs says, "Give him two."
The fan at one end hollers, "No.
He hit the ball, I'll betcha dough."
While at the other end afar,
Some fan explodes, "A thief you are."
And in the middle of the gym,
Sit mammas, papas, fat and slim.
They gasp, they scowl, they frown, they shout,
"He roughed my Johnie—put him out."
And on the bench across the hall
The coaches scowl, the players call
"Why don't you call 'em? Now see there."
Some wave their arms, some shout and swear.
The ball is changing hands so fast,
Tis hard to tell who had it last.
It's nip and tuck and tuck and nip,
Two points far out, two in by tip.
The score is tied, now in it goes,
The crowd is standing on its toes.
A long shot hits the net—Oh, Gee!
It's tied again, two three, two three.
The time is getting short, 'tis now
A foul called would cause a row.
One minute left—but now "Time out."
The poor official—scared no doubt!
I don't believe I'll stay to see
Who wins this game—it's clear to me,
That our poor man in stripes so bright,
Is really in for one bad night.
Just think it o'er—if this were
Hell if you don't—hell if you do.
He's out there trying, hoping too
Some boy gets hot to see him through.
Perhaps he's having one bad night.
We all have them and well we might.
For games are worked by men like ME
Quite fallible as YOU and HE.

With meat rationing getting closer right along, a Belmond grocer contributed this bit of rhyme appropos the former particular meat consumer.

THE SILVER LINING

Remember me? I used to moan:
"No, no! Don't give me that!
Don't weigh that homely hunk of bone—
Cut off that slice of fat."

I left you looking battle scarred,
With every pound I bought.
I've changed now—here's my ration card,
Just give me what you've got.

With the Red Cross asking for donations of old buttons and snap fasteners, Mrs. F. A. "Essie" Stevens got busy and took some of the snaps from her older garments.

"I'll doubtless be gapping for the duration of the war," remarked Essie, "but it will be for a good cause."

The Tip

The Tip by Goodell Schools

America

America, I have a few words I'd like to say to you. Are you listening?

The eyes of the world are on you, America, some hoping and praying for help, still others hating you and hoping you'll fall to your doom. Are you going to stand by and see Hitler tramp over Norway and those many European countries without doing something about it? No—I know you won't, but remember Hirohito boasted that he would be sitting in the White House and ruling at the end of this war. We will all fight to the last man before that happens, and I have a hunch that if we on the home front and the boys in service and all our allies work together, it will NEVER happen.

Your army, navy, marines, and air corps are and will pound and drive those grinning, sneaking Japs and brutal Germans back and still back and we'll not let up until our enemies are crushed and can never again rise to power.

Think of those brave and fearless Russians as they drive the Germans back and all they have endured and suffered. And, America, do not forget England and all her suffering when the Germans were bombing them. And China. She has been fighting the Japs for five and one-half years.

Have any of these countries given up or weakened? No. They still fight on and you, America, will join them to preserve our freedom forever.

Neither driver was able to free the cars, so the other driver said he would locate a wrench to disentangle the bumpers. After waiting nearly an hour, and no man nor wrench was available, Greensweig called on police who were successful in getting the cars loose. The Eldora man had not gone far when he was stopped by officers at Iowa City for questioning about the description of the man driving the other car. Police investigation of the cars revealed that it had been stolen, and Greensweig's information was wanted to locate him, which be oblingingly gave the Iowa City police. The call was not cancelled and he was again stopped at Marshalltown for questioning. Mr. Greensweig reached home, but he has not learned whether they have located the man or the wrench.

"My father sent me a copy of The 'Independent' which I was very happy to receive, especially since I have had very little news from the good city of Belmond for some time." writes Pvt. Jesse Arends, a former resident of Belmond now in Aberdeen, Maryland.

"Now I will tell you a little about the Proving Grounds and my work. I enlisted November 21 and was sent here arriving December 5, 1942. After four weeks of strenuous basic training, I was put in Armorers' School and have been taking an intensive course in all weapons, hand, shoulder and machine guns and aircraft cannon.

"This work is very interesting, though highly technical. Although most information from the Proving Grounds is restricted, I think I can tell you that one thing we must be able to do is take the machine guns completely apart and reassemble them blindfolded. In two weeks I will graduate as expert armorer and then go into Officers Training for 13 weeks.

"This camp is wonderful, and chow is good, but the climate is very bad for a midwesterner; the damp chilly wind blows continuously off of the Chesapeake Bay and creeps through any and all clothes one has on. However, spring has come at last.

"Infantry drill is stressed here and anyone who becomes an officer must first become a cadre or first class drillmaster. We have drill every day in addition to technical school, and one of the highlights of the daily drill is the excellent all-colored band which plays for us. They were all artists in civilian life. The cymbol player is about 4' 6" but every one is "in the groove.'"

* * * *

Clarence Chamberlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Chamberlin, who has been home on furlough with his parents after finishing training at Hays. Kansas, reported at Jefferson Barracks, Mo., Saturday to continue receiving instruction in aeronautics.

Since letters from North Africa seem to be our feature this week, we are including another. This one is from Kenneth Jenison, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Jenison of Belmond. It was dated January 25 and reads as follows:

"I finally received the box you sent the 28th of October. The money belt will come in handy as we haven't much use for money here. I wish I had a bigger allotment now. When it was possible to increase our allotment, I missed it so I'll have to wait for the next chance.

"We have radios in our rooms and I get to hear the news from the States every night. The news often gives everything that is going on at home, besides the war news. It is good to hear what the rest of the world is doing.

"A few days ago I saw in person Martha Raye, Kay Francis, Carole Landis and Mitzie Mayfair in personal appearance show at the Red Cross center. Martha Raye is the only one that looked the same as she does on the screen.

"I'll mention this but I don't suppose that it will get by the censor—General Marshall was here and inspected our living quarters. So I've seen a lot of famous people lately."

"I have been getting most of the Belmond Independent papers and really enjoy reading them" states Marvin Meinders. stationed somewhere in Africa, in a recent letter to his mother.

"At present we are operating in buildings and not tents and also have our sleeping quarters inside. We have been very busy again lately. I wish I could tell you how far we are behind the front lines. The Germans did occupy this place at one time.

"The rainy season seems to be over now, so I suppose one of these days the wind will start to blow and we'll really get our eyes full of sand. The weather is swell although it does get quite cool at night.

"This area is quite mountainous and I saw snow on the peaks of some on the way up here. The camel caravans are another treat. They have large vineyards, olive and orange groves here, and the oranges are ripe now so we can get all the oranges we want. A lot of sheep and goats, some chickens, cattle, horses, burros and hogs are raised here. There are no fences and a common sight is the people herding their animals.

"The ground is rust color and is quite rocky in places. Oats are raised by the farmers, but they have cery little modern machinery. have very little modern machinery. How they get the oats threshed, I ing plow is employed which is pulled by four or six oxen and horses. The Arabs seem to do most of the farming. They live in little. poorly constructtd huts, and most of the Arabs go barefoot, especially the children. The men wear large coats and turbans around their heads. Most of the women wear bed sheets or whatever you want to call them, around their heads and peep out with one eye.

"The people are French, Arabian and Spanish. The towns I have seen are very modern and nice, but between the beggars and the shoe shine boys, they almost drive a guy nuts.

"There is a Red Cross club in Oran, and in the place we were staying we did get to see a few American shows, but where we are now, we don't have entertainment of any kind.

"Yesterday we received our pay. The American dollar is now worth only 50 francs instead of 75." He concludes, "I am feeling fine and getting plenty to eat."

WINNING the WAR Begins on the farm

that no planes roar down upon your home ::: no shells plow up your fields ::: no armies trample your crops and fields. Yet in this war, victory begins on your farm—by producing more Food for Freedom—and by saving more in War Bonds and Stamps.

Here indeed is an opportunity every American will welcome. For by saving your money, you help save for yourself as well as your country. What's more, your money invested in War Bonds helps keep down the prices of the things you buy; helps make the money you spend go further—now. By putting your money into War Bonds and keeping it up regularly, month after month, you will be sure of having the money when you can use it best. And if you need the money, you can get it back anytime after 60 days from issue date of the Bond. Don't delay—your "fighting dollars" are needed now.

Make Every Market Day "Bond Day"—Invest At Least 10%.

Local Red Cross Drive Is Going Over The Top

Expect Complete Report Next Week

Complete reports are not yet in for the Belmond Chapter Red Cross War Fund drive, C. C. Christie, chairman of the local committee stated today. However, Mr. Christie indicates that information from the reports which have been turned in to date shows Belmond has already gone over its quota of $2150.00 which was given us by the National Red Cross. It is expected that a complete report of the drive will be available for next week's paper.

Workers have tried to see everyone on their lists, either in their homes or at their places of business. Anyone in the town of Belmond or in Norway, Belmond and Pleasant townships, who did not receive a call with regard to a contribution is urged to make his donation personally to Miss Ethel Brunes at the First State Bank, who is secretary-treasurer of the war fund committee.

The report next week will include the amount of money raised in Belmond, Norway and Pleasant townships, which were organized by L. B. Oberhauser.

The national Red Cross has set a quota of $125,000,000 for the 1943 campaign, and out of this amount $66,000,000 has been allocated for services to the armed forces. In addition to this amount, a considerable portion of the money retained by local chapters is being spent on production work for the armed forces.

A new project which the American Red Cross is undertaking is that of producing two million packages of food a year for American war prisoners in enemy camps throughout the world, such packages to be distributed to every American prisoner each week through the neutral agency of the international Red Cross in Geneva, Switzerland. These packages, weighing 11 pounds, will contain the following items:

Whole powdered milk, one pound; processed American cheese, nine ounces; oleomargarine with vitamin A, one pound; pork luncheon meat, 12 ounces; corned beef, 12 ounces; liver paste, six ounces; salmon, eight ounces; dried prunes one pound; orange concentrate, four ounces; white sugar, eight ounces; biscuits, seven ounces; soluble coffee, four ounces; as well as two chocolate bars, two soap bars and four packages of cigarettes.

AG. EXPERIMENTAL ASSN. WILL MEET

An all day session of the northern Iowa agricultural experimental association will be held at Kanawha today, Thursday, starting at 10 o'clock in the morning at the association farm just south of that town.

This is an annual affair and several prominent speakers in the agricultural field have been secured to lead the discussions There will be a free dinner for association members and their guests at 12:30 noon.

Subscribers Are Asked To Watch Expiration Date On Local Paper

Independent subscribers are asked to watch the expiration date on the upper righ hand corner of the front page. ....

Notices of expiration were sent the first of March to everyone whose paper expired at that time. Such subsciptions which have not been paid by the first of April must be removed from the list, since only enough papers for subscribers who are paid in advance, together with a few extra copies for the office files, are being printer, at present. Those who desire to have the Independent continue coming to them are requested to stop at the office or send a check for renewal.

This new practice of the Independent in stopping subscriptions unless paid in advance has become necessary since newspapers all over the country were allowed to buy only 90 per cent of their former purchases of news print.

Youth Rally At Methodist Church Sunday

Visitors Expected From Six Churches

The Garner Sub-District youth rally of the Methodist Church, which includes Britt, Garner, Clear Lake, Klemme, Liberty, Thornton and Belmond, will be held in Belmond Sunday starting at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

After the devotions at 4:15, the group will divide into classes for discussion of the theme, "I Dare You to be Christlike," which is in keeping with the Lenten season. Following that about 20 minutes will be spent singing folk songs.

6:00 o'clock supper will be served in the church dining room by the local league, free of charge for Belmond members, at 25c for visitors, and immediately after that there will be an hour of recreation in charge of Miss Thelma Chambers of Britt.

The closing worship service will convene a 7:30, at which time the Rev. Foster M. Beck of the Congregational church will give a talk on "Korean Life." Adults are welcome to attend this service.

Certificates For Home Nursing Class Received

Red Cross Home Nursing Certificates for those who completed the home nursing course given by Miss Hope Hackett, R. N. last fall, have just been received. Members of the class entitled to these certificates are asked to call for them at the Belmond Hospital.

Belmond Leads County Liquor Stores in January Bond and Stamp Sales

A report of the sales of war stamps and bonds by liquor stores in Wright County, released by the Iowa Liquor Control Commission for the months of December and January gives the Belmond store a total of $1680.50 for January and $1171.25 for December. Huntington Describes Life On A 'Corvette'

Says His Job With Navy Is "Rugged Duty"

Earl Huntington, seaman, s. c. who was called to Rapid City, South Dakota, February 28th, on account of the serious illness of his father, O. E. Huntington, visited friends in Belmond Sunday evening and part of Monday on his way back to New York to report for duty.

Huntington has been serving on a "Corvette" which is one of the smaller, lighter type escort vessels, carrying from 70 to 105 men. He describes his job as "rugged duty," and says the "Corvette" is the roughest thing afloat. Earl says, "I am one of those sailors who has chronic seasickness. Every time a storm comes up I divide my time between my bunk and the ship's rail."

Earl was looking well in spite of it all. His blistered sun burn, which he had picked up while on duty in the south Atlantic where the temperature hovered at 90 degrees or more, did look a little out of keeping with Iowa zero and sub-zero temperatures.

Replying to an inquiry about food in the navy, Earl said, "We have the best of everything: ham, beef, chicken and plenty of fresh vegetables. We don't get fresh cream or milk or good fresh eggs." And Earl likes eggs. While here he ate 16 good, fresh Iowa eggs in two days.

"Keeping fit by exercise is no trouble on a Corvette," says Earl. "That little ship rocks and tosses 24 hours a day, just like a cork." "I pity the cooks on these vessels" remarked Earl, "their tall and narrow cooking utensils are bolted to the stoves and though filled only half full the contents are continually splashing over the top.

When asked how the men could shave while on duty, Earl said they just don't for we're hanging on with two hands most of the time, although the old timers get along better than the new recruits.

Henry Johnson replaced C. C. Wenzel as manager of the local liquor store No. 79 the first of March when the Wenzels moved to Del Mar, California. R. B. Piper was hired as second man in the liquor store.

Announce Local Program For World Day Of Prayer

More Pep Please

"Please pep up just a little on knitting mufflers and wristlets," is the request Mrs. G. H. Steele, chairman of Red Cross War Production, makes today. The national Red Cross is urging the local chapter to send in knitting quotas as soon as possible because the garments are needed by the men in our armed services. One quota of knitting is all ready to be shipped with the exception of mufflers and wristlets.

"There is still plenty of work to be done on Kits for Service men," Mrs. Steele states. Although making and filling the kits is a project undertaken by the Junior Red Cross under her direction, much of the sewing and basting needs to be done by town women.

The fire which started from an overheated stove in one of Eide's brooder houses, burned about 20 turkeys and charred the interior of the house.

Spring Isn't Here Yet Says Weatherman

Snow Fall Tuesday Depth Of 8.8 Inches

If anyone had spring fever and was making plans for victory gardens, house cleaning, raking lawns, or lining up the equipment for early bullhead fishing, the snow storm which lasted through the day on Tuesday no doubt changed his mind.

W. H. Dempsey, who gives us weather reports from time to time, says that eight and eight-tenths inches of snow fell on March 9, and that this amount when melted into water measured five and three-tenths inches.

Observers indicated that the ice which had gone out of the river recently, had covered the water again by Tuesday night except for a spot below the dam.

Temperature recordings for the last week are as follows:

Date	High	Low	Prec
March 2	6	-10	0
March 3	31	14	0
March 4	33	18	0
March 5	20	2	0

Service Is Friday Night At Congregational Church

Plans for the program of the World Day of Prayer Service, to be held Friday evening of this week at the Congregational church at 8:00 o'clock, are now complete, the committee in charge announced today.

War Bond Pledges In Belmond Reach $79,305

Urge Those Who Have Not Pledged To Do So Immediately

Reports for Wright County's War Bond Drive are not yet complete, Russell Smith, county war bond chairman, stated today. However, Roy A. Henderson, chairman of the local committee says that $79,305.25 is the total pledged to date in the town of Belmond. Mr. Henderson states, "Belmond is going to fall far short of its quota of $132,000. However, the amount pledged so far is within $5000 of last year's pledges so that we have hopes of reaching the figure which was pledged for 1942."

Anyone who has not been called upon with regard to a war bond pledge is urged to stop at the law office of Mr. Henderson and make such a pledge within the next few days. "It is almost impossible to make contact with every one in town, but no one has been overlooked intentionally," Mr. Henderson remarks.

L. B. Oberhauser, who is in charge of the drive in Belmond, Pleasant, Iowa and Grant townships, has reported that the drive in the rural area has progressed very well.

The quota of Wright County in the 1943 war bond drive is $1,680,800.

YOUR NEWSPAPER IS A NECESSITY—

We are going to take a little time this week to give ourselves a "pat on the back" and tell our readers about some of the services the local newspaper has given them in recent months.

The war has brought about many changes in our living habits. It has long been the custom for some people to keep posted on the news from day to day and week to week. Now it is absolutely essential for all the people to keep posted on some of the news all of the time. We are thinking particularly of war-time rationing, because there is not a family in the country which is not affected by it. In this connection the Independent has been publishing almost every week the ration calendar, which tells its readers when their tickets or coupons for various rationed commodities must be used. Besides this, a couple of weeks ago the Independent carried 109 column inches of important information concerning rationing —a point value chart, consumers declaration form, and a cut on how to use ration book two—an amount equal to $32.70 worth of advertising space. This in addition to news stories about when and where to register, etc.

Your local paper carries up-to-date information about other activities which are part of the war effort —bond drives, Red Cross campaigns, U. S. O., Navy relief—organizations and societies which are each doing all they can to help.

Probably more important than any of these, however, is the news about service men, and it seems as if each week the volume of this news increases considerably. We venture to say that probably no other column or feature is more widely read by Independent subscribers at present than the one we call "with the Boys In Service."

We don't wish these remarks to be taken as a complaint. They are a just a reminder that there is no other medium of news in this community which can take the place of your home town newspaper.

—o—

DRASTIC CHANGES—

George Moore, Director of the Des Moines governmental employment office, states that men of draft age in non-deferable occupations are being referred to war jobs at the rate of between 75 and 100 a day in Iowa.

The armed services of our country have already drawn so many men that communities like Belmond have had to revise their whole plan of living. If, however, the transfer of people from non-essential work to war industry continues at the rate of 75 and 100 a day, it won't be long until the citizenship of every town, city and village will be completely changed.

—o—

WE'RE TOPS—

We have been hearing reports in recent weeks, many of them no doubt purely optimistic prophecies, that the war—or part of it at least— will be over before so very long.

Although we have tried to keep our "chins up" in these trying times, we haven't indulged in any such wishful thinking, because we believe there are still many more months of hard work and hard fighting to do and much suffering and sacrificing yet to be endured.

However, the amazing success of the allied air force in the southern Pacific last week, which destroyed 22 Japanese ships with but a minimum of loss to ourselves, is something more than a boost to American morale. It goes to show that although we may have been a little slow in getting prepared to fight a war we did not want, our men are well trained, their equipment is the best, and their leaders must know what they are doing.

WITH OTHER EDITORS—

Editorial of the Day — From Mason City Globe-Gazette

The general theory appears to be that we, the people, should have everything we want—in war, as in times of peace. If we like a good movie or a rousing game of football, we should be able to see them. If we like a steaming cup of coffee, it should be kept waiting for us at the nearest lunch counter. If we derive our greatest pleasure from a long drive in the country, then the government should see that we are plentifully supplied with gasoline and new tires. If our taste runs to opium no doubt the government should do something about that, too.

A good many people, it seems, have not yet grasped the outstanding fact about 1943: That life-as-usual has ended. That the appearance of prosperity and gaiety during the recent holiday season was only a feverish illusion. That in the months just ahead every civilian activity will be pinched and cramped in order to provide the manpower needed for the war program.

If our morale can't survive without bowl games and pictures starring Victor Mature, then it is pretty poor stuff and hardly worthy of the men who have just finished cleaning out the Jap pillboxes at Buna.

Occupied Europe hasn't been too occupied to go on fighting.—Omaha World-Herald.

We're already missing Hans, here at the office, his presence, his advice and the work that he took care of. He is one businessman that always believed in getting down to the job on time and you could count on it, that when the clock struck 8 a. m. or 1 p. m. he would walk through the door, and be right in the middle of his work before he had his coat off.

P—P

Among the many words of good bye, good luck and be seeing you soon, we liked those especially of Earl Hall, editor of the Mason City Globe Gazette, who said, "my choicest good wishes to George. My prayer is that he'll be coming back before too long, after a most satisfying period of service for his country. The Iowa press needs his kind."

This war has called for adjustments and new schedules of living for millions of us and it has done the same for the force in this office. However, after a few weeks, things will be running smoothly as each one of us grow accustomed to his new job.

Eva has already taken over the management of the front office, supervision of the front page make-up and this week she began soliciting the business firms for advertising copy, with her book full of ideas. There's a capable woman and I know I speak for Wallace as well as myself when I say that we are (one word censored) glad to have her in business with us.

P—P

Also in the office is Gloria Madsen, who, besides her school duties, is finding time to call for local news, take care of the classified accounts, write the 'Way Back When' items and do many other things that help get the Independent to you on Thursday mornings.

P—P

Wallace has a big job on his hands, too, supervising the mechanical part of producing the paper and getting out the job work, together with buying supplies and keeping the linotype running in good order. His many years of experience are proving most valuable to the rest of us, who would have been stopped many times as we came to something new and would have probably done it wrong if it hadn't been for him.

P—P

A treasure all of us appreciate more each week is Sofie Gealow, who probably hadn't touched a linotype for five years and then only for a few hours. To tell how much type she sets each week would be revealing a secret we wouldn't dare reveal in these times with linotpye operators so hard to get, but suffice it to say we're sold on her and her work and thank our lucky stars her home is in Belmond. Operating the machine is her job and because she does it so well, our subscribers are still getting an eight page Independent on time every week.

P—P

As for yours truly, he's been in and around a newspaper office for the past 10 years without doing much of the mechanical work. From now on I've got to learn how to set up ads, make up pages, learn where the cases containing the different faces of type are and what to do when I find them, as well as give Mrs. Hansen as much help as I can in dummying up her layouts. About the only old jobs I'll retain are looking after the subscription department, and running the presses.

P—P

With Barney Dillon, Jr., our devil, to assist with the work in the back shop our force is as complete as it can be without George. Barney does the casting of the cuts, throws in the type, keeps the presses oiled, melts up the metal in the furnace each week, helps with the mailing on Wednesday nights, sweeps out and does a thousand and one other things that always fall to the lot of a devil in any newspaper office, besides, in his case, going to school and keeping up with his studies.

P—P

So now you know the set up and if you find a few mistakes here and there, please have patience for we working and doing our best to give you the kind of a newspaper you learned to expect before our George became a 'Navy Boy.'

P—P

P. S. "One consolation I have about George being in the Navy" remarked Eva, "is that when I'm up at 6 a. m. to feed Jeff, I'll know George is up too.

What We, as American School Children, Can Contribute to the War Effort

Maybe some of us think "This war is for the older folks to take care of, besides, what can I do to help the war effort?" Well, I'll tell you. There are plenty of things for us, as school children to do to help speed our country toward victory

First of all, instead of spending that extra money for that candy or that package of gum why not go to the post office and buy some war stamps? Then when we have some books filled we can turn them into bonds to go to work making money for us. What better person could we trust with our money to than Uncle Sam?

Then too we can help on the farms this summer producing food for war. We can even have our own little victory gardens.

We should try to conserve on paper, pencils, and other school supplies as much as we can. This helps a great deal.

In this war time we must learn to keep our lips buttoned on important war information. The enemy may be listening at all times so let's just keep the war gossip we know under our hats.

I'm sure we, too, can help in collecting scrap as rubber which is vitally needed for planes, tanks, and guns. And why not carry those extra pounds of grease to the store to be turned into bullets from us personally to the Japs?

No, this war is not just for the older folks and the sooner we get this idea out of our heads the better. In the future we will be the leaders of this great nation. What shall we choose between—helping out now or living a life of slavery then?

We finished the book "The Secret Garden" this week. It proved to be very interesting and exciting for all who listened to it.

We are still keeping up our good spelling record. We hope it doesn't drop now with the loss of several of our good spellers.

PIONEER STILL PRODUCING

An apple tree that was growing on the "Hartzell place" near Grinnell when purchased by the Hartzell family in 1877 now measures six feet, eight inches in diameter. Athough half dead, the tree still bears good apples, according to Marion Hartzell, its present owner. The place also retains a fence post fully as old as the tree.

AMERICAN HEROES

Thirty-four days were spent on the open sea in a rubber boat by three U. S. Navy men, Harold F. Dixon, Gene Aldrich, and Anthony Pastula. After enduring torturous days under the blazing sun, and freezing nights, these American heroes were finally rescued. In effect, they were kept afloat by a WAR BOND.

We need lots of these rubber boats, so buy as many War Bonds as you can. You've done your bit; now do your best!

Keep 'em Rolling --For Victory

For Want of a Bolt a Part Was Lost;
For Want of a Part a Machine Was Lost;
For Want of a Machine a Crop Was Lost;
For Want of a Crop an Army Was Lost;

--And we're in this war to Win

The Situation

1 Greatly increased amounts of food must be produced.

2 There will be an even greater shortage of farm labor this year and a shortage of our main labor savers—farm machinery.

3 Besides a great shortage of new farm machines, there are fewer repair parts this year than last year.

4 ALL FARM MACHINES TO BE DEPENDED UPON FOR CROP PRODUCTION THIS YEAR, SHOULD BE CHECKED, AND IF NEEDED RECONDITIONED AT ONCE.

The Solution

1 BEGIN TODAY to check over every piece of Farm Machinery — including tools and implements and note repairs and replacements necessary to completely overhaul and get in order for use next spring and summer.

2 Needed parts should be ordered NOW while dealers have some assurance they can be obtained.

3 Repair as many broken parts as can be repaired.

In ordering repair parts, give name of manufacturer, Model Name or Number of Machine, Serial Number, Year Bought new, and Number and Name of Part. This will save delay.

NO LIVES WILL BE LOST—IF THEY CAN HELP IT: Every merchant ship is now equipped with the most up-to-date life-saving equipment, including completely equipped lifeboats and rafts to take care of the entire crew. The lifeboats are tested regularly, always ready for immediate lowering and supplied with food, water, medicine, pumps, signaling equipment, heating pads and even fishing kits. The merchant marine is taking no chances on losing those men upon whom our expeditionary force depends for food and supplies.

NOW

YOU HAVE SOMETHING TO SELL

SELL

Perhaps it is an old dresser or table that you no longer are using. Or maybe you have an extra stove you don't need, or a set of books you would like to get rid of, it might be something big, like a house or lot, or farm.

Or possibly a cow, horse, or flock of chickens.

Or it could be that you need something and would like to buy it, but do not know where it can be found.

Possibly it is an electric refrigerator, or a length of rubber hose.

Or a good used automobile tire or bird dog.

ALWAYS REMEMBER -- Whatever it is you would like to sell, there is a buyer for it.

And if there is something you want to buy, you can often find a person with that same thing to sell.

His Pigs Go to War

Young Johnny Clay of Rocky Mount, North Carolina, is typical of farm children raising victory pigs and devoting profits to War Bonds.

Farm Youth of U. S. Looks to Tomorrow

TOMORROW'S farmers and farm homemakers are second to no school group in their enthusiasm for investing in War Bonds and Stamps to make sure their future is secure. Through the Schools At War program they are investing what they save and earn in War Stamps and Bonds.

First evidence of this is the amount the 4-H Club boys and girls and the FFA boys invested in war savings in 1942 from "Victory Pig" and other projects. A million and a half 4-H Club members put $6,000,000 of their own savings in War Bonds and Stamps and sold $2,500,000 worth of War Savings to their neighbors. Nearly a quarter million members of Future Farmers of America invested more than $1,500,000.

Spurred by the realization that the financial welfare of farm families the next 20 years depends on how wisely they use today's higher incomes from increased food and other wartime production, both groups have set their goals still higher for 1943.

These farm youths are building financial reserves, and urging their parents to do the same, for after-the-war necessities, to meet financial emergencies and to help them get started in college.

They're building reserves today for tomorrow's farm buildings and for the other things they will need when they're tomorrow's farmers and homemakers.

Ellis Lafayette, son of George and Amanda Burk was born near Rantoul, Ill., on March 7, 1860. He came to Iowa about the spring of 1880 working on the Great Western railroad as it was being built into Clarion.

He farmed where Rowan now stands and helped on the railroad as it was extended farther northeast through the state. Later he moved to Hickory Grove where he met his future wife, Miss Carrie Waltz. They were married on October 6, 1888. To this union two children were born.

After their marriage they settled on a farm north of Belmond. They lived in that vicinity until moving to Belmond 26 years ago.

Mr. Burk was active in the organizing, building and supporting the M. E. church in Goodell until it was disbanded. When he moved to Belmond he united with the Methodist church here and was faithful in attendance until failing health made it impossible for him to no longer attend.

Mrs. Burk passed away on March 8, 1940, after which time he remained alone in the home in Belmond until his son and wife moved from the farm to care for him and thus make his declining years pleasant.

Mr. Burk passed quietly into eternity on Wednesday morning, Feb. 24, 1943, lacking eleven days of being 83 years of age.

He leaves to mourn his departure one daughter, Mrs. Beulah Danielson of Milwaukee, Wis., one son Wilmer of Belmond, two sisters, Mrs. Sam Woolworth of James, Iowa, and Mrs. Emma Kinkead of Santa Monica, Calif., six grand children, seven great grandchildren, other relatives and many friends.

Rev. H. W. Faris, pastor of the M. E. church was the officiating minister, with Rev. Knight of the U. B. church of Goodell aiding in the services. Burial was made in the Belmond cemetery.

HARM L. PALS

Harm L. Pals, son of Lambert and Martha Pals was born the 7th of January, 1893, on the farm east of Belmond. In this community he grew up to manhood enjoying the privileges of attending the public school and the instructions of the church. He was baptized in the Immanuel Reformed church on the 25th of February, 1894 by the late Rev. Reemt Janssen. On the first of March, 1916, he was happily united in marriage to Miss Grace Meinders by the late Rev. E. H. Thormann. This union was blessed with two sons and one daughter, namely, Lambert, Henry and Marjorie. Immediately after their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Pals moved to the farm which they occupied to the day of his departure. Harm Pals seemed to be of a strong constitution and always busy engaged with his farm work so his death came as a shock to this entire community. Last Thursday the aid and the advice of a physician was sought; Friday an operation was undertaken and Sunday evening at 5 p. m. his soul quietly passed away, as we firmly hope and believe to the land of Fadeless day. He thus reached the age of 50 years, 1 month and 21 days.

He leaves to mourn his bereft wife, Mrs. Grace Pals, his children Lambert H. and Florence Pals, Cpl. Henry H. Pals of Fort Sill, Okla., and Marjorie with her mother at home; also by his aged mother, Mrs. Lambert Pals of Meservey and one little granddaughter, Ardith Ann. The following brothers and sisters mourn his untimely departure: Mrs. Dick Barkema, Mrs. Henry Pals, Lambert Pals, Mrs. Clyde Blau, John Pals, Mrs. Dick Dirks, Mrs. Albert Pals, John L. Pals, Dick L. Pals, Mrs. Joy Freeks and Mrs. Ella Harriot. Preceding him in death were his sister, Mrs. Harry Wolters on the 3rd of October, 1915; his father Nov. 1, 1922; and his sister, Mrs. Jake Dorenkamp, on Oct. 31, 1942.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday, March 3rd, at the Immanuel Reformed church, conducted by the Rev. O. G. Poppen and assisted by the Rev. Johann Schmidt of Chapin. Interment was made in the cemetery adjoining the church. An octet consisting of the following members, Ruth Boelman, Viola Suntken, Janet Mennenga, Evelyn Pals, Elaine Pals, Maedeane Mennenga, Hildegarde Gruis and Abbie Doris Bonte sang "Going Down the Valley," "Beautitful Isle," and "The Lord is My Shepherd."

ARE WE COMING TO THIS?

Press dispatches from Estherville reflect some apprehension that a local horse meat packing industry at that place may cause a frm horse shortage in the community. The dispatches stated that from 40 to 50 od horses are sdaughtered there daily to provide food for human consumption. Several carloads of horse meat are shipped weekly, each carload comprising about 45,000 pounds.

SUBSTITUTED FOR GROUNDHOG

Mrs. B. O. Gates who occupies a cottage on the Independence golf club grounds saw a four-foot water snake sunning itself on the course during one of the recent warm days. Thinking it was dead she gave it a poke, and learned otherwise. Mr. Gates was summoned to dispatch the reptile.

STRAIGHT FROM HOME

It is a remarkable coincidence that Waldemar Below, a Hubbard Iowa, soldier-youth stationed at Camp Elliot, in California, should have been issued a blanket ration from a shipment of blankets to the Amy from the Hubbard unit of the Service Mothers Club. The local unit made 44 of such blankets for men in the armed forces.

Learn To Replace Your Fuses Yourself

IT'S ALMOST AS SIMPLE AS REPLACING A LAMP BULB

When a fuse "blows" there must be a reason. Here are the more common causes:

1. Defective Iron Cord
2. Defective Lamp Cord
3. Defective Appliance

The first thing to do then is to disconnect the article that you think caused the trouble.

Next open the entrance switch and examine the fuses. The blown fuse will usually have a darkened top or you can see where the fuse link is broken. Unscrew blown fuse with finger tips and replace with a new fuse. Close entrance switch.

Have the article that caused the trouble repaired.

Second Women's Train'g School Is March 30

For Cooperators Aiding In War Emergency Program

The second series of training schools for the educational co-operators who are aiding in the War Emergency homemaker's program is to be held the later part of this month and the first part of April. It has been impossible to arrange for a Home Demonstration Agent as yet, so this series of training schools will be conducted by Miss Mary Rissinger, newly employed nutrition specialist from Iowa State College. Miss Rissinger assisted with the Victory Garden training meetings held last week. At this meeting she will present the subject matter material on "Breadmaking and Wartime Desserts."

The training schools are held for the Educational Cooperator and the Organization Cooperator for each four square mile district for each fou square mile district in Wright County. As in previous years, under the Home Project program, the subject matter is then taken by the educational cooperator to her homemakers in her own school district. In this way, rural homemakers may obtain the latest information available to assist them in the war emergency program.

Training schools begin at 10:00 and continue until 4:00 p. m. Each person attending this training school will bring a packed school lunch for the noon menu. A hot dish will be prepared at the training center to supplement the cold lunch.

The Grant, Iowa, Belmond and Pleasant townships meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Sam Craigmile in Grant township on Tuesday, March 30th.

She has spoken recently at Grace Church in Waterloo, and on Sunday she has speaking engagements at Clear Lake, Garner and Klemme, before coming to Belmond the following day.

The public is cordially invited to attend. Miss Harvey's talk is reported to be of particular interest at this time because of war conditions in the area about which she speaks.

County War Boards Discuss Slaughtering

Today's Meeting Explains Meat Distribution

A district meeting of County War Boards and the newly appointed County Livestock and Meat Distribution Committees will be held at the Court House in Clarion on Thursday, March 18. The meeting will start at 9:00 a. m.

The purpose of the meeting is to acquaint committee members and County War Boards with the U. S. D. A. Food Distribution Order No. 26 which authorizes the issuance of; (1) permits for slaughtering of livestock for sale; (2) permits for dealers and agents engaged in the purchase and sale of livestock. The County War Boards' responsibility in connection with draft deferment will also be discussed.

Slaughterers covered by the order include: (1) local slaughterers who in 1941 slaughtered livestock with a total live weight in excess of 300,000 pounds and who are not registered as "quota slaughterers" under Meat Restriction Order No. 1. (2) Butchers and all persons other than farm slaughterers who in 1941 slaughtered livestock with a total live weight of not more than 300,000 pounds. (3) Farm slaughterers include all resident farm operators who in 1941 delivered meat from the slaughter of livestock having a total live weight of not more than 10,000 pounds.

Farmers who slaughtered exclusively for home consumption on their farms are not covered by the order. However, farmers are expected to keep records of their sales and purchases of livestock.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Tyrrell, Sr. left Monday for Des Moines, enroute to their home in Beaumont, Texas, after a week's visit in the Wm. Jr. and Preston Tyrrell homes.

A. R. Miller, who has owned and operated the Ben Franklin Store in Belmond since October 1940, sold out this week to two sisters, Mrs. Fred Bowen of Humboldt and Mrs. Otto Fulton of Milford. The new management took over the operation of the store on Tuesday, March 16.

This week, Mrs. Bowen together with Miss Mary Ennis of Humboldt and Dale R. Alter from the Ben Franklin office in Chicago are relaying counters preparatory to the opening sale which will be Saturday, March 27. L. Hunt, another representative of the company from Chicago assisted them on Monday. An ad on this sale will appear in next week's paper.

Tuberculosis X-Rays Scheduled April 1 For 120 County Residents

Approximately 120 county residents will be X-rayed from 9:00 a. m. to 12 noon at the Presbyterian Church Basement, Clarion, Iowa, on April 1, 1943, as a part of the countywide search for unknown cases of tuberculosis now in progress.

The taking of these X-rays follows tuberculin tests made by physicians of the county upon members of families in which a case of tuberculosis has been reported within recent years. Calls have been made in the homes of these patients by Miss Wilma Soehren, R. N., during the past eight weeks.

"The chest X-ray is a step of major importance in the discovery of early tuberculosis," states Miss Wilma Soehren in urging all those eligible for the examination to receive it at the time scheduled.

A number of patients to be X-rayed are those who had an X-ray of the chest last year and it was recommended that another be taken this year.

The Wright County tuberculosis survey is jointly sponsored by the County Medical Society, Christmas Seal Committee, State Department of Health and the Iowa Tuberculosis Association.

Victory Garden Plans Under Way This Week

175 Pounds Is A Lot Of Old Silk Hosiery

175 pounds of old silk and nylon hosiery were shipped from Belmond last week to the Defense Supply Company at Green Island, New York, Mrs. H. L. Gowdy, chairman of Belmond's salvage drive for tin, silk, and kitchen fats, reported today. 175 pounds is a lot of stockings, and it took three large cartons to hold the shipment. This is the amount the women of Belmond have turned in since the early part of January.

Since it is nearing housecleaning time, Mrs. Gowdy is now urging local women to remember to save all the clean tin cans they may dig out and and take them to their grocer, She reminds them again to save waste kitchen fats and discarded hosiery.

Editor Keeps 'Em Stepping In Navy

Word was received recently from George C. Hansen, editor of the Independent and now an apprentice seaman indicates that he is located at Camp Scott, in Farragut, Idaho.

George promised a column on some of his navy life experiences for this issue, but since it failed to arrive in time we can only quote a few lines from his most recent letter. "Today we had a field day, and that doesn't mean a track meet in the navy." "Camp record is 9 minutes, 40 seconds for marching the area—one and one-fourth miles. I am sure we can break it since I am platoon leader, and they will really have to step."

Mrs. Hanson President of Board Of Education

Mrs. A. C. Hanson, who was elected to the Board of Education of the Belmond Independent School District at the election held March 8, was selected by the board as president of that organization for the coming year at a meeting on Monday night, March 15.

None Seriously Hurt In Car-Truck Crash

Accident Occurs Early Saturday Morning

An automobile- truck collision on highway 69 two blocks south of Main street Saturday morning injured Roy Hendrickson of Latimer, occupant and owner of the car and damaged both truck and automobile.

The truck, owned by W. J. Evans of Clarion was bound north with a load of hogs and was not seen by the driver of the passenger vehicle, Clarence Erickson of Rowan, who was reported to be driving away from Perry's Service Station at the time.

In trying to avoid hitting the automobile, Evans, driver of the truck swung across to the west side of the pavement, passing between a light pole and supporting cable, crashed into and broke off another pole and a good sized tree in the Clair Bonte lawn.

Severe damage was done to the front end of the truck and on the right side of the car. Hendrickson received scalp injuries that required several stitches. Sheriff Wilson was called from Clarion to investigate the accident.

Army-Navy Testing Program Held Here

Tests Given April 2 At Local School

Belmond is among the sites selected for a nation-wide Army-Navy testing program for youth from 17 to 22 to be administered April 2 at the local school.

The tests to be given are designed to provide information for both branches of the service to be used in selecting certain students for special training and for classifying others as to their aptitudes.

Eligible for the tests are all young men who will have reached their 17th birthdays but will not have reached the 22nd by July 1, 1943, and who have completed high school or will complete high school this spring.

Candidates taking the tests will have an opportunity to state a preference for Army or Navy services.

For the highest ranking candidates, opportunities for officer training will be given under Navy's V-12 and Army's A-12 plans. Under these plans successful candidtes will be inducted, serve 12 or 13 weeks in basic training, and then be sent to one of the many colleges now serving the armed forces for specialized training.

Hours of testing will be from 9:00 to 11:00 a. m. Friday, April 2. Out-of-school youth interested should contact Supt. Johnson, administrator of the tests as early as possible in order that sufficient materials be on hand.

ELEVEN POUNDS OF FOOD—

The Belmond Red Cross has just completed a very successful war fund campaign, with the people in this community responding so generously to the call that the local chapter has gone way over the top.

Ever since the United States got into this war, Red Cross volunteer workers all over the country have been knitting garments for the comfort of our service men, they have been busy making bandages and other hospital supplies for the protection and welfare of our armed forces; and before Pearl Harbor, the Ameri can Red Cross had shipped millions of dollars worth of clothing and medical supplies to civilian sufferers in war torn countries.

Now the Red Cross has a new project, one which will no doubt do more real good for our men and boys than any other service it has given so far: The American Red Cross plans to send to every American prisoner of war in enemy camps all over the world each week an eleven-pound package of food which also contains soap, chocolate bars and cigarettes.

If the neutral agency of the Red Cross at Geneva, Switzerland, is able to arrange for the guaranteed distribution of such food packages to our men in enemy countries, the suspense and worry to home folks will be somewhat diminished. From all that we have ever heard, prisoners of war in enemy camps are not treat ed in the "American manner," but if our enemies have any sportsmanship about them at all and let the packages of food get through to American prisoners, the 11 pounds of rich, nu tritious American food each week will do much to provide body comfort and build up physical resistance to the hardships of prison life.

—V—

THE SHOCK IS OVER—

By now, folks should have pretty well recovered from the shock they received when they figured their federal income tax returns, and those people who spent long hours, for into the night the last few days helping them with the job may have had a chance to catch up on a little rest and relaxation.

One comforting thought in connection with this whole unpleasant tax business is that the individual burdens, though very heavy indeed, are in reality rather light when compared to the billions of dollars we must spend this year to carry on the war.

Another comforting thought is that the money we must spend in taxes is providing our men and boys in the armed services with the best food, the best living camps, the best medium of protection and the best equipment of any army in the world.

Though not a militaristic country, military life in the United States is claiming more and more men, so that even now there are few families left which do not have someone close to them in their country's service. No wonder people are glad to pay their income taxes, after the first shock is over.

—V—

UNNECESSARY READJUSTMENTS—

Of course, we are glad to have sliced bread again, because we never have been able to carve a smooth, straight slice of bread. But we still can't figure out why someone thought it was important to stop slicing bread at the bakeries, and then very suddenly decide this service to the homemakers could continue. It seems as if the restrictions on bread slicing machines had something to do with the war effort, but we wonder?

The bread-slicing incident is probably only one of many ideas someone puts into effect without first weighing the "pros and cons". Such practices certainly are not efficient either in war times or normal times, and it seems to us that when some of the "big shots" do things on a nationwide basis, they could study out problems and proposals very carefully so as not to waste time, effort and the patience of the people in unnecessary readjustments.

—V—

WITH OTHER EDITORS—

A Greenfield attorney told us this story concerning an Adair county farmer after he had compiled his income tax, which amounted to between $1200 and $1300.

The farmer, after being informed as to the amount of the tax he would pay, remarked to the lawyer:

"I'm glad to pay this tax. If my people hadn't come to this country when I was small I would not have have had the opportunity to accumulate the income on which I am paying a tax this year. This country gave me the opportunities which have come to me and my family. I wouldn't trade one corner of it from the entire country from which I came."

But that isn't all of the story. A day or so after completing his return this same farmer came to the lawyer and told him of a cow which he had forgotten to include in his income tax report. He wanted the tax report revised to include the cow although his income already placed him in the bracket paying a 26 per cent tax.

Here is a lesson in Americanism which native born Americans can take to heart. Are we inclined to undervalue our inheritance? Perhaps we have taken too much for granted.

Income taxes will cut into in comes this year. Taxes will not disappear for a long, long time. But it is better to give here and there than to give all as we would if we were a conquered people. — Adair County Free Press.

Whether or not one agrees with the assigned reason, one has to admire the consistency of James A. Whyte, British seaman adrift on the ocean for fifty-one days. He told a reporter:"No, I didn't pray. I hadn't prayed much before and I didn't think it fair to start just because I was in trouble." Mr. Whyte may be wrong in his logic but certainly he cannot be accused of hypocrisy along the line of "the devil was sick; the devil a monk would be." If prayer is worth what many believe it is its value doesn't diminish in times of well-being.—Northwood Anchor.

President Roosevelt recently said "A free press has responsibilities as well as liberties. It must keep pure the stream of public information, for this is the stream that waters democracy and assures us growth. The free press must fight for the right, conscious always that the greater good is more important than personal advancement or personal profit." — Humboldt Republican.

Now it seems that we are to get more crude rubber from Malaya. The Japs control it and trade it to the Russians. They in turn sell it to us, or turn it in on "lend lease." Japan has millions of tons of natural rubber that they want to get rid of. It is said to be reaching our shores through various leaks.—Clarion Monitor.

—V—

Even though we must pay our income taxes there will still be war bonds and stamps to buy. A person who bought some war bonds a year ago because he felt the urge of patriotism was surprised the other day to find how the interest had increased their value. He said: "I never before thought of profit in connection with interest. Why didn't someone tell me before? How long has this been going on?"Northwood Anchor.

Prittle... Prattle....

That is always a happy bunch at the F. & F. Market or haven't you noticed? At most any time of the day you'll find it just about like this: Ennis is singing while working at the desk, Ben out in the meat preparation room is whistling a tune and the sound meter wavers between high and low as Albert moves whistling or singing back and forth between the front and back ends of the store. Minnie helps keep up the conversation with the customers, while Adela moves about in her own quiet way.

Little Gary Hokel is learning the restaurent business "from the ground up." Just past 10 months old, Gary is keeping a lot of folks amused and busy as he toddles around. Before the yonugster learned to walk, he spent much of his time in a play pen in the restaurant kitchen.

A note from Bob Wallace, stationed somewhere in the Pacific, thanks us for our Christmas greeting and word from Larry Gunderson informs us that he has received copies of the Independent. Larry is also. out in the same area. Words like these renew our faith in the old and dependable U. S. Mail Service for, sans acts of the enemy, our letters, cards, papers, and packages will get through some day and do their share to help keep up the morale.

When a soldier goes to camp in the United States, the commisary puts in stock or storage enough food to supply five civilians. It's like a bride setting up housekeeping. She orders a lot of supplies so she won't have to turn to the delicatessen before each meal.

When a soldier is sent to foreign soil, the commissary accumulates enough food to supply 45 civilians. This food is in storage at central depots and ports all over the United States, and also at the soldier's destination. A never-ending stream of food precedes and follows the soldier. When he's in battle there must be several food depots behind him, in the event the enemy should capture a front base.

P—P

It has been estimated that if we established an overseas army of two million we would have to have on hand here and abroad enough food for ninety million. That's how it is, and that's why civilians have to do without. The figures seem startling but they come from a good source.

P—P

The bride tottered up the aisle on the arm of her father, who was wheeled in his chair by three of his great-grandchildren. She was arrayed in white and carried a big bouquet of white rosebuds; her hair, though gray, was bobbed, and she smiled and nodded to acquaintances.

The groom was able to walk with the assistance of two handsome mahogany crutches. His head was bald, and his false teeth chattered a little nervously.

They were the couple who waited until they could afford to get married.

Corporal Dale Ramsey Marries Clarion Girl

A romance which began in high school days came to a beautiful climax at ten o'clock Saturday morning, March 6, when Miss Mary Jo Salisbury of Clarion, and Corporal Dale Ramsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Ramsey of this city, were married.

The single ring ceremony was read by Rev. Ralph J. Beebe, pastor of First Congregational church at Clarion, in the presence of the families of the bride and groom and a dozen intimate friends. As Mrs. Leonard Cramer played the bridal chorus from Lohengrin the bride, dressed in a princess style floor length, white chiffon dress, wearing a finger tip veil and carrying a bouquet of red roses, entered upon the arm of her father and was given in marriage before a beautiful arbor of entwined arbor vita and red and white carnations.

After the ceremony a four-course wedding breakfast was served at Hotel Moore and then the bride and groom left for a short wedding trip. The bride is now teaching in Waterloo and the groom has returned to his army post in the east.

Pvt. Eugene Johnson who is in training at Clearwater, Florida, notified his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Johnson that he is in the hospital there suffering from an infection in his ankle. At the latest report, however, he has improved somewhat.

Pvt. Howard Stapley, a former local boy in the service of our country, is on duty in the Union station at Kansas City, Mo., where he is handling the troops that come through there. He writes that he took a bunch of fellows below stairs to the restaurant for dinner and among them were two Belmond boys, Tom Greenwood and Bill Stadtlander.

Mrs. Ernest Stapley writes that her daughter, Lois, who attended the Belmond high school has received word from her husband, Rev. Joseph Jenkins, that he is on everseas duty.

Marshall of Glenwood, brother of Miss Harriet Marshall who teaches in Spencer, has been reported missing in action in the north African area since February 17th according to a telegram from the War Department to his parents. Corporal William D. McBride, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Mcbride of Belmond, has completed the two-months course required to qualify him as Instrument Training specialist and has been assigned to duty as instructor in the Goodfellow Field Link Trainer department, it was announced there at the headquarters of Col. Linus D. Frederick, commanding officer.

Corporal McBride was chosen for his technical background, aptitude for teaching and ability to make required grades in rigid ground school courses during his training, said Lt. Henry A. Salm, instrument training officer.

"Down here you can get all kinds of fruits, bananas are 15c a dozen, watermelons two for $1.00, oranges are 30c a dozen and sour. About the only thing I miss real bad is fresh milk, although there are a few other things you have in the states that I miss, too."

"So far I have received two papers from the printing office, one was in December and the other in January which told about me being in the hospital. Well there isn't much more to write about so will close for now."

Cpl. Tech. Marvin H. Meinders, stationed somewhere in Africa, recounts many interesting incidents during his stay in a recent letter home. He states that he witnessed the ruins of an old Roman city several days ago; also that the Arabs were relentless in their efforts to sell anything they possibly could to the soldiers, trinkets, chickens, and eggs (at 6c apiece.)

He states further, however, that they are just as anxious to buy from the soldiers as they are to sell, and that the soldiers often sold them articles of clothing such as shoes, etc.

Another interesting experience to Cpl. Meinders was that of taking a turkish bath which only cost about 30c. He also took a hot spring bath in a room into which the water was run and five or six could bathe at one time.

Perhaps it is an old dresser or table that you no longer are using. Or maybe you have an extra stove you don't need, or a set of books you would like to get rid of, it might be something big, like a house or lot, or farm.

Or possibly a cow, horse, or flock of chickens.

Or it could be that you need something and would like to buy it, but do not know where it can be found.

Possibly it is an electric refrigerator, or a length of rubber hose.

Or a good used automobile tire or bird dog.

ALWAYS REMEMBER – Whatever it is you would like to sell, there is a buyer for it.

And if there is something you want to buy, you can often find a person with that same thing to sell.

Here's What You Can Buy In 194-? With The Money You Invest In Valuable War Bonds Today

One Thing Is Certain This War Will End Someday

And right now America's best brains, ingenuity and imagination are concentrating on turning out "Convincers" that will prove to Tojo and his chums that they made a mistake on December 7th, 1941. American man and machine power has adapted itself with amazing rapidity to the job of getting those "convincers" into the right hands and quick. The War Bonds you purchase are the assurance that ships, guns, planes and tanks will continue to roll off the assembly line. For you are investing your money in American Liberty. And when freedom flies from every flag pole, when American industry does turn from war production to "busines as usual" those pre-war gadgets, displaced in your budget by war bonds, will look rather antiquated. For phenomenal things are develpoing from today's extensive research, plastics have proven metal strong, light and amazingly easy to work with. Nylon when woven into a wool-like fleece is found to be warmer than wool and water repellant. Even some of the ingenious priority list substitutions are excelling the materials they are replacing. So when America lays down arms, our lives will start reading like a novel...only it'll be all the more interesting for those who can take part in Post-War-Progress through the use of War Bonds they buy now.

DO AWAY WITH WAR TIME

Some favor war time, especially the city people, while most of the farmers are against it.

The city people say that war time saves on electricity, but it really doesn't because the farmers have to get up earlier in the morning while it is still dark, and they must have light to do their chores and other work.

The people in the factories work twenty-four hours a day no matter what time they have, and how do we know if the city people really will work in their victory gardens. The farmers have to take care of their live stock and fowls just as well as work in their victory gardens. If they didn't take care of their animals their dear friends in the city would'nt have anything to eat except their victory gardens. Why should we farmers take the back seat and let the city-slickers have their way about war time?

So let's set our clocks back an hour and keep it the way the Lord gave it to us. We should be thankful for what we have. Even the clocks that keep time for us are hard to get because the material goes to the war effort.

Independent Announces Feature Called "With Service Men's Wives"

(Ed. Note)

For several weeks the Independent has been printing a column called "With the Boys in Service" and the interest among the readers has increased so much from week to week that it occurred to the publishers a column with a similar title—"With Service Men's Wives" — might be just as timely and interesting, not only to local people but also to husbands in the service.

The column this week was written from interviews with a few of the wives easily reached on Main Street, and the style is more or less conversational. It is the hope of the pulishers that many contributions will come into the office each week from wives with whom personal interviews cannot easily be arranged.

GUILD SPONSORS "PIED PIPER" AT LYRIC

"Pied Piper" is the movie which is being sponsored at the Lyric Theatre by the Service Guild of the Congregational Church on Thursday and Friday, April 1 and 2.

Monty Woolley heads the cast and is supported by Roddy McDowall, Peggy Ann Garner, Merrill Rodin and several other natural child actors. The movie is a realistic tale of war-torn Europe with the story centering around Monty Woolley, who, as a crochety Englishman, decides to return home from France at the beginning of the Nazi invasion and collects several children, some of them refugees, along the way.

THE UNHOLY CROWN

In Townships Belmond Leads County With $88,119.25

Citizens of Belmond have pledged $97,504.00 in the 1943 War Bond drive, Roy A. Henderson, chairman of the local committee announced today. Other figures released today by Russell Smith, county war bond chairman, include the pledges of four townships adjacent to or near the town of Belmond which total $1,119,142.75.

Total pledges of the individual townships are as follows: Belmond township. which leads the county, $88,119.25; Pleasant township, $72,284.75, Grant township, $53,568.75; and Iowa township, $75,722.50.

"Honorable mention should be given to Oscar J. Hanson, the solicitor for one school district in Belmond township, for the work he did in this drive," Mr. Smith asserted. ',Mr. Hanson's district pledged $20,512.50 which stands head and shoulders above any other district in Wright County."

County chairman Smith does not have a complete report on the whole of Wright County at the present time, but this report should be available within the next week or two.

Referring to the bond drive in the town of Belmond, Mr. Henderson said today, "There are still some people here with whom we have been unable to make contact. I have a feeling that if those people would make it a point to come to my office and sign a pledge, the total of Belmond pledges would be boosted over the $1000,000.00 mark." Mr. Henderson urges anyone who has not already made a pledge to stop in his office and do so within the next few days.

$ 132,000.00 is the 1943 war bond quota set for the town of Belmond.

GEORGE ELIAS GARBERICH PASSES

Legion Auxiliary Aids In Recruiting Women For WAVES and SPARS

American Legion Auxiliary units in Iowa, including Belmond unit number 65, are cooperating with the Navy Recruiting Service in a state-wide drive to offer information and help in the enlistment of women between 20 and 36 who are eligible for service in the Navy's WAVES and SPARS.

Mrs. James Barry is President of the local unit, and Mrs. Claude Thayer has been named as Recruiting Chairman. These women have information about enlistment and introduction cards which will aid interested girls in contacting the nearest Navy Recruiting station. Applications for this area can be made at the navy station in the post office building at Fort Dodge.

With The Boys In Service

Pvt. William H. Luick, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Luick of Belmond, is now taking a course of Army Air Force instruction at Coe College. Upon completion of the course which lasts about five weeks, he will be classified as a pilot, navigator or bombardier and go to schools of the Flying Training Command for training in these specialities.

Pvt. Charles Allison, brother of Mrs. J. M. Lamey, writes this office that he soon expects to be home on furlough from Camp Hale, Colorado, where he is now stationed. He wrote at length about his army life, but because of lack of space, we could not print all of the letter. He states however, that he has been in the army six months and that he likes it very much.

Pfc. Gilbert G. Rowen, formerly of Belmond, has been assigned to be trained as a radio operator mechanic in the new Air Forces Technical school in Chicago, now operating in the buildings formerly occupied by the Stevens and Congress hotels and Chicago's historic Coliseum. The new radio school is one of the Army Air Forces Technical Training command's Chicago schools under the command of Brig. Gen. Albert L. Sneed.

When he completes his training there, Pfc. Rowen may be assigned to the communications section of an Air Forces ground unit in a combat zone, or, after further training as an aerial gunner, will take his place as radio operator in a bomber crew.

The Independent received the following from George C. Hansen which is a copy of a poem written by Rodney Courtney to his mother Mrs. Jim Courtney at Dows. Both George and Rodney are in training at Camp Scott, Farragut, Idaho. Rodney is a nephew of Miss Carrie Courtney of Belmond.

Issue Orders Regarding Slaughtering Permits

Regulations To Insure Even Distribution Of Meat

Blasting at black market operations and to insure even distribution of meat for domestic consumption the Food Administration under Secretary Wickard issued orders effective April 1, 1943, requiring permits for the slaughterer of livestock for sale and permits for dealers and agents engaged in the purchase and sale of livestock. Permits will be issued in Wright County by the Livestock and Meat Distribution committee authorized by the Secretary and appointed by the County War Board. The Wright County Committee members are Aaron R. Bowman, Clarion, chairman; Wallace Meyer, Dows; Dewey Simmons, Clarion; Vern Scheffer, Eagle Grove, and Mrs. Gene Allen, Clarion.

Slaughter Permits

Slaughter permits will have to be secured by March 31st by those who slaughter livestock for sale. Beginning April 1 1943, monthly quotas will be assigned based on the livestock slaughtered by the permit holder during each month in 1941. Applicants for permit must report in his application the livestock slaughtered during each month in 1941 in order to establish quotas. Slaughter for any monthly period may not exceed the quota. In order to qualify for permits, slaughterers and butchers must be operating under recognized inspection service or certify that he has adequate sanitary and other facilities for slaughter. Meat slaughtered under permits must be identified with the permit number assigned on each of the wholesale cuts of meat. Local slaughterers, butchers, or farm slaughterers must collect ration points and make the required reports for all meat sold or transferred.

Butchering For Home Use

Farmers who slaughter animals only for their own use will not have to get permits and will not have to keep any records or make any reports of the livestock slaughtered for their own con-consumption.

Farmers who slaughter animals and sell or deliver the carcass or a portion of the carcass must have permits. They must also collect meat ration coupons for the meat and identify the meat with the permit number.

Purchase and Sale of Livestock

Each person engaged in the handling of livestock as a dealer or agent is required to have a permit. Dealers and agents are required to establish inventories as of April 1, 1943 and keep complete records covering all purchases and sales of livestock. Farmers are not required to obtain a permit to buy and sell livestock providing livestock purchased is kept for at least 30 days. Farmers are expected to keep all records of the sales and purchase of livestock made by them. By means of these orders meat purchased by the consumer can be traced to the producer.

Township Assistance

Township AAA Chairmen will assist farmer slaughterers and butchers and dealers and agents of livestock in filling out application for permits if this service is desired. Their permits will then be sent to the Livestock and Meat Distribution Committee for final servicing. Among the township AAA chairmen are: Belmond Township, Oscar J. Hanson; Blaine Township, Richard Bessman; Grant Township, Jack E. Ketchum; Iowa Township, Clarence A. Whitten; Norway Township, Albert T. Thompson; and Pleasant township, Geod. Thompson.

Victory Garden Section Will Be Out April 1st

Due to the fact that the printers were unable to get the special "Victory Garden" section to the Independent in time for mailing with this week's edition, this publication will not be issued until next week, with the April 1st edition of the paper.

"Red" Ormsby Enforces Laws In Chicago

Spoke Here At Father-Son Banquet

A news story about Emmett "Red" Ormsby which appeared in a recent Chicago Sunday paper was sent to the Independent by Editor George C. Hansen, who read the item at Camp Scott, Farragut, Idaho. Mr. Ormsby is well known in Belmond and is a close friend of Father R. A. Ormsby of the St. Francis parish. Many will remember him as the principal speaker at a father and son banquet held here about two years ago.

Chicago, March 13.—The drunk was almost paralyzed, but he still could feel that firm grip on his shoulder. Turning around he met the stare of Emmett Ormsby.

"I'm going to rule you off the field unless you quiet down," Ormsby threatened.

The drunk started to put in his two-bits worth.

"Yer going out if you open your trap to me" bellowed Ormsby.

All was quiet. Ormsby was as emphatic in the tavern as he had been on the diamond.

That's just one episode in the new life of "Red" Ormsby — an American league umpire for 19 years until he was retired at the close of the 1941 season. Now he's a police sergeant in charge of enforcement of vice and liquor laws in Cook County.

He still calls 'em as he sees 'em, and when he yells "Yer out!" it doesn't mean a drunk has passed out, but is going out to the patrol wagon.

"One time I chased two hoodlums into a saloon after I caught 'em beating up a guy," Ormsby father of 12 children, recalled. "I ran smack into the whole gang. It

New Ration Order Is In Effect March 29

HANSEN BEGINS COLUMN ON NAVY LIFE

Beginning this week on the editorial page, the Independent is printing a column contributed by George C. Hansen, Editor, at present in training at the United States Naval Training Station at Camp Scott, Farragut, Idaho. Hansen has not selected a name yet, so this week the Independent publishers have labelled the column "The Crow's Nest."

Cooking And Water Heating Gas Rate Cut

Is Effective With April 1st Bill

P. A. Stover of the Central States home office at Cedar Rapids and Cecil Carstens, manager of the local office, met with the city council on Monday, March 15 to discuss the lowering of gas cooking and water heating rates for the town of Belmond.

The new rates, decided upon tentatively, will be effective with the April 1st billing and will show a slight reduction of 40 cents for the first 30 therms used over the old rates. The new schedule is on file at the City Clerk's office and will be effective until action is taken by the City Council in regard to the passing of a city ordinance for the same.

The reason why an ordinance is not being passed upon at the present time is that until the new rates have been in effect for several months, it is difficult to determine just what the saving will be over a period of a year. This is information given out by the City Council.

The new cooking and water-heating rates are as follows:

The first 5 Therms or less used per month are $1.25.

The next 5 Therms used per month are $0.20 per herm, the next 20, $0.13; the next 970, $0.05; the next 2,000, 0.035; the balance, $0.03. Minimum monthly bill is $1.25.

Livestock Dealers And Butchers Meet Friday

A meeting of all dealers and agents who buy or sell livestock and all butchers who saughter livestock for sale is called by the County War Board for Friday evening March 26th at the courtroom in Clarion. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock.

The purpose of this meeting is to acquaint the slaughterers of livestock and dealers and agents of livestock with the requirements they will need to meet in order to secure permits under the new Food Distribution Orders.

The Food Distribution Orders become effective April 1, 1943, and application for permits must be made and permits issued before that date for dealers, agents and slaughterers to operate.

Includes Meats, Fish, Fats, Oils and Cheese

The official ration list released the fore part of the week includes a wide variety of foods, including all meats and many cheeses, as well as shortenings and salad oil, butter and margarine, canned fish, and many other items. Although the list is large it will be housewife to do her shopping, according to rationing officials.

All these foods will be rationed with a single set of stamps and only one table of point values will have to be consulted to find out comparatively simple for the how many ration points any of these foods will cost.

The latest rationing program requires no registration of any kind, War Ration Books Two are already distributed and when the program goes into effect, housewives will already have had a full month's experience in the use of their point-ration books in buying processed foods.

One of the few differences between the use of the blue and the red stamps in War Ration Book Two, is the order in which stamps will be declared valid.

Point values that consumers will pay beginning next Monday morning, March 29, for meats, cheeses, fats and oils, and canned fish are shown on the "Official Table of Consumer Point Values" released by the Office of Price Administration, which can be found on page 5 of this issue. Examination of this table, which every seller of the newly-rationed foods will be required to display in his store, discloses that the meats and fats rations are relatively more liberal than therations of processed foods.

When rationing begins on March 29 the first set of red stamps, marked A, worth 16 points, will be valid. Beginning on April 4, and then on each succeeding Sunday through April an additional set of stamps will be validated. All these stamps, from A through E inclusive, will remain in use all month, making a total of 80 points per person for April.

Another difference in the use of the red stamps is that it permits retailers to make "change" in ration stamps when a customer finds it impossible to give the exact amount in valid red stamps when making a purchase. Only one-point red stamps of any series currently valid may be used for this purpose. Customers must use the stamps they receive in change by the end of the month in which they are issued and before they expire, just as they must use the stamps in their own books.

As red samps are declared valid, they may be used with complete freedom of choice by the housewife to buy any one, or any combination, of the foods for which they must be surrendered.

Point values for the entire list of foods rationed will be the same in every retail store in the country, just as they are for canned

In The Air Over Africa

Banning Gives Opinions Of Fighters On War Front

The following are excerpts from letters received recently by Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Banning of this city from their son, Lieutenant Richard Banning, who is a first pilot with the Air Force and who has seen action in the African campaign.

"It is a relief to get out here where something is being done instead of spinning our wheels, 'so to speak' back in the States. Don't care much for the native population but can't do much as they they were here first.

Don't believe anything you hear about the French being quitters. What contact I have had with thei officers leads me to believe they are darn good fighters.

Our food, while not as good as we got in the states, is sufficient, and all in all there is less griping than there was at home. Everyone wants this to end soon so we can get home again!

I used to think that it would be very nice to travel all over the world, but even though I've been lots of different places, there is no place like the United States.

There is only one thing I don't like about this place. They make you sit on the ground and do nothing between flights. If we could fly every day I would feel a lot better. It's nearly as bad as waiting for a basketball game to start. I am still flying in thosse same ships that we used in the States—B 17. Perhaps you will hear of some of the missions I've been going on in the paper. I am in a crack outfit. We think it is the best. I am taking good care of myself but I can notice that there is a nervous strain around here. Wonder why? Could it be that being shot at has anything to do with it

The officers help the mail officer censor mail at times when we are waiting for something to happen, and about all the enlisted men say is that they still love the girl friend and want to get back to the States.

The war goes on and on and where it stops no one knows. We hope it will go our way and I think it will. The days go by rather fast and we have plenty to do.

Some day we will come back and be able to tell in true American style how we would have fought the war if we were in charge of it."

VICTORY GARDENS—

There is no reason why the people of Belmond should be put to any great hardship on account of the point rationing of canned goods, particularly in the vegetable line.

Already a local committee is working on the distribution of up-to-date information about the most satisfactory foods which can be raised here, as well as advice on how, which, where to plant and when.

The town of Belmond isn't so crowded but that each family which desires to do so should be able to secure adequate garden space, not only to raise vegetables for all summer's use but also enough to preserve for the winter months later on.

Furthermore, our mayor is making it his business in cooperation with the Victory Garden Committee, to find garden space for families who do not have room to plant in their own back yards. All you need to do is let him know your needs, and he will help solve your problem.

UNLIMITED OPPORTUNITY—

James Francis Byrnes, 63, director of our economic stabilization is said to be one of the best examples of democratic living that can be found in the United States today. Active in Washington affairs since 1910 when he first won a seat in Congress, he has been steadily accepting more and more responsible jobs in running our government's business.

The fact that he was one of those boys born on the wrong side of the tracks did not seem to hinder his progress from office boy to reporter, attorney, editor and successful and conscientious politician.

In spite of opinions frequently voiced to the contrary, America is still a country where unlimited opportunity is available for those who wish to grasp it.

EARL HALL IS HEARD SUNDAYS—

Readers of the Mason City Globe Gazette will be interested in following the new Sunday feature of the KGLO broadcasting station called "One Man's Opinion" which started last Sunday and which is a radio program given over to comment on world events and problems by Earl Hall, editor of the Mason City Globe - Gazette.

Those of us who know Earl Hall will welcome hearing his opinions expressed over the air. Those who have not had the privilege of his acquaintance will soon look forward to his program at 1:30 every Sunday afternoon.

POULTRY HOTEL—

It takes the folks in the good old state of Iowa to think of something new. Just now we are referring to the five story insulated poultry hotel operated by Earl Geiger on his farm near Brooklyn, Iowa. Talk about convenience for the chickens—we would call it luxury ourselves—those leghorn hens and pullets who live there have everything to work with for maximum egg production; sun lamps, which turn on automatically at 5:30, running water and an electric elevator.

Geiger's 1000 hens and pullets are laying 3600 eggs each week in modern nests. The hotel has a capacity of 1400 so that figure will no doubt climb considerably in the future.

More farmers with the ingenuity of Mr. Geiger will do much to solve the problem of war-time food shortages and, incidentally, at the same time will be feathering their own nests.

Where Salary Limit Will Hit Hardest

It is said that 80 per cent of those affected by the new $25,000 salary limit order are affiliated with the movie industry. The new decree apparently removes the holly from Hollywood.—Manly Signal.

Let's Do It With a Smile

If going without an extra cup of coffee, another helping of meat or having our shoes re-soled will help win the war quicker, let's all do it with a smile and a feeling of gratefulness for the privelege of having a small part in backing up our brave boys who are fighting in the front line trenches for our safety.—Garner Leader.

One Pair of Shoes in Three Years

Three pairs of shoes a year per person ought to be plenty. The editor hasn't had a new pair in three years and with a little more patching his two old pairs will carry him through another year or two. That's what our shoe dealers get for selling such good quality shoes.—Webster City Freeman Journal.

The Day's Most Discussed Subject

Swea City Herald: Wherever two or more gather the talk is about income taxes.

It's on again, off again, with the thirty-eight-year-olders. And these rapid changes are surely a headache for the local selective service boards. If there is a war activity board in the country that deserves the sincere thanks of the people more than the members of the selective service board it would be hard to find it. They serve without pay while the jump-in-jack classification changers draw down a big salary.—Hampton Chronicle.

The man with the hoe can make a greater practical contribution to the cause this year than anyone else. Even more than for Victory, in this instance, the emblematic "V" would stand for Vegetables. — Burlington Hawk-Eye Gazette.

:-The "Crow's Nest"-:

To Independent readers in Belmond and Community:

Beginning this week, I am going to try to contribute some of the highlights of my navy experiences for the information of Independent subscribers who may be interested. In so far as possible, I shall try to make this a day by day account of my activities at camp, the things that impress me or appeal to my sense of humor.

March 11. There are plenty of funny heads around here. This afternoon the 117 men in our company went to the barber shop. Five barbers turned us out in 68 minutes. I timed the barber and it took him just 19 seconds on me.

March 12. The Rocky Mountains and the snow-trimmed pines are really beautiful in the morning. Believe me I know because we "hit Deck" this morning at 4:30.

March 13. This camp is located in what used to be nothing but wilderness. It is right down in a valley with the Rockies all around.

March 14. Going to bed at 9:00 p. m. really is good for us. Nine hours of regular sleep certainly puts you in condition.

Mrach 15. Wednesday the Admiral of the Navy is going to visit Camp Scott, and that means inspection, so tomorrow is clean up.

Here is a little poem which I clipped from the "Deep Sea Echo," published aboard the U. S. S. Indianapolis, which seems to express pretty thoroughly the feeling of most Navy men.

"I'm writing this short letter
And every word is true.
Dont' look away, draft dodger,
For it's addressed to you.
You feel at ease, in no danger,
Back in the old home town.
You cooked up some pitiful story
So the draft board would turn you down.

You never think of real men,
Who leave their home day by day.
You just think of their girl friends
That you get while they are away.

You sit at home and read your paper.
You jump and yell "We'll win."
Just where do you get that "we'll" stuff,
This war will be won by men.
Just what do you think, draft dodger,
That this free nation would do,
If all men were slackers
And scared to fight like you?

Well, I guess that's all, Mr. Slacker.
I suppose your face is red.
America's no place for your kind,
And I mean every word I've said.
So I'm closing this, draft dodger,
Just remember what I say.
"Keep away from my girl,
For I'm coming back some day."

With Service Men's Wives

Mrs. Gordon Kessler stopped at the Independent Office on Saturday. Corrine has started helping out at the Post Office part-time, particularly last week during pheasant season so that Hoyt and Bob could do a little hunting. She says, "The only thing which worries me just now is that the baby wants to suck her finger." She would appreciate it very much if Private Kessler would send her some good advice on how to correct his infant of the habit.

A reminder she would like to send her husband is to have him send two pictures of himself in uniform, one for herself and one for the picture gallery at the Independent office. 'It is too bad, Gordon," she says, "that you and 'Soupy' Cramer are in the same camp and haven't yet had a chance to see each other."

S. M. W.

Mrs. Albert Schmidt has been "busy as a bee" running her husband's insurance agency since he has been away. Her remarks include the following: "We have problems which come up every day that puzzle us, and would give a lot if we could just talk things over with Albert." Our customers are very cooperative with me, and that makes my new work a lot easier."

Asked if she had been doing anything recently in the way of recreation or relaxation, she replied, "Just a lot of good hard work, and it sure helps to keep the chin up."

S. M. W.

"Being able to come over to Belmond and see my friends here frequently has been a life-saver to me since "Soupy" left in January" is the reply of Mrs. Wallace Cramer to our inquiry. Marion has been helping in the Nickle Nook this week. She has been dividing her time between Belmond and the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rohn, in Swaledale.

Marion says "Since I am forgetting how to do house work, I am sure glad to know that 'Soupy' is learning that art."

One thing that causes Marion considerable trouble is her automobile. She says "I keep forgetting to do the necessary things which 'Soupy' always took care of, such as changing oil, adding water and having the battery checked."

In spite of everything Marion looks on the sunny side and is sure the war is going to be over before too long.

Prittle... Prattle....

Every once in a while we run across someone who has a hobby and this time it is that of Ed Bailey, Belmond's waterworks superintendent. If you haven't visited the city waterplant in the last year you haven't seen the flowers Ed is raising in the south windows of the second floor.

P—P

Belmond's waterworks gardener discovered last winter that the humidity and temperature in the building seemed to be conducive or tropical enough for flowers and now keeps his neighborhood supplied with bouquets of begonias and petunias. . . . .

P—P

It is a miracle to me how the daughter, who has whooping cough, can whoop it up at night and be so cheerful and full of pep the next day. Just the other a. m., after an especially strenuous night, for her parents anyway, she rolled out of bed, put on her daddy's sweater and hunting cap and paraded around the house reading Dagwood.

P—P

Now that the shock of learning how much income tax you must pay for 1942 has worn off, you might see the humor in this suggestion by someone that the government could put out a form shorter than 1040, one with just three questions.

Question A: How much did you make?

Question B: How much did you have left?

Question C: Send in item B.

P—P

We hope this week to introduce in the Independent a new column, "With the Wives of the Men In Service." Along with the column we introduce a new member to the Independent staff, Mrs. Robert Smith, whose husband has just started army life.

P—P

It is this writers' prediction that the new column will grow on our readers just as the column of news about service men has. It is going to be written along the conversational style by Mrs. Hanson and Mrs. Smith who will get their material from our readers whose husbands are in their country's armed services.

P—P

Eva and Louise will know what things, no matter how insignificant, husbands will want to know and we suspect, the column under their supervision, will smack of a flavor of home life as is, since daddy went away, of stories about things that go on in the every day life of the one and only woman he left behind. Here's to our new companion on this page and may you, our readers enjoy it, but most of all we want those of you in the armed services, wherever in ahe armed services, wherever you may be to enjoy it most of all.

P—P

If you want to become a flier in the navy, are 17 years old and graduated from high school or in the upper-half of your senior class and 17 years of age then investigaae "V-5," the Naval Aviatic Program for high school seniors. Your high school principal or the superintendent of school's office is a good place to go for information.

YOU CAN'T LET EQUIPMENT STAND IDLE WHEN

FOLKS NEED FOOD

We-ve got a boy in the service and that's the way we look at it!

They don't shut down the plane factories after they turn out one batch of planes and we don't aim to close up our brooder house either. We're going to keep putting chicks through it.

That way you don't need more equipment to raise more chickens.

There's a man who has the right idea! Don't try to crowd too many chicks into the house at once. That only gets you into trouble. Raise TWO BUNCHES and order the second bunch NOW.

Remember that every pound of food you can produce will be needed. You can't produce too much and you're sure of getting a good price for all the chickens and eggs you can bring us!

PTZ IS A POWERFUL WEAPON AGAINST SHEEP WORMS

● PTZ, our phenothiazine worm remedy, is highly effective against six species of worms. It expels more stomach worms than the average worm remedy and its active ingredient, phenothiazine, is the only drug known to be effective against nodular worms.

PTZ is available in two forms for treating sheep. These are PTZ Pellets and PTZ Drench. An important feature of either of these is accuracy of dose. Careful dosing is essential in worming sheep.

Victory speeds out of the night

To lonely watchers it may seem just another train speeding through the night.

Just another train? Hardly! Today there's no such thing on the ROCK ISLAND LINES right-of-way. For our trains haul the products essential to victory; carry, too, the men who fight so that some day the nations of the world may be at peace.

This has been our job ever since the call "To Arms!" was sounded —and will be our job until America's foes are vanquished.

Battles are still to be fought—battles on the transportation front no less than battles on some far-distant alien shore.

But courage and resourcefulness were ever American traits. They help our fighting forces to overcome the enemy, just as they help the railroads to do the seemingly impossible in transporting vital man power and the equally vital materials of war. And of great help, too, is the splendid cooperation of patrons.

That train speeding through the night is a harbinger of the peace that is to come. Whether or not it carries the ROCK ISLAND symbol means little—all of America's railroads are united in this war-to-the-finish. We of the ROCK ISLAND are happy that we are privileged to have a part.

Victory will speed out of the night . . . into a dawn of peace.

wasn't so much different than being ganged upon in baseball, so I just stuck out my chin and defied 'em. I was lucky, nothing happened."

A marine hero of the last war, Ormsby suffered injuries which forced him to give up his pitching ambition and turn to umpiring.

"I feel fine now," he said, nearly popping the brass buttons from his chest. "This is a cinch compared to umpiring. I had 50,000 fans trying to get my scalp in the ball park—and one of 'em did in Cleveland with a pop bottle on the head. But in a night club or tavern I only have about 150 to contend with."

His box score, which has drawn praise from the sheriff, shows 50 arrests without an assist.

FOR THE FAMILY

On the site of the first school building in Bremer county, the present 75-year-old Jackson school building is still being used for school purposes. Eighty-six years ago, a long building was constructed, rude desks were built in—one along the north wall and one along the south—where the pupils faced both walls. At that time, each farmer in the community paid his share of the cost, according to the number of children sent from his family. The original building burned 12 years later, and a modern building was constructed and is still in use. The great-grand parents and parents of many of the present pupils have attended school at the Jackson school.

Well, here is an almost unheard of exception; we actually had three or four out to morning worship who were going to Sunday dinner after church. Raise a VICTORY GARDEN

Eat What You NEED— and Stock Up for Winter!

• A food shortage in the U. S. A.?

It won't happen here if we all grow Victory Gardens. It takes a lot of hard work to have a good garden, but you will be rewarded with fresh vegetables on your table all summer—and a supply of canned goods on the pantry shelves next winter.

Grow the vegetables you won't be able to buy at the corner grocery. Plan a garden of your own or join up with your friends. Everybody will be gardening. If you had a Victory Garden last year, have a bigger one this year. And be sure to ask us about International Harvester's 84-page booklet, "Have a Victory Garden." It's a honey!

BE SELF SUFFICIENT HOME CANNING WILL ALLOW YOUR BROTHER IN THE LARGE METROPOLITAN AREAS TO EAT, TOO.

Guaranteed SEEDS and Plants

IT WON'T BE NECESSARY

No, you don't have to build a hotbed or cold frame to be assured of a plentiful supply of extra strong vegetable plants, as we have been planning your garden needs for several months Now we already have thousands of plants started and each week sees this supply growing in great quantities.

DON'T RUSH

If you are one of the new Victory gardeners, don't rush out the first warm day and plant seeds promiscuously—this is not only wasteful, but will end in disaster. Carefully lay out your garden plot and plant adequate of everything, but don't waste seeds, they are scarce this year due to the many new gardeners Plant your taller crops to the north side of the garden to avoid shade.

DON'T BE A TOOL HOG

This doesn't need enlarging on a great deal. If your old hoe will still do the business don't buy a new one—the new gardener next door may need it.

YES YOU CAN

You can have all the commercial fertilizer you need for your vegetable garden, according to the latest word from Uncle Sam, but it's not the proper etiquet to try to make the grass grow greener or the flowers bloom a little larger this year. This won't be much of a problem to us folks in the middle west, however, as barnyard manure is still the best and surest.

What We Can Do To Help Win The War

There are many, many things that we can do to help win the war. We dont' know it, but just about everything we do might mean victory or defeat for our troops in all parts of the world. If we want victory we must work and work hard for it. It isn't going to hurt us to go out and dig around in our garages, attics, basements, and back yards for old scrap iron and rubber. At first when the sugar rationing started, the people starter to grumble and make a fuss but now when they know it is for a good cause, they stop to think before they start to grumble. It isn't going to hurt us to give up our shoes if it means some soldier or sailor will be using them on the fighting front. Young boys in the past liked to drive their cars fast but after gas was rationed they acted more sensible and drove slowly and there were less accidents. So you see you can help win the war by stopping our grumbling and stopping fast driving. Mothers have just as much to do as anyone else about winning the war. She sees to it that she or anyone else doesn't throw any grease away, but she saves it and gives it to her butcher or whoever takes it. But most of all, we shouldn't just put 10 per cent of our earnings a week in war bonds but put in so much that it hurts. Every dime or dollar means getting closer to defeat for the Axis.

CELEBRATES 88th BRTHDAY

Mr. Osbon Young passed an important milestone last Saturday, March 20. In fact, he might have jumped right over it, because he is now "eighty-eight years young," and no pun is intended.

If a roof needs fixing, or storm windows need to be removed, Mr. Young can climb a ladder just like that. He must'nt do it however.

His friends and relatives showered postcards and letters upon him, but he took them in his stride. Some of his children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren spent Sunday evening at his home, and that sort of thing helps to keep Mr. Young young, especially when they feed him cake.

Exams For Army-Navy Training Are Tomorrow

Tests To Aid in Choice Of Officer Material In High Schools

Prospective students for the Army Specialized Training Program and the Navy College Training Program will take qualifying examinations in the auditorium of the Belmond school at 9 a. m. on Friday, April 2, Mr. Johnson, Supt., announced today.

"Most boys accepted for either the Army Specialized Training Program or the Navy College Training Program will eventually become commissioned officers in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard" Mr. Johnson said. "The Army and the Navy will pay all expenses at the colleges of students selected on the basis of the tests on April 2. Since there will be no further tests for some months, all high school students or recent graduates will have to take the April 2 examinations to qualify for this training. This is an excellent opportunity for every ambitious boy, especially for those who are likely to be drafted within the next year."

The purpose of the tests is to aid in the selection of prospective officer material for the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard. The examinations are designed to test the aptitude and general knowledge of the candidates who will express a choice for the Army or Navy at the time of the examinations. Those who are selected for either the Army Specialized Training Program or the Navy College Training Program will attend college with all expenses paid by the respective services.

Masons Serve Brothers In Armed Forces

Local Lodge Has Six In The Service

An interview with C. I. Williams, secretary of the local Masonic lodge, King Solomon number 210, reveals information about services to Masonic brothers in the armed forces of this country by the Grand Lodge of Iowa as well as other states.

When a Mason enters the armed services the local lodge sends his first address to the Grand Lodge of the state in which he has permanent residence, and then the address is kept up to date in the Grand Lodge files as the service man moves from one place to another.

As soon as it is possible to do so a field representative of the Masonic lodge calls on the brother in service, for the purpose of bringing him cheer and good will and a feeling that the Masonic brotherhood is constantiy interested in his welfare. In some crowded camp areas, the lodge has even gone so far as to provide recreational centers for Masonic brothers in the service.

The announcement read as follows: The La Junta Army Flying School of La Junta, Colorado announces the graduation of Class 43-D Monday morning, April 12, 1943 at nine o'clock in the Post Theatre.

Staff. Sgt. Marvin A. Lauen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert J. Lauen, of Belmond is now stationed at South Plains Army Flying School in Lubbock, Texas. "Five sailors and I have to clean a barracks every day," writes Johnnie Steinwandt, who is at the U. S. Naval Training Station in Farragut, Idaho. "We get through in about an hour and the rest of the time we lie around and listen to the radio. In the afternoon we come back and do it over again whether there's dirt or not."

Johnnie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Steinwandt of Belmond has finally learned to swim. "If my ship gets sunk" he says, "I'll swim across. When I get tired swimming I'll walk around on the bottom."

"I feel pretty sure of getting a school after I leave here. All the trade schools want men from Farragut, because they're trained more strictly than in any other camp. Men are sure coming in right and left. This camp is about filled and yet they keep coming. There's sure a lot from Iowa. Now we're about ready to graduate in two weeks since the bunch I came with are the first to come from my home state.'

"There's one sailor in the next barracks to ours from Belmond who enlisted in Waterloo. He is Jack Jacobson and is related to Milt Ramsey's."

"Last night after we got off work we had to hurry and take a shower and change clothes to go to some show. We were the honored company in this regiment. In the show there was one Russian who sang some Russian songs and

How to Shop for Meats and Fats with Red Stamps

Shopping with your red point stamps will be easy if you remember a few simple rules.

You already have War Ration Book Two; you need not register again or declare how much of these foods you have on hand. But when rationing begins remember that:

1. Red Stamps may be used for any of the foods rationed in the Meats and Fats Program. The same stamps are valid for meat, cheese, butter, canned fish, margarine, etc.
2. The point value of each item is set on a pound basis. But the amount of any food your points can buy will depend on whether the item you choose has a high or low point value.

How to Shop

1. First study the "point values" of the foods you buy most often. To help you, you'll find a "Point Value Table" hung up in your food store. Or, better yet, you can clip a meats and fats "Point Table" from your newspaper and keep it handy.

2. Take War Ration Book Two with you when you shop for meats, cheese, or any of the other items, just as you do now when you buy canned, frozen or dried fruits, and vegetables. Tear the Red Stamps out in the presence of your storekeeper or his delivery man.

3. If you find you do not have the exact amount of valid Red Stamps to give for a purchase, your storekeeper can give you your change in "1-point" stamps. For example, if you must give him a 5-point stamp to pay for a 4-point purchase, he can give you a 1-point stamp as change. But he cannot use the 2-, 5-, or 8-point stamps as change. Make sure, however, that the "1-point" stamp has a letter on it which is valid at the time you receive it.

4. Your storekeeper cannot always cut meat or cheese to the exact pound weight you wish. That means you must know how many points you should pay for ounces, too. A special table has been provided on the Official Table of Consumer Point Values for just such cases. This table breaks the point values per pound down into ounces. If one of your purchases has an ounce value of less than half a point you do not have to pay an additional point. But if it is one-half point or more, your retailer can collect a full point.

5. Budget your points.—Spend Red Stamps carefully. Make them last for the entire ration period. When you receive "1-point" Red Stamps as change, use them the next time you shop, if possible, and be sure that they don't expire unused.

6. Remember, you still use the Blue Stamps for processed foods and stamps from War Ration Book One for sugar and coffee. No change can be made in Blue Stamps.

HOUSEKEEPING PROBLEMS.

Who would have thought ten years ago that the homely art of housekeeping would assume such intricate patterns as it has today? Even the new bride, with only herself and husband to cook for, has more to do nowadays than learn "how to boil water without burning it." She must carefully study the numerous and complicated charts on rationed fruits, vegetables, meats, oils, etc. for more reasons than a means of living within a budget. That is of secondary importance She must absolutely understand point values and figure them out conscientiously if she is able to supply her family with the minimum requirements of a daily diet.

Furthermore, she must not only learn the charts once. She must watch the newspapers from day to day, because even now, with point rationing in effect but a short time, point values on certain foods are being changed.

FOOD DISTRIBUTION PRESENTS PROBLEMS.

When the specter of food shortage looms over the family dinner table, the immediate conclusion is now drawn that something is wrong at the production end of the food industry, for the reason that the problems of the farmer have at last reached the headlines for all to see.

However, the problems of processors and distributors of food are equally critical.

Retail food distribution is in danger of collapse. Retailers have reported that employe turnover has reached 500 per cent a year. Loss of manpower is acute and is largely attributable to the "work or fight" order of the government, the "raiding" of key employes by the United States Employment Service, and to the draft. Because food distribution has not been declared essential, many men have felt morally bound to look for jobs in "essential" industry. The resultant impact on the operating efficiency of organized retail distribution, has been staggering.

It would be tragic indeed if food, once produced, failed to reach the tables of consumers. Yet, that is exactly what will happen if the distribution industry is crippled Approximately 85 per cent of the total volume of food distribution is handled by the organized food distribution system calling for highly trained personnel. This system is composed of proprietary chains, supermarkets, retailer-owned wholesale cooperatives, retailers affiliated with voluntary groups, and large individual retailers. It is the backbone of retail distribution. Without its support, price and rationing regulations and inflationary controls would become virtually unenforceable. Without its continued efficient operation, millions of people would go hungry even if every farm in the country produced to capacity.

There is no choice. The food industry, from farm to merchant, must be freed of red tape and given the necessary skilled manpower to get food into American homes — or American homes will go without food.

"CASH" vs. "CHARGE ACCOUNT" TAXES

On March 15, our people felt the full effect of wartime taxation when millions of individuals filed Federal income tax returns for the first time.

Congress is struggling with various plans for simplifying tax collections. The theory of the Ruml plan which would cancel 1942 taxes and have 1943 taxes paid in monthly installments from current income, seems to be the only simple and workable method presented. Congress, after considering all substitute measures, seems to inevitably drift back toward that plan. The government would lose no current income because 1943 taxes would be paid in 1943 instead of 1942 taxes being paid in 1943.

One hundred or one thousand years from now, if government suddenly ceased to exist, there would be an old 1942 tax that was not paid. In the meantime, however, the government would probably gain many more dollars from "cash" collections on current income, than it would by its old tax "charge account" and bad bills.

It is the duty of Congress to make tax collections as easy as possible on the people. Instead of keeping them constantly in debt for taxes, put them on a cash basis.

Governor Hickenlooper demonstrated his aggressive leadership in arranging the conference of governors of mid-western agricultural states. Eight were present. Their discussions centered around the nation's food problems. President Hoover, who was food administrator during the last war, was present to give the conference the benefit of his experience and his knowledge of world wide conditions. The governors pointed out the conditions and policies which are tending to retard food production. This conference gave the entire nation a clear view of the man power and machine power condition in the nation's bread basket and it is a safe prediction that action will be taken which will insure record breaking production of food this coming year. — Eagle Grove Eagle.

With Service Men's Wives

We stopped in at the Nickel Nook Saturday morning to see how Mrs. Ted "Nete" Behrends was getting along. She was just taking some hot, juicy pies out of the oven which smelled temptingly good. Nete is doing what a lot of other service men's wives are doing, just keeping busy while friend hubby is away. Just now, after her work is done at the Nickel Nook for the day, she is sewing, getting her wardrobe all lined up for spring, if and when it comes.

Private Behrends, who is at Keesler Field in the state of Mississippi, writes his wife that he cant' imagine snow at home this time of year. He admits that he misses her and home very much but says, "I stop feeling sorry for myself when I see these men who have left little children. It is a lot harder for them."

Ted who has been made a first class shoe repairman with the air force, expects to be transferred soon, and his wife is looking forward to a time in the near future when she can join him.

S. M. W.

Before leaving the Nickel Nook, Mrs. George Jenison came in carrying a new mail order catalog. Says Margaret, "Oh boy! No more lonely nights." O course we thought she meant she was going to spend lonely hours wearing out the pages of M. Ward, but we soon learned differently because she probably won't even have time to peek inside the cover page. Margaret was just getting ready to leave Saturday night to catch a west-bound train from Ames to Denver, Colorado, where her husband Private Jenison is stationed at Buckley Field. She expects to make an extended visit there.

About a week ago Margaret parted with four little cocker spaniel puppies, six weeks old, the family of her dog, Rags, because it would be quite a job to take them to Denver. The puppies are at home for the present at the Stromer Kennels. Friday evening she stopped there to see them and was surprised to notice they had doubled their size in just a week's time.

Margaret says, "About the only thing I have done for recreation since George left is play cards with Marion Cramer and Nete."

S. M. W.

Mrs. James Waddington, whose husband left for service in January, started working soon after that in the First State Bank taking the place of another Belmond service man, Luin Cox. Dorothy says, "Having a job surely helps out a lot at a time like this."

She is fortunate in living near her mother, Mrs. Pete Barendregt. They are really living together after a fashion since Dorothy eats her meals with her mother, and Mrs. Barendregt goes to Dorothy's apartment to sleep at night.

:-The "Crow's Nest"-:

By George C. Hansen, A. S.

March 16

I don't remember if I mentioned about our camp. It is located in a valley with the Rockies on the north and east side. It really is beautiful with this snow. The temperature is about like Iowa, but during the day it gets warm. In fact I got a sunburn.

C N

March 17

I surely would like to have seen Patty(Geo.'s pet Boston Bull dog) when she made a bed in the pile of clothes I sent back home from here.

C N

March 18

I think Monday we take our swimming tests, must swim 75 yards or else. That is a MUST, and we have about 15 of them before we graduate.

C N

March 19

We had our our double shots for typhoid today, and my right arm is getting very sore. Tomorrow is inspection, and I have some laundry to do. I guess I had better get at it.

C N

March 20

Just finished my washing and I had nine pieces. Oh Boy! Can I wash clothes. We got up at 5:15 and mopped the deck, and had breakfast by 7:00 o'clock.

C N

March 21

I woke up this morning with a really stiff neck. Must have caught cold and slept wrong on it. I wish Doc were here to rub it out.

I enjoyed the church service this morning—the Chaplain is a southerner and is very modern in his ideas. The whole service doesn't last over 45 minutes.

March 22

While we were drilling this morning someone wrote on a kid's bunk "To Hell With the Navy." Now the whole company is on the "(word omitted) Detail." At six o'clock tonight, we start to scrub the deck until nine tonight—get up at three in the morning and start in again. That will contiue until 5:00 tomorrow night. If the guilty person hasn't confessed by then we start scrubbing on our hands and knees, and that isn't easy. It seems to me that those who join the Navy should act like men, not like 6 year olds.

C N

March 23

Well, the boy confessed to the writing on the bunk. Therefore, company 153-43 still has a clean slate. The penalty issued is 2 hours on and 2 hours off guard duty for three days. That is plenty severe, but the kid can thank his lucky stars the punishment wasn't worse. All this goes to show how one person can mess up a whole company. "A chain is no stronger than its links."

Prittle... Prattle....

For what it is worth to prospective parents, this column is glad to pass along the information that there is a man in this town who claims to be quite an expert in predicting for his friends the sex of the expected infant. We refer to C. C. Christie, whose pretentiousness in picking the sex of your unborn infant is still 100% to the best of our knowledge. When Chris says it is going to be a boy, don't bet against him.

P—P

So far we know of three he has called correctly, Bill Klemme, Jeff Hansen and Mike Gowdy and we have his word for it that you can expect another boy soon in Belmond. So let the record speak for itself. Since this heretofor privately known ability for predetermining your chances of getting a male baby by a well-known citizen of our community, has now been properly publicized; Chris should expect invitations by the score for evenings of bridge in the homes of many of his friends, who, so far, have never really known about his capacities, since he never has been known to come right out with his predictions unless the hosts should ask him. It may embarrass him momentarily, but he'll come through.

P—P

The parents of Mike are pretty proud, that goes without saying, but best of all they are even more proud of both Margot and Mike and yours truly hopes his readers will foregive him if he dwells a bit on the subject of how it feels to have a son in the family.

P—P

It feels SWELL!!

P—P

Mike, old boy, you'll never know, at least for a good many years, just how your dad felt when he first learned you had arrived safely and the Dr. said, "You've got a boy, Dick," and how good your dad felt when the Dr. announced that your mother was O. K. Nothing could have been more nearly perfect

I guess most every man wants a son and makes big plans for his future, if and when he arrives. And then after he is born those plans all go flying away and it seemes as if being a president of your country isn't nearly so important as that you grow up to be strong and healthy, that your head will contain a good sound brain, that you possess the ability of making and keeping friends and that you are always honest and loyal to your friends, sister, and parents. That's your dad's wish and your mother's too.

P—P

Mike, I don't know whether you'll ever be a printer or not, but if you ever decide you like the business, here is about the best town to do your printing in. Dad has a partner that has a boy too, Jeff Hansen, who is only four months older than your are. Both dads are wondering how soon it will be before you're trading punches, or how soon you'll be putting on 'milking contests.' But as far as the punches go, shucks, all boys do that—and I expect you and Jeff are going to be no different than the rest of them. Just keep that left up and don't give up. You and Jeff will probably have some mighty good times down here in the back shop getting covered with ink and grease. Won't that exasperate your mothers and I suppose the old man of each family will be spoken rather sharply to about keeping a better eye on his son.

P—P

Well, it's going to be a lot of fun, you, Margot, mother and dad will be having, Mike. And, after this war is over, we'll be having still more because this is going to be about the best old world any youngster would ever want to live in.

Was Central States' Tax Bill for 1942

That Is $700 Every Day in the Year and Amounts to 19c Out Of Every Dollar You Paid Us For Electric and Gas Service

"WHY NOT TELL ALL? —— Recently, the Secretary of the Interior of the United States, in publicizing the federal government's Bonneville-Grand Coulee electric project, said: 'It is no idle assertion to say that the great war output from the northwest — planes, metals, chemicals and ships — virtually would have been impossible had it not been for this progressive power system.'

"It would have been more gracious and accurate if the Secretary had added that without the generating of private electric companies throughout the United States which furnish upwards of 90 per cent of the electric power required by our country, the war output of the nation would actually have been impossible, and that in the Pacific northwest, without the private electric companies the war program would have been stymied. Also the private electric companies are furnishing hundreds of millions of dollars in tax revenue to help maintain our government and war activities, while federally owned and operated plants are tax exempt, thereby adding to the tax load the hard-pressed general taxpayer must carry.

"It would have been good sportsmanship for the Secretary to have said that in sections where no federally-owned power plants have been built, private electric companies have met the full war load and production has not been retarded for lack of electric power. A public official is supposed to represent all of the people and he should not be biased in giving them the facts." — Reprinted from "Plain Talk", Des Moines, issue of Mar. 11, 1943.

The Tip

Helping Toward the War Effort

Men, women, youths and children hear the plea of our President to help in every way possible our war effort. This can be done by every country-loving individual in so many ways. By thinking of our soldier boys across on the fighting front risking their lives for us aids a lot of the people in putting their total energy into more production on the Home Front.

Factories are springing up all over the nation for the putting out of war weapons for our fighting men and allied nations. In these factories are skilled and unskilled men and women alike working on day and night shifts doing their part to help win this war.

The farmers are responsible for keeping these factory workers, men in service, and you and me alive and healthy by their outstanding production and growing of food for victory. This year they all realize that they will have to go without some of the help that the were accustomed to, but, never the less, they are willing to do this much for the country they love. High school boys and girls —from farm and town—will be learning to help the farm effort. No one will be afraid of soiling their hands with essential work to help in the winning of this war from the sneaky yellow Japs and the treacherous Germans. After dark, while it is still light, the farmers' plows, tractors, combines and threshing machines will be speeding onward toward victory.

A certain per cent of everyone's salaries should go where. I need not ask this simple, everyday question for everyone knows, or should know that it goes toward the purchasing of war bonds and stamps to lick the Axis. Let us each give Hitler, Moussilini and Hiro-Hito a sock in the jaw by buying regularly war bonds and stamps. By doing this we give our boys in the armed forces confidence and encouragement to go on fighting for their country's victory.

By spreading rumors you help sink our ships and give information to enemy spies which may cause American lives to be lost. Keep your lips buttoned and no German or Jap is going to catch you up in telling any information that you might know.

Planning victory gardens now help in the production of food. The city and town dwellers alike should put their effort into planting of as large victory gardens as they possibly can.

Boys and girls of high school age can help also by cooperating with their teachers and by obeying their parents and helping at home. If they do this they are doing their share to win the war.

There are many more things we can do, so let us help on the Home Front and fight our way toward victory over the Axis.

We have been talking about Victory Gardens this week. We believe everyone should have one if it is at all possible. We are all going to do our part in this enterprise.

rmers Creamery Made rvey Of Dairy Herds

More Than 400 Pounds Per Cow Produced By 16 Farmers

Farmers Creamery Company of Belmond has just completed a survey based on the butter-fat sold to the creamery by each patron during the first two weeks of March.

The average butter-fat produced per cow over a year's period was determined, using the estimate that the average farmer markets 80% of all the fat produced by his herd. The average production in this territory was found to be 229 pounds of fat per cow per year, an average slightly higher than that for the state of Iowa as a whole, which is approximately 200 pounds.

Of the 329 patrons cooperating in this survey, 16 had herds which are producing over 400 pounds of butter-fat per cow per year. These 16 farmers are as follows: Clarence Kirkendall, Joyce Boelman, Mat Street, Arthur Skouge, Kenneth Hardy, Herbert Hill, W. J. McLaughlin, Donald Baker, C. E. Tourtelotte, J. B Sheffield, Lynn Thompson, George Polmateer, W. C. Tyrrell, Ben Heginger, Henry Halfwassen and Ralph Baker.

This survey was made in co-operation with the Iowa State College Dairy Extension Service and the U. S. Deparment of Agriculture as a nation-wide effort to increase dairy production. Each patron is being sent a bulletin giving valuable information on the care and feeding of dairy herds to increase production. Farmers whose herds averaged over 250 pounds per cow received a letter from Floyd Johnston, Iowa State Extension Dairyman, asking "Can you milk more cows?" Those whose production did not reach 250 pounds per cow received a letter asking, "Are your cows producing all they can?"

From The Farmer

What Uncle Sam Wants

From City Folks

What Uncle Sam expects of the farmer, his family, and hired men:

To plan carefully to meet goals.

To pool labor, machinery, trucks and rides to town.

To stay on the farm if an essential worker.

To take best care of machinery, livestock.

To produce essential commodities to the limit, for need rather than profit.

To abide by necessities of rationing, price control.

To raise enough food for farm family.

To adjust operations to unavoidable marketing difficulties.

What Uncle Sam expects of town and city folks:

To help farmers to get in their crops where possible.

To grow what they can in the backyard, in community gardens.

To learn how to buy, cook for good nutrition.

To eliminate food waste.

Mr. and Mrs. Simon Stoffer received a letter from their son, Pvt. Jerry Stoffer, that he is fine and is now stationed somewhere on the Hawaiian Islands. He also said that he had a fine voyage. This is the first letter they have received since he left this country several weeks ago.

Pvt. Peter Pals and Pvt. William Pals who have been stationed in Shreveport, Louisiana, for the past few months, are now home on furlough.

Goodell

been employed in the Coast-to-Coast store in Belmond and because of failing health had been unable to continue his work.

Mr. Walrod had been down town Saturday afternoon visiting with friends and came down again that evening with his son-in-law, Wilbert Hanson of Alexander, and was waiting in the Coast-to-Coast store for a ride home when he suffered a heart attack and died immediately.

"Bill," as he was called by everyone, was well-known among horse breeders and others of his trade throughout Iowa and the middlewest. He traveled for one year with Ringling Bros. circus attended every sizeable fair and horseshow in the large mid-western cities and was constantly on call by breeders of show horses who would have no one but Bill shoe their stock.

He leaves his wife and ten children, including five sons who are in the armed services, to mourn his death. One child preceded him in death in infancy. An obituary will be published next week.

ven Historical Gavel

Doorkeepers are Donors

ant Governor Robert D. Eagle Grove, President of Senate, was presented vel of historical value on April 5, by doorkeepers Frank Goodale of Eagle Grove and Victor E. Lindquist of Chariton. Their presentation included the following historical information about the gavel:

There are many kinds of wood, some more valuable than others, some for their texture and some for their historical value. We, the doorkeepers of the Senate, were fortunate enough through Senator Hill to secure two pieces of wood of historical value, one of walnut and one of oak. We thought this wood deserved a better fate than it was getting and have had it fashioned into a gavel in order to preserve it for posterity.

The walnut in this gavel was obtained from a piece of wood taken from one of the doors of the first Court House built in Wright County, Iowa, at Goldfield in 1865.

The oak in this gavel was taken from one of the early pioneer homes in Wright County constructed by Robert Rowen. The lumber for this home was taken from timber in that vicinity and was taken by ox teams to the mill and sawed in the town of Alden, Hardin County, Iowa.

This home served as a pioneer hostel known far and near as the "Traveler's Rest" and was a regular stop in the stage line serving this area. Many prominent Wright County families spent their first days in the county in this home. In this home was born four sons to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rowen. The oldest son, John Rowen later occupied a seat in the Iowa Senate. Another son, Robert, Jr. gave his life in the service of his country in the Civil War.

This home is still in the possession of the Rowen Family and is occupied by Charles Rowen, a grandson of Robert Rowen, who has presented the oak used in this gavel.

This gavel was turned out by Earl Anderson and Bill Myers, seniors in the Chariton, Iowa, High School, under supervision of Mr. A. H. Crocker, manual training instructor.

And now, Mr. President, it gives us great pleasure to present it to you from the Senate Doorkeepers of the 50th Iowa General Assembly as a token of our esteem and appreciation of our associations with you.

Back Yard Is Victory Gardener's Home Front

WITH seeds in place of bullets, spades, rakes and hoes in place of guns, Mr. and Mrs. America are launching a new wartime home front this spring. Their battlefield is the sunny, fertile spot in their own back yards—site of a food-producing Victory Garden.

In spite of the greatest production in history in 1942 and even greater planned production, federal food administrators point out that demands on American food supplies have increased even more rapidly than production. War needs thus call for the help of every good gardener and make it prudent for all who can to grow some of their own food.

Victory gardeners can help in many ways to meet the wartime food production problem, and they are being urged to do this not only for their own welfare but also as a patriotic service.

Home food production will contribute to the war effort both on the fighting front and on the home front.

It will reduce the demand on commercial supplies and thereby make more available for military and lend-lease needs and for the needs of those who are unable to have gardens.

It will reduce the demand on strategic materials for canning.

It will help to relieve the food transportation problem, for the Victory gardener can have his vegetables right at or near his doorstep, on his pantry shelves and in his cellar.

Victory Garden possibilities in meeting national needs are indicated by the contributions gardeners make in peace times. Even in the normal 1939 season nearly 5 million farm gardens alone produced more than an estimated $200,000,000 worth of vegetables, not including potatoes and sweet potatoes. The Department of Agriculture illustrates the importance of this production by pointing out that in the same year the commercial truck crops grown for the market on 1,753,330 acres had a farm value of $205,365,000.

Farmers Asked to Grow Vegetables For Entire Year

In 1942, in circumstances less urgent than in 1943, there were an estimated 10,000,000 town and suburban gardens and more than 5,000,000 farm gardens. The national aim this year is for 6,000,000 farm gardens and twice as many other Victory Gardens. Greater production is also expected from those who raised gardens for the first time in 1942 and thus have the benefit this year of their own experience.

The Victory Garden program calls for four types of gardens—farm gardens, home gardens in cities and towns, school gardens, and community gardens. The Department of Agriculture says:

"Every farm should have a garden that will produce all the vegetables needed for the farm family's entire yearly needs.

"Home gardens should at least supply the family's entire needs for tomatoes and green leafy and yellow vegetables.

"Where suitable space is not available for a home garden, community gardens should be established with plots set aside for those who can make use of them.

"School gardens can be established to produce supplies for school lunch programs or supplies for home use by the children's families.

"If at all possible, gardens on farms and suburban homesteads should include fruit."

Three requirements of a good garden spot are emphasized —sunshine, good soil, and moisture in the soil.

Everyone who has a piece of land that meets these requirements should plan a Victory Garden. Gardens, it is emphasized, should not be planted in areas where there is not enough sunshine or where the soil will not produce crops to justify the use of seed, fertilizer and labor.

A good rule for knowing good soil is: "If the weeds grow rank, the soil is usually fertile." This rule holds good if the soil is not wet.

Victory gardeners will make better progress in their spring drives for the food-for-freedom campaign if they start with a carefully thought out garden plan.

National needs for more food production and the increasing dependence of individuals on their own gardens for vegetables make it important for gardeners to get the most from their land and effort. Avoiding seed and fertilizer waste is also essential.

Careful preparations are thus urged upon all Victory gardeners, especially those who are not experienced.

Many difficulties and losses can be saved by arranging the garden with certain general principles in mind, according to Victor R. Boswell, garden specialist of the Bureau of Plant Industry, Agricultural Research Administration.

"If the garden slopes appreciably and is subject to washing of the soil," Boswell advises, "the rows should not run up and down the hill."

"If the plot is nearly level, the rows should run the long way of the area for convenience in working."

Insofar as practicable, it is suggested, the first plantings of small and early vegetables should be along the north or east side, later crops being sown progressively across the area.

"This orderly procedure," says Boswell, "helps avoid confusion and damage to the earlier sowing."

In general, flat culture is better than growing crops on raised beds or ridges, and flat culture means less work. Ridges, however, must be used on poorly drained areas or where heavy normal rainfall results in frequent surface flooding. They are also needed on areas where the furrow method of irrigation is used.

Garden Plan Will Profit Beginners

Gardeners will find it not only interesting but also profitable to draw a sketch of the proposed garden before other work is undertaken. Garden plans serve the same purpose that blueprints do for builders.

"It is unwise to recommend any one plan for all regions or for all gardeners," says Boswell, but he suggests schemes for three sizes of gardens in his publication on "Victory Gardens."

Commenting on his suggested schemes, Boswell says: "With a little experience and study of local requirements and possibilities, one can develop improvements that will better adapt the garden to individual needs and localities."

Veteran gardeners agree that a carefully thought out plan of some sort is a great help for any gardener, even if his area is only 30 by 50 feet or smaller. The larger the area the greater the need for a garden plan, especially if the gardener is inexperienced.

To plant or not to plant this or that will be a simple problem for the Victory gardener who knows food values, remembers what his family likes best, and chooses varieties suited to his locality.

The green leafy vegetables—leaf lettuce, cabbage, spinach, chard, collards, kale and turnip greens—are described as of greatest importance. One or another of them should be available from early spring onward to freezing weather.

Green leafy vegetables should be in every garden and should be eaten frequently.

Tomatoes and beans are so widely adapted that they also are expected to be grown generally and generously. Tomatoes are so easily canned that they are grown by gardeners for canning as well as for table use when fresh.

Beets, carrots and onions can be stored for some time as well as used when fresh. It is thus suggested that, if space is available, these plantings should be large enough to afford a supply long after harvest.

Parsnips and salsify can be left in the ground all winter long.

Cabbage is easy to grow, but only a few plants per person should be grown for harvesting at one season, as cabbage does not stand long after heading. Sauerkraut is suggested as a use for any large surplus.

Space Lack May Exclude Some Foods

Sweet potatoes, potatoes, and sweet corn are among the best energy foods, but they require considerable space. They are not recommended for the small garden, but potatoes might well be included if one has a quarter-acre garden or more.

Gardening in 1943 is important not only because of the need for food but especially because of the need for protective foods—those rich in vitamins and minerals.

Hunger for these foods—often a hidden hunger—manifests itself in "nerves," poor eyesight, bad mouth conditions, a general lack of tone and other sub-acute symptoms of the lack of vibrant health. Garden products will help relieve this hunger.

Vegetables differ greatly in their vitamin and mineral contents, but some of the commonest and easiest to grow, including those discussed in this article, are the most valuable.

Garden products' greatest contribution is probably in vitamin A and vitamin C (ascorbic acid), but as a group they also furnish some vitamin B_1 (Thiamine), vitamin G (riboflavin), calcium and iron. Even small amounts of these are important in supplementing other sources.

What to Plant? Best to Consider Family's Tastes

No gardener should overlook his family's tastes when he chooses what to plant. One other caution is emphasized. That is to advise with veteran gardeners, county agents, or state agricultural agencies so as to selcct varieties that are adapted to the locality.

Outlining a sample garden for an area 35 by 100 feet, Dr. Boswell suggests 16 rows for plantings in his Victory Garden bulletin.

"It is unwise," says Boswell, "to recommend any one plan for all regions or for all gardeners," but he believes that his suggestions will help gardeners in making their choices. His bulletin includes suggested schemes not only for the 35 by 100-foot garden, but also for areas 30 by 50 feet and 100 by 150 feet. The latter area is approximately one-third of an acre.

Spades are trumps for the Victory gardener in early spring, but the rake, hoe and the garden hose will soon follow suit.

For a small garden the only essential tools suggested are a spade or spading fork, a steel rake, a common hoe and a strong cord. A trowel is described as convenient but not necessary.

The cord is used with stakes at either end of the row to make it possible for the gardener to plant a straight row and to see that his rows are evenly spaced. This improves the garden's appearance, but its real importance is in making it easier to do a good job of cultivation when the garden really gets started.

It is always pleasing and sometimes helpful to own a great variety of garden tools—plain and fancy. However, a large assortment is not necessary, and very simple tools may do quite as good work as fancy or elaborate gadgets.

During wartime, gardeners are reminded, metals and tools are scarce. They are thus advised to buy only their minimum needs.

GARDEN FOR VICTORY

Any area should be plowed instead of spaded, if this is possible, because spading is time consuming and laborious. Even gardeners who have their areas plowed will, however, find good uses for a spade or spading fork.

A wheel hoe is a great labor saver, it is not essential for small gardens. A scuffle hoe, or push hoe, like the trowel, is convenient but not necessary.

If running water is available in regions not normally irrigated, a garden hose is excellent insurance against drought and should be part of the gardener's equipment. In many regions every householder has been advised to have a hose available anyway as a means of handling emergencies threatened by incendiary bombings.

A wheelbarrow, like the wheel hoe or cultivator, is desirable, especially for use in large gardens, or in connection with vacant-lot or community garden plots that are not far enough from the home to make auto transportation necessary.

Such equipment as wheelbarrows and wheel cultivators may well be shared by a neighborhood. The development of neighborhood enterprises and the promotion of community interests are among the benefits predicted as a result of Victory Gardening. A share-the-wheel-tool plan is thus expected to be a logical part of 1943 gardening.

Sprayers for use in combating insects and diseases later in the year may also be included in gardeners sharing plans for group purchase and common use.

Small compressed-air sprayers that may be carried by a strap over the shoulder of the operator are very satisfactory for use in the small garden. One of these sprayers will serve for several gardeners in a single neighborhood, and the original cost is reasonable.

Map and Chart Give Valuable Assistance in Determining Planting Dates For All Localities

From The Farmer
What Uncle Sam Wants
From City Folks

What Uncle Sam expects of the farmer, his family, and hired men:

To plan carefully to meet goals.

To pool labor, machinery, trucks and rides to town.

To stay on the farm if an essential worker.

To take best care of machinery, livestock.

To produce essential commodities to the limit, for need rather than profit.

To abide by necessities of rationing, price control.

To raise enough food for farm family.

To adjust operations to unavoidable marketing difficulties.

What Uncle Sam expects of town and city folks:

To help farmers to get in their crops where possible.

To grow what they can in the backyard, in community gardens.

To learn how to buy, cook for good nutrition.

To eliminate food waste.

To refrain from hoarding.

To use ration coupons wisely according to supplies.

To report rationing and price violations to the local price ration board.

To use least possible tires in going shopping (sharing trips, planning ahead.)

Taken from the March 27, 1943 publication of the USDA.

Mr. Walrod had been down town Saturday afternoon visiting with friends and came down again that evening with his son-in-law, Wilbert Hanson of Alexander, and was waiting in the Coast-to-Coast store for a ride home when he suffered a heart attack and died immediately.

"Bill," as he was called by everyone, was well-known among horse breeders and others of his trade throughout Iowa and the middlewest. He traveled for one year with Ringling Bros. circus attended every sizeable fair and horseshow in the large mid-western cities and was constantly on call by breeders of show horses who would have no one but Bill shoe their stock.

He leaves his wife and ten children, including five sons who are in the armed services, to mourn his death. One child preceded him in death in infancy. An obituary will be published next week.

rmers Creamery Made rvey Of Dairy Herds

More Than 400 Pounds Per Cow Produced By 16 Farmers

Farmers Creamery Company of Belmond has just completed a survey based on the butter-fat sold to the creamery by each patron during the first two weeks of March.

The average butter-fat produced per cow over a year's period was determined, using the estimate that the average farmer markets 80% of all the fat produced by his herd. The average production in this territory was found to be 229 pounds of fat per cow per year, an average slightly higher than that for the state of Iowa as a whole, which is approximately 200 pounds.

Of the 329 patrons cooperating in this survey, 16 had herds which are producing over 400 pounds of butter-fat per cow per year. These 16 farmers are as follows: Clarence Kirkendall, Joyce Boelman, Mat Street, Arthur Skouge, Kenneth Hardy, Herbert Hill, W. J. McLaughlin, Donald Baker, C. E. Tourtelotte, J. B Sheffield, Lynn Thompson, George Polmateer, W. C. Tyrrell, Ben Heginger, Henry Halfwassen and Ralph Baker.

This survey was made in co-operation with the Iowa State College Dairy Extension Service and the U. S. Department of Agriculture as a nation-wide effort to increase dairy production. Each patron is being sent a bulletin giving valuable information on the care and feeding of dairy herds to increase production. Farmers whose herds averaged over 250 pounds per cow received a letter from Floyd Johnston, Iowa State Extension Dairyman, asking "Can you milk more cows?" Those whose production did not reach 250 pounds per cow received a letter asking, "Are your cows producing all they can?"

ant Governor Blue
en Historical Gavel
Doorkeepers are Donors

ant Governor Robert D. Eagle Grove, President of Senate, was presented vel of historical value on , April 5, by doorkeepers Frank Goodale of Eagle Grove and Victor E. Lindquist of Chariton. Their presentation included the following historical information about the gavel:

There are many kinds of wood, some more valuable than others, some for their texture and some for their historical value. We, the doorkeepers of the Senate, were fortunate enough through Senator Hill to secure two pieces of wood of historical value, one of walnut and one of oak. We thought this wood deserved a better fate than it was getting and have had it fashioned into a gavel in order to preserve it for posterity.

The walnut in this gavel was obtained from a piece of wood taken from one of the doors of the first Court House built in Wright County, Iowa, at Goldfield in 1865.

The oak in this gavel was taken from one of the early pioneer homes in Wright County constructed by Robert Rowen. The lumber for this home was taken from timber in that vicinity and was taken by ox teams to the mill and sawed in the town of Alden, Hardin County, Iowa.

This home served as a pioneer hostel known far and near as the "Traveler's Rest" and was a regular stop in the stage line serving this area. Many prominent Wright County families spent their first days in the county in this home. In this home was born four sons to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rowen. The oldest son, John Rowen later occupied a seat in the Iowa Senate. Another son, Robert, Jr. gave his life in the service of his country in the Civil War.

This home is still in the possession of the Rowen Family and is occupied by Charles Rowen, a grandson of Robert Rowen, who has presented the oak used in this gavel.

This gavel was turned out by Earl Anderson and Bill Myers, seniors in the Chariton, Iowa, High School, under supervision of Mr. A. H. Crocker, manual training instructor.

And now, Mr. President, it gives us great pleasure to present it to you from the Senate Doorkeepers of the 50th Iowa General Assembly as a token of our esteem and appreciation of our associations with you.
